New Hope Reported In Search for Plane

HONOLULU (AP) — The possible sighting of two green flares in the Pacific Saturday sparked fresh hopes in the search for nine military men missing with their Globemaster transport 700 miles west of Honolulu.

A 14th Naval District spokesman reported a Coast Guard plane "supposedly sighted two green flares in the vicinity of French Frigate Shoals at 2:50 a.m. Hawaii time today."

Four planes converted on the area. But they were hampered by darkness and bad visibility on the gale-whipped ocean surface.

Hope also was raised by a report of radio distress signals picked up Friday by a Tokyo-bound airliner. This was one of several infrequent SOS signals which led searchers to believe the nine men may be aboard a raft.

No confirmed trace has been found of the Military Air Transport Service C124 which vanished Thursday on a flight from Wake Island to Honolulu.

Drastic Changes In Foreign Aid Being Proposed

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today "the State Department is advocating drastic changes in U.S. foreign aid, both in organization and basic philosophy."

The newspaper said in a dispatch from Washington that the aid plan "has run into strong opposition within the administration and it remains open to question whether President Johnson or Congress would accept it in its present form."

"The changes in organization," the Times said, "call for the abolition of the Agency for International Development and the management of a severely trimmed foreign aid program by the State Department through a new undersecretary for economic development."

Undersecretary of State George Ball was reported by the Times to have presented the State Department's views to President Johnson's committee on foreign aid.

Red Guerrilla Forces Boosted In Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite losses of more than 1,000 men a month, the hard core ranks of Communist guerrilla forces have swelled during the past year into a stronger, better-armed fighting force, a U. S. military spokesman said Saturday.

Even with the heavy losses through death, wounds, capture and desertion, the high-ranking officer estimated the hard core Viet Cong force at between 22,000 and 25,000 men.

Partly armed irregulars, estimated between 60,000 and 80,000 last January, may have lost force.

But more important, the U. S. spokesman said, the hard core ranks are better organized, and, bolstered by an influx of Communist-bloc arms, are stepping up their infiltration program.

Although lost territory made it harder for Communists to operate in some areas, Western

Survey of Snow Depths Forecasts Water Shortage

DENVER (AP) — Current snow depths in the Colorado mountains indicate the possibility of a severe water shortage next summer, a state report said Saturday.

Fred A. Mark, state conservationist, said the first limited survey of the season showed the snowpack is only 50 per cent of normal on Berthoud Pass and 49 per cent of normal on Fremont Pass.

Wolf Creek Pass, headwater area for the Rio Grande, has a 40 per cent normal snow, while the headwaters of the Dolores and Animas Rivers above Durango have only about 30 per cent of normal snow cover.

The northwestern part of the state around Steamboat Springs reported slightly over half the usual snow for this date.

The reservoir storage picture was even less optimistic. Streamflows were below normal last year and only the South Platte Drainage System still has some stored water. The South Platte storage, however, is well below last year at this time.

A check of mountain soils for moisture content showed most areas were dry. This complicates the problem, Mark said, because much of the snow melt will be absorbed by the soil at high elevations and decrease the spring runoff.

The survey, taken on Jan. 1, was limited to the very high elevation areas of the state. A more detailed survey will be made on Feb. 1.

Adenauer Warns West Against 'Stupid' Policy

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer, warning against "capitalistic stupidity," said Saturday the West must demand that Soviet Premier Khrushchev make an agreement on disarmament in exchange for economic aid.

Adenauer, 88 Sunday, said angrily in a birthday interview:

"Western capitalists are ready to help Khrushchev without any real evidence of peaceful intentions, and that is capitalistic stupidity."

The reporter asked if that meant the West should get disarmament from the Soviets in exchange for economic aid.

"Yes," he replied. "That's exactly it."

He observed:

"Everybody is talking about peace but the world is more heavily armed than it has ever been. The arms are what we should get rid of first."

As he sees it, the Soviets' big need is for plants to make artifical fertilizer so farm production can increase. The Russians can not build the plants themselves. The Western powers should sell them, he thinks, but only if they get a political return.

"I don't want them to go hungry, either," Adenauer said, "but they ought to behave decently."

As for giving Moscow long-term credits, he predicted:

"You'll see—they'll never pay a cent."

Adenauer retired as chancellor in October. He still belongs to Parliament.

As for the latest Soviet proposal, for an agreement to outlaw war as a means of settling disputes, Adenauer commented:

Khrushchev, he said, just likes to present himself as an apostle of peace. Adenauer thinks Khrushchev also wants to go down as the father of Soviet economic strength —Lenin having been the great theorist and Stalin the great war hero.

Adenauer sees no objection to this. He says he wants to help Khrushchev save face in the mess he has made of Soviet agriculture — as Adenauer defines it.

But Adenauer wants the West to get something in return.

He noted that the U.S.,

Rocky More Demo Than Republican, Barry Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Barry Goldwater said Saturday he regards New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as more of a Democrat than a Republican.

Then the conservative Arizona senator flew from Los Angeles to Washington where he was greeted by a cheering crowd of 1,000 on hand to welcome the newly announced candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

"I'm very happy that all of you helped me make up my mind to seek the nomination," Goldwater told a singing, sign-waving crowd at Dulles International Airport.

Goldwater pressed through the crowd, still using the crutches he has needed since a pre-Christmas operation on his right heel. He was wearing a heavy cast that is to be replaced with a lighter one that will enable him to walk without crutches.

Mrs. Goldwater accompanied her husband from Phoenix, where he announced his candidacy Friday, to Los Angeles. But she left him there to go to Chicago where her brother is seriously ill.

'Label Does Not Apply to Me,' Rocky Declares

By ROBERT T. GRAY

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller rejected Saturday charges by Sen. Barry Goldwater and others that he offers Republicans a "me too" program taken from the Democrats.

"That label doesn't apply to me," the New York governor told a news conference ending a 20 - hour campaign swing in search of support in the first-in-the-nation New Hampshire presidential preference primary March 10.

"In matters of human concern I am a liberal, and in economic and financial concerns I am a conservative," Rockefeller said.

On the West Coast, Goldwater was charging that Rockefeller was more of a Democrat than a Republican.

Rockefeller continued to press Goldwater to join in a series of televised debates in the New Hampshire primary but the Ari-

'Rehabilitation' Ordered by LBJ For Draftees

By GARTH JONES

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson ordered a new effort Saturday to correct physical and mental flaws found among young men eligible for military service.

Johnson directed that most men reaching 18 be given physical and mental tests, starting July 1. And he said those who fail will be allowed to enter new, voluntary rehabilitation programs.

"This will be the most important human salvage program in the history of our country," Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz told newsmen.

The President released a report of a task force on manpower conservation with the comment that it revealed "a situation more serious and more extensive than has been our understanding."

Findings included estimates that one-third of all men in the nation reaching 18 years of age will be found unqualified for induction in the armed forces, about half being rejected for medical reasons and the remainder flunking mental tests. The report also said the majority of those disqualified appear to be the victims of inadequate education and insufficient health services.

"The findings of the task force are dramatic evidence that poverty is still with us, still exacting its price in spoiled lives and failed examinations," the President said in a statement accompanying the report. "For entirely too many Americans the promise of American life is not being kept. In a nation as rich and productive as ours this is an intolerable situation."

Johnson said he will shortly present to Congress a program designed "to attack the roots of poverty in our cities and rural areas."

The President gave two orders, effective next July 1, designed to discover job training and education deficiencies as

No Real Cold War Settlement Proposals Seen

By K.C. THALER

LONDON (UPI)—The opening shots in the Soviet Union's 1964 peace offensive triggered diplomatic suspicion here Saturday that Moscow is seeking sweeping policy "declarations" rather than concrete cold war settlements.

Diplomatic sources said a closer look at Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's series of peace overtures has dimmed expectations for early, definitive East-West tension-easing measures.

Significantly, none of Moscow's peace feelers mentioned the possibility of an observation network on both sides of the Iron Curtain to safeguard against surprise attack.

The West, in its preparations for forthcoming East-West negotiations, is putting priority emphasis on such an agreement with the Soviet.

Top Western diplomats have repeatedly let it be known in public and directly to the Kremlin that they attach great importance to a scheme of international observation posts as the "starting point" for possible farther-reaching concrete cold war agreements.

Khrushchev omitted mention of the project in all of his new year peace outlines. The Soviet press bypassed the idea altogether.

The demand for East-West negotiations on an observation posts net-work in NATO and Warsaw Pact nations will top the West's agenda at the Geneva disarmament conference opening Jan. 21.

Last summer Khrushchev himself revived the observation posts issue which the West had been unsuccessfully urging for some time. This encouraged hopes in Western chancellories that the Soviets have "come round" to the Allied ideas.

Huge Crowds Engulf Pope Paul On Visit to Holy City Shrines

POPE AT BETHANY—Pope Paul VI smiles and gestures to crowd at the village of Bethany, where his motorcade stopped Saturday, while taking him from Amman, Jordan, to Jerusalem. Later he walked over the Via Dolorosa in Jerusalem, and visited the Garden of Gethsemane and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher. (AP Wirephoto)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

JERUSALEM (AP) — With throngs engulfing him Pope Paul VI came to Old Jerusalem Saturday, made his devotions at the Stations of the Cross and prayed in tears where tradition says Jesus Christ was entombed.

Once disaster threatened. Fire broke out high in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher as the Pope was saying Mass. The flames were soon extinguished, and he went on, unheeding. But earlier tears showed on his cheeks in the course of his first Mass of the Holy Land pilgrimage he has undertaken in a move for peace and brotherhood.

The blaze was in two connected cables supplying power for television lights and cameras recording the historic moment.

Foot-long tongues of flame licked out for a few minutes 30 feet up scaffolding erected for restoration of the church. A man climbed the scaffolding and a soldier handed up his headdress for an attempt to beat out the flames. That was unsuccessful. Lights went out, then a soldier handed the man a stick and he poked the cables apart, extinguishing the blaze.

Those close to the altar said Pope Paul never interrupted the Mass during the episode, although the crowd of worshipers murmured and looked up. Only the light of 10 tall candles behind the altar lit the scene.

The pontiff, 66, arose at dawn in the Vatican and boarded an American-built DC8 for the 3½-hour flight to Amman, the capital of Jordan, where King Hussein I greeted him.

Crowds were thick at points along the 54-mile motor ride from Amman to Jerusalem, and here the throngs surged in upon him and his entourage.

He was unable to leave his limousine at the Damascus Gate, the entrance to Jerusalem, and could not deliver an address. Again the crowds were thick along the narrow Via Dolorosa—the Street of Sorrow—marked as Christ's path to the crucifixion.

"This has been a tremendous ordeal for the Holy Father," Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the College of Cardinals, said. "He has been jostled and pushed all the way through Via Dolorosa. I am sure the Holy Father was virtually unable to see any of the things he planned to see with sacred devotion."

After the Mass in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher the Pope got his first break of the day, retiring for a rest and dinner.

The crowd in the church included officials, clergy and pilgrims. Many were bearded priests of the Coptic, Armenian and Greek Orthodox rites.

As the Mass progressed, the Pope's voice trembled and tears appeared on his cheeks. Then at the end of the Mass, he sat in a wooden chair before the altar, put on his glasses and led the congregation in prayer for 10 minutes.

Then came a solemn moment

Blackface Comics Ordered Out of Mummers Ranks

By JIM LAMB

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—There were no blackface comics and no demonstrations as the Mummers strutted, sang and entertained with their usual hijinx Saturday in the annual parade welcoming the new year.

But this 64th annual pageant moved up a six-mile route along Broad Street — the city's main north-south artery—under court injunctions and the heaviest police guard in the event's history.

Civil rights groups protested the use of blackface makeup by traditional minstrels in the comic division of the parade. Such groups as the Congress of Racial Equality, the Committee for Freedom Now and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People threatened a boycott, picketing and demonstrations.

The issue went to court and injunctions were issued Friday forbidding blackface makeup and enjoining demonstrations. The court acted only after Police Commissioner Howard Leary said he feared violence and destruction.

Obviously frightened by the chance of disturbances, parents kept their children home on this sunlit day and as a result the parade drew its smallest crowd in history. Instead of the usual million, estimates were from 35,000 to 50,000. The parade had been postponed from New Year's Day becasue of snow and ice.

Leary said about 20 persons wearing blackface makeup, which the civil rights groups claimed ridiculed the Negro, turned up at the parade staging area and were ordered out of line.

Comics wore blue, red, yellow, green, orange and white face makeup, the usual variety of colors for their division. There were some who said they changed to red and orange when the blackface was banned.

The Mummers — the name comes from King Momus, mythical god of ridicule—salute the new year by wearing gawdy costumes, strumming on banjos and with fancy marching maneuvers. The city awards thousands of dollars in prizes.

Negotiations Seek Normal Conditions Thruout Cyprus

By DAVID L. DUGAS

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — The British High Commission pressed around-the-clock consulations with Cypriot leaders Saturday in a drive to restore normal conditions to the island pending agreement on its political future.

A spokesman for the office of High Commissioner Sir Arthur Clark said the main purpose of the urgent meetings was to restore freedom of movement and communications throughout Cyprus."

He said the talks went on all Friday night and through Saturday.

The objective of the British High Commission and British soldiers standing guard between rival Greek and Turkish Cypriots was to take the tension out of the situation in readiness for the conference between Britain, Greece, Turkey and Cypriot leaders to be held in London.

The High Commission announcement said the meeting of the political liaison committee headed by Clark and including Greek and Turkish Cypriot representatives decided to establish special sub-committees to meet the urgent problems of supplying food, clothing, blankets and medical goods to the needy.

British soldiers and airmen using 15 trucks draped with British flags handed out 10,000 "survival kits" Saturday in 18 villages on the west coast of Cyprus and Kyrenia.

The kits—delivered mostly to Turkish villages or Turkish areas of mixed Greek-and-Turkish villages—contained a three-day supply of tea, biscuits, sugar, milk and margarines.

Cyprus was more close to normal Saturday than at any time since just before Christmas when fighting broke out between the island's Greek and Turkish communities with the loss of an estimated 200 lives.

Many Turkish shops opened again for the first time and the streets of business districts in both Greek and Turkish quarters were crowded.

More Than 1.8 Million See Yellowstone

MAMMOTH, Wyo. (UPI) — More than 1.8 million persons visited Yellowstone National Park last year, according to figures released by the National Park Service.

The exact figure was 1,872,417, a slight decrease from 1962's record of visitors, but still the 16th consecutive year in which travel to the park exceeded one million persons.

The Park Service said the Independence Day holiday weeknd again proved to be the busiest period of the park's season. During a four-day period 96,742 persons entered the park. A record for single-day travel was set on July 4 when 27,957 visitors entered, the Park Service said.

62 Persons Die In Yugoslav Train Disaster

BELGRADE (UPI) — Sixty-two persons died Saturday when a highballing express flashed through a red signal light in fog and plowed into a stationary passenger train at a suburban railroad station.

An official communique said 162 other persons were injured, and 72 of them admitted to hospitals.

Most of the victims were peasants and soldiers, bound for their homes on leave on the overnight trains.

All day rescue teams crawled and cut their way into 16 wrecked coaches, eight of them de-railed. They found a pitiful

By REX THOMAS

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—A Negro student broke the racial barriers at Auburn University on Saturday by registering as a graduate student after first checking into a dormitory where he will live with white male students.

The arrival of the student, Harold A. Franklin, caused no noticeable excitement, although the campus of the century-old, land-grant college was sealed off by state troopers under orders from Gov. George C. Wallace to keep federal agents away.

Three federal officers sat in a car parked at a street intersection just off the campus, but made no attempt to get past the state patrolmen.

A crowd of about 100 white students stood in light rain across the street at the back entrance to the ultramodern library building. Some jeered, others laughed as the Negro walked alone.

He had walked to the library from Magnolia Hall, one of the men's dormitories where he was given quarters under a federal court order requiring the univer-

Production of Coins Will Be Increased

DENVER (AP) — The U.S. mint in Denver is now turning out coins at the rate of 2.3 billion a year. By July it will be asked to boost this output to 3 billion to help meet a national shortage of coins.

Miss Eva Adams, director of the mint at Washington, and Robert Wallace, assistant secretary of the treasury, announced these plans here Friday.

Kennedy Half-Dollars Are Ready for Minting

DENVER (UPI) — The new Kennedy half dollars will begin rolling off the presses of the U.S. Mint at Denver about Feb. 1.

Asst. Treasury Secretary Robert A. Wallace made the announcement Friday in Denver. He said the dies used to make the new 50 - cent pieces, commemorating President John F. Kennedy, are now being prepared.

The government expects to produce 50 to 60 million of the coins during 1964 at the Denver and Philadelphia mints, he said.

The coins will bear the late President's profile. They will replace the present Benjamin Franklin half dollars.

Alcoholic Usually Tries To Solve Drinking Problems

(Editor's Note: This is one in a series of articles about your health which will appear regularly in The Gazette Telegraph as a public service feature.)

By THE COLORADO MEDICAL SOCIETY

In a sense, an alcoholic is an alchemist.

He doesn't wear a pointed hat with signs of the zodiac on it, but he practices, often in what he thinks is secrecy, a black and dismal craft. He spends his life trying to dissolve his problems in a fluid to which he is drawn with alternate love and hate.

The net result of this despairing chemistry is failure; alchemists always have failed.

The alcoholic not only fails to transmute dross metals into gold, but he also transmutes his life into dross. Problems just do not dissolve in alcohol, and when it seems they do, it is merely a fleeting illusion. The philosopher's stone is not found in the bottom of a cup.

When is an alcoholic?

An offensive, belligerent, sloppy drunk is not necessarily an alcoholic. Nor is the person who enjoys wine with his meals, nor those who find alcohol a pleasant social lubricant at parties or before meals. These people are not necessarily alcoholics, but they can be.

Most definitions of an alcoholic leave something to be desired because they are not entirely objective. Usually they are filled with relative and subjective terms. Possibly the best working definition of an alcoholic runs like this:

A person is an alcoholic when his drinking interferes with his business, social or home life.

No one knows better than the alcoholic himself how to measure that shifting and relative word "interferes" in this definition.

In his better moments, which may become increasingly few as his illness progresses, he knows with a dreadful clarity whether or not the word applies to him.

But an alcoholic is also skillful at rationalization; he will tell himself, when his need seems most acute, that his drinking interferes only a little, or only in certain minor ways, nothing really serious.

Alcoholism thus comes in all stages and problem drinking is subject to great variations. It has been estimated on the basis of careful case histories that true addiction to alcohol may require up to 12 years to develop into a full-blown state.

This does not mean there hasn't been "interference" along the way. The financial demands of feeding an alcoholic habit obvioiusly can create a great deal of interference with family life and home budgets for most people long before the situation reaches total collapse.

An alcoholic is a person who uses alcohol to modify his environment. He can't endure the normal stresses and strains of his life without the sedative effect of alcohol.

This fluid, of course, is not really a stimulant, as it is popularly regarded, but a sedative and a depressant in terms of its drug effect on the body.

It depresses the higher centers of the brain, anesthetizing, putting to sleep, the powers of rational thought and discrimination.

Psychologists can measure, within certain limits, the type of personality which is most vulnerable to alcoholism. A person who is low in self-esteem, needs courage and lacks self-confidence is more likely to become an alcoholic as a means of escape from worries, cares and his feelings of inadequacy. The same type of personality often is associated with sedative and narcotic drug addiction.

Much remains to be learned about the difficult illness of alcoholism, but professional opinion today regards it as a psychosomatic illness of the mind and body in which emotional and personality factors are closely mixed with true physiologic factors.

There is some scientific evidence, that is, that a person who becomes an alcoholic has not only a dependent personality but also some special bodily vulnerability or intolerance, not yet understood, to alcohol.

There is difference of opinion on whether the addiction is psychological, physiological or a combination of both.

It is clear, however, that an alcoholic cannot tolerate alcohol any more than a diabetic can tolerate sugar. He cannot take that first social drink without precipitating an "attack" of his disease, and it applies doubly to the alcoholic who is trying to stay "dry."

Old Doc Experience advises:

1. Alcoholism is not just a simple black-and-white moral issue, but a complex mind-and-body illness which deserves sympathetic and understanding attention and much more scientific investigation.

2. It is an exceedingly difficult disease to treat, and the public should remember this when programs of rehabilitation and treatment are undertaken. Sanitariums which specialize in alcoholism take pride in a "cure" rate which may run only as high as 12 per cent. Recurrence of the disease is much more the rule than quick-and-easy total cure.

3. The new and carefully devised alcoholism treatment program at the Fort Logan Mental Health Center gives evidence of much success, and the private Alcoholics Anonymous program has done much valuable work. Essentially, the latter is a program of mutually supportive group psychotherapy in which "dry" alcoholics help each other, often at great personal sacrifice, to stay dry. Skilled social workers and clergymen also have done very well in treatment of some alcoholics.

4. Advances in the medical treatment of alcoholism include better tranquilizing medicines to help relieve the personality stresses and tensions which can lead to compulsive drinking, and gradual accumulation of improved insights employed in psychotherapy.

A psychiatrist often can be of great help to an alcoholic who wants to face up to and conquer his problem, but much alcoholism is extremely resistant to psychotherapy. Antabuse, a medicine which produces violent illness when alcohol is consumed, still is widely used to help alcoholics stay away from the bottle.

5. There is no open-and-shut answer to all cases of alcoholism, but as a general rule almost no treatment is effective unless and until the alcoholic recognizes his condition and wants to be cured. Usually, this means he will have to "hit bottom" several times first.

Western France's Britanny derived its name from the huge migrations from Britain to there during the 5th and 6th centuries.

NCO Academy To Start New 8 Week Course

A new class of 50 men reported in Friday at the NCO Academy for its eight-week NCO course.

Capt. William F. Baynes, academy commandant, will give a welcoming address to the class at 1 p.m. today and give them a rundown on what they can expect in the weeks to come. Two TAC NCOs, Platoon Sgt. Carl L. Floyd and Sgt. 1. C. Bobby S. Dalrymple, will then give the men a tour of the academy's facilities.

Baynes hopes to include a week of military mountaineering, Jan. 24 to Jan. 30, in the curriculum for this class. This training, to be given at Camp Hale, would include such techniques as skiing, weasel driving, mountain climbing, snowshoe operations and evacuation procedures.

The current class at the academy, 31 men who are due to be graduated on Jan. 21, will resume their studies on Monday.

Meanwhile, the academy's mountain rescue team handled its first snow search mission Monday for five teenage boys overdue from a camping trip on Pikes Peak. The team of 18 men, commanded by Baynes, had just established a base of operations on the timberline of the Pikes Peak Highwey when radio communications thru a Ft. Carson HU-1A helicopter brought news that the boys had been encountered on the Barr Trail.

Colorado Pensioners May Get Pay Boost

DENVER (AP) — Colorado old age pensioners may get a $2 a month increase because of higher living costs.

The Colorado Pension Price Index, prepared by the University of Colorado Bureau of Economic Research, shows a rise of $1.62 since February 1963 when the state old age pension was last adjusted.

The Colorado Welfare Board reviews the price index twice annually—in June and January. No action was taken last June.

At its January meeting next Friday the board will consider the rise in the index. Based on previous actions, the board has rounded off the raises for pensioners to the nearest dollar.

A $2 a month increase for pensioners would amount to $1.2 million annually, officials said.

Mrs. Tippit Says She Will Continue to Live Simply

By PATRICIA CURRAN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. J. D. Tippit has received almost half a million dollars in 43 days. But she says she wants to live as she did when her husband made just over $100 a week.

The slight, dark-haired woman has sought privacy since her husband was slain as he tried to arrest President Kennedy's accused assassin.

"There's really nothing I can say," said the Dallas widow. "My children and I plan to stay here in the same house, and try to live as normally as possible."

Outwardly, Mrs. Tippit pays no attention to the day-to-day count of donations to a fund for her and her children—Charles, 13; Brenda Kay, 10, and Curtis Glen, 5.

"She doesn't call us. I'm quite sure she probably reads the totals in the newspapers," said Police Lt. Verne Hipskind.

Funds for Mrs. Tippit mounted to $498,110 Friday.

Mrs. Tippit also has received many notices of contributions to organizations in her husband's name.

Because contributions to Mrs. Tippit are considered gifts, they are not taxable. A bank official has estimated that investment of half a million dollars in a diversified trust fund would yield an annual income of $18,000 to $20,000—about triple Tippit's salary.

CELEBRATION

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. George Langenecker, married 50 years, flew 300 miles to give a turkey breast and champagne party which cost about $1,000.

The Langeneckers were married in St. Louis in 1913 and moved to Memphis, Tenn., 39 years ago, away from relatives.

"We couldn't get the relatives to Memphis for the party," the couple said, "so we had the golden wedding anniversary in St. Louis."

Texan Is 'Livestock Man of the Year'

DENVER (AP) — Jay Taylor, Amarillo, Tex., rancher and financier, has been named "man of the year in livestock" by the Record Stockman, livestock newspaper published here.

Taylor will be 62 on Jan. 24. He is the 21st to receive the annaul award, which will be presented to him Jan. 15 during the National Western Stock Show in Denver.

The newspaper praised Taylor for his leadership in state and national organizations, his work toward the improvement of livestock, his help for young people and his efforts in community affairs.

Taylor was born on the Suggs Ranch in Montague County, Texas, where his father, the late James Taylor was a wagon boss. Later the family moved to Walters, Okla., and established a stock farm.

Taylor moved to Amarillo during the oil boom of the mid-1920s. Later he became one of the nation's leading cattlemen, raising Herefords on the Rafter O Ranch near Vega, Tex., and the Double H Ranch near Magdalena, N.M.

He has one son and three daughters.

Cigarettes Get Credit for Deaths

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City's commissioner of health, Dr. George James, reports that cigarette smoking was responsible for 70 per cent of the 2,238 lung cancer deaths among men in the city in 1963.

He said Wednesday the percentage figure is an estimate based on findings by the American Cancer Society on death rates from lung cancer in urban areas.

The American tobacco industry, which has financed extensive scientific research on the subject, contends that no connection between smoking and lung cancer has been proved.

ADC Tops In '63 Idea Program

Fiscal Year 1963 has been a year of achievement and improvement for the Military Suggestion Program within Air Defense Command. The command finished either first or second USAF-wide in five important statistics.

With an estmated first year savings of $13,490,086, ADC again leads the Air Force in dollars saved. Significantly, ADC also led USAF in amount of non-appropriated funds paid out for suggestion awards — $32,141.

ADC ranked second in total suggestions received (10,112) and adoption rate (29.21 per cent of 8,812 suggestions completed).

Command Personnel Services officials are quick to point out, tho, that there is still considerable room for improvement in the program and opportunity for greater achievement in FY 64.

Air Defense Command's participation rate was less than a tenth of a percentage point below the goal of 10 per cent. FY 64 goal is 15 per cent so improvement from all echelons in the command will be sorely needed.

Certain improvements and incentives are currently being implemented to step up participation. Suggestion program workers are hopeful that Congress will act soon to place the military suggestion program awards on the same financial footing as the civilian suggestion program.

The test form, regarded by many as excessively complicated, has been discarded and "Old Faithful" Form 1000 is now back in use.

Within the command, exceptional performances were posted by the 30th and 26th Air Divisions. The three ADC winners of Air Force prizes in the USAF contest were from these two divisions. ADC took fourth, fifth and sixth place in the contest.

The 30th Air Div won the ADC Top Division Award plaque for its participation rate of 16.74 per cent and adopton rate of 31.10 per cent. 26th Air Div was runner-up.

Even tho officials of the program are confident that the command can continue to dominate the USAF-wide statistics, they have passed down certain guidelines to the field to insure higher overall participation.

First, review your procedures to assure that suggestions are processed and evaluated promptly. Delays in handling are a serious deterrent to participation.

Second, use every device and resource available to promote submission of suggestions. Assure that supervisors understand that profitable suggestions for management improvements and savings reflect favorably on them as well as their subordinates who originate the suggestions.

Third, put on the old thinking cap and make ADC's pre-eminence in the Military Suggestion Program a personal goal.

The Military Suggestion Program is one in which no one need "warm the bench." Get on the first team with your suggestion today!

WHY IN 18 SHORT YEARS HAS H&R BLOCK CO GROWN FROM ONE OFFICE TO OVER 500 AFFILIATED OFFICES ACROSS THE COUNTRY?
BECAUSE . . . . . .

1 H&R BLOCK does the finest work on each and every tax return that can be done.
2 H&R BLOCK charges are nominal. Each return is priced from a flat schedule which is the same in every office in the U. S. These are based solely on the complexity of the return, not the income, refund, etc. As low as $5 for both federal and state . . . most returns are $7.50 or less.
3 H&R BLOCK men know taxes. Each man has been trained and doing taxes for some time. Each man attends our own tax course every year to review and be brought up to date on the numerous changes.
5 H&R BLOCK stands behind and guarantees every tax return it prepares. Every return is checked thoroughly and you receive a written guarantee with your copies.

No Date Set For Atlanta Racial March

ATLANTA (AP) — Representatives of nine civil rights organizations have voted to stage massive street demonstrations to protest segregation in Atlanta but have not set a date.

The groups organized a coalition called the Atlanta Summit Leadership Conference last October in an effort to achieve deregregation through negotiation. Meetings were held with city officials and business leaders.

"I'm disappointed that this conference method has not received a more positive response from white community leaders," said Clarence Coleman of the National Urban League."

Johnson May Visit Georgia for Campaign

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia says President Johnson has indicated he would consider visiting Georgia during the forthcoming political campaigns.

Sanders said Friday he discussed the possibility with Johnson and the President indicated he would consider an invitation.

Teenager Cashes Fictitious Check At Local Store

Mrs. E. Thornton, an employee of Lerner Shops, 7 N. Tejon St. reported to the police department Friday that a teenage boy had cashed a fictitious check at her store Dec. 21.

According to the report, Mrs. Thornton did not trouble to question the youth as she knew him and his mother. He told her his mother had given him the check and that he wanted to buy a three piece slack set. He was accompanied by another youth.

The check was returned marked "unable to locate," and before informing the police Mrs. Thornton got in touch with the boy's grandmother who told her his family had been having a lot of trouble with him and were unable to exert any control over him.

The boy and his mother have not been located but it was discovered he was running around with another boy who has been cashing bad checks all over Colorado Springs. Mrs. Thornton was also shown a picture of a third youth by police and recognized him as the one who was with the youngster who cashed the check.

'Rehabilitation' Ordered by LBJ For Draftees

soon as possible and correct many of them.

The Department of Defense and the Selective Service System are directed to give physical and mental examinations to most youths reaching 18, as soon as possible. Most youths eligible for military service are not examined now until they are 22 or 23. The President stressed that early examination did not mean earlier induction into service.

Second, the President directed the secretaries of labor and welfare to set up rehabilitation programs to correct the physical and mental defects found in the examinations.

Wirtz told reporters the rehabilitation programs would not be compulsory "but we have found in the task force report that most of those with deficiencies want help to correct them."

sources counted 1,880 Viet Cong incidents in Decemebr, the highest total for any month in the long, grueling war except November.

The American spokesman said 95 per cent of the problem is to win support of more rural Vietnamese for the U. S.-backed war.

Government troops generally fight hard. But slow reaction time in the military chain of command has enabled Communist forces to complete some maneuvers unhindered by Saigon reinforcements.

RETIREMENT CERTIFICATE — Lt. Col. Glenn W. Frum (left) received congratulations and his retirement certificate from his father, Col. (ret.) Glenn Frum Tuesday and thus climaxed a military career that began under similar circumstances 26 years ago. In order that the elder Frum might attend the ceremony, the retirement and presentation of the Air Force Commendation Medal was held in the Air Force Academy hospital where the senior Frum was receiving medical care. Col. R. T. Hosken, Air Defense Command Director of Communications and Electronics, presented the medal.

Col. Frum Ends 26-Year Military Career

Lt. Col. Glenn W. Frum ended his successful 26 year career of military service in much the same manner as he began - with a handshake and good wishes from his father.

In June, 1937, the senior Frum witnessed his son's entry into active service. Tuesday from his hospital bed at the Air Force Academy hospital, the father had the privilege of presenting to his son a certificate of retirement from the Air Force.

Col. Frum's parents are Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Glenn Frum, 3233 Memphis St., El Paso, Tex. At the bedside retirement ceremony, Col. Frum was also presented with an Air Force Commendation Medal by Col. R. T. Hosken, Air Defense Command director of communications and electronics for his outstanding service as a communications program control officer. Col. Frum was cited for his "diligence, perseverance, initiative, leadership and personal responsibility in the management of the Air Defense Command's multi-million dollar ground-air UHF radio" and other associated programs.

Colonel Frum served as an enlisted man and as a warrant officer until he received his direct commission in 1942. He served in the Canal Zone and the Southwest Pacific during WWII. Other overseas duty stations were Uruguay and Germany.

Wirtz Suggests Overtime Study

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz suggested Friday that one partial solution to the unemployment problem might be an increase in the current time-and-a-half rate for overtime pay.

Wirtz did not flatly propose an increase in overtime pay "I would suggest consideration of whether the present overtime rate is correct," he said.

The labor secretary, who had just met with President Johnson, said that if overtime work were eliminated, the equivalent of 919,000 full-time jobs could be created.

He reported that the average employe in manufacturing industries works 2.8 hours of overtime each week.

Some union leaders have argued that many employers prefer to pay overtime, at the current rate, rather than hire additional employes.

The argument runs that fringe benefits — insurance and the like — plus Social Security taxes make it more economical in the employer's viewpoint to have fewer employes and pay them overtime.

$200 Dog Reported Lost in Region

where he reitereated that he doesn't care to debate Rockefeller, the only other announced Republican candidate. He added:

"I'd rather take on President Johnson on the weaknesses of his administration."

Goldwater said Rockefeller advocates policies more in keeping with the Democratic platform than with Republican principles, and: "Debating him would be more like debating a member of the New Frontier than like debating another Republican."

If he wins the nomination, the Arizonan said, he wants to meet President Johnson in debate. He said he thinks Johnson will debate during the presidential race.

"I see no sense in Republicans berating other Republicans," said Goldwater. He added that's what seems to be Rockefeller's chosen course.

jumble of bodies and twisted metal.

The crash took place at suburban Jejince station, eight miles outside Belgrade. Both trains were jampacked with 350 to 400 passengers, filling every seat and standing in the aisles.

"The jolt sent us flying and tumbling. It was like an earthquake," survivor Danilo Tadic told reporters. "I had been sleeping and woke up to find myself hitting my head on the other side of the car. Fortunately my coat was hanging there.

"The coach was splintered and a few minutes later I found myself lying in an ambulance," he said.

Witnesses standing in the ice-covered station said the impact sent bodies and luggage hurtling through the air.

Milan Manojlovic, engineer of the second train said: "I saw a red light as I rounded a curve. But it was too late. I could not stop."

Police investigators "detained" the engineer along with two other railroad workers who were at the switch controls.

No Real Cold War Settlement Proposals Seen

Minister Andrei Gromyko in New York and Washington the Russians began to link the plan to conditions, unacceptable to the West.

The Soviets asked that it be linked to a thinning out of foreign—meaning above all American—forces, and the creation of a de-nuclearized zone in Central Europe.

Both conditions, notably the latter, threaten to alter the power balance in Europe to the West's disadvantage, in the Western view.

Diplomats conversant with Soviet negotiating tactics said it appears that Russia is now pushing primarily for a set of sweeping "declarations" which are neither enforceable nor controllable.

This, they said has been a recurrent feature in Soviet diplomacy for years past.

Girl Severly Cut After Shoving Arm Thru Glass

An 8-year old girl who cut her arm badly Friday had surgery performed on her Saturday at Penrose Hospital where a spokesman described her condition as "satisfactory."

According to a police report, the child, Jaye Louise Neidigh of 304 Locus Dr. was going out of the house with some other children when she accidentally put her arm thru a storm window suffering severe lacerations.

The Nation's Weather

High pressure continued to dominate most of the country with fair and dry weather. A few snow flurries were set off in the northern Rockies as a Pacific cold front moved thru.

There were also snow flurries in the extreme northern Great Lakes and in the vicinity of another cold front stretching from eastern Ohio thru Maine.

A frontal system in the northern Gulf and northern Florida produced rains from southeastern Louisiana eastward across southern Georgia and extreme northern Florida, with Burrwood, La., receiving .68 of an inch in the past six hours.

Maximum temperatures Saturday afternoon rose to above freezing in all sections except portions of the central and northern Rockies and extreme northern Minnesota. Fifties and sixties were reported in the southeast and in the far southwest along the Pacific coast.

The 70's were confined to central and southern Florida and extreme southern California. Readings in the 30's and 40's were recorded elsewhere.

Clothes, Jewelry Valued at $1,200 Reported Stolen

Mrs. Sara L. Fischer of 55 Marland Rd. reported to the sheriff's office Saturday that her suitcase containing clothing and jewelry worth a total of $1,200 had been stolen from a limousine between Peterson Field and her home.

According to Broadmoor Police Officers Floyd Miller and Rudolf Weide, Mrs. Fischer said she got into the vehicle Friday night at the airport and her luggage was put in the trunk.

There were four other passengers traveling; two soldiers who were dropped off at the Continental Bus Depot, an airman who got off at Ent, and a civilian who left at a local motel.

When Mrs. Fischer arrived at her home and the trunk was opened she found the suitcase gone. According to the report, the driver of the limousine denied any knowledge of the missing case.

Pilot Escapes Exploding Plane

XENIA, Ohio (UPI) — An Air Force B-57 medium jet bomber exploded in the air Friday and crashed on the Beavercreek High School grounds, narrowly missing a building containing 1,800 pupils.

There were no injuries to the children.

Nearby Wright - Patterson Air Force Base said the medium bomber's lone occupant, Capt. Gerald E. Lyvere, 45, assigned to the base since last October parachuted to safety. He suffered only minor injuries.

Boy's Bicycle Taken From School Grounds

Radio, Small Change Stolen From Home

James M. McKee of 731 Valley Rd. reported to police Friday that someone had broken into his home and stolen a Japanese transistor radio worth $50 and taken an unknown quantity of change from his wife's purse.

He said the theft happened sometime between Dec. 24 and Dec. 26.

sity to allow him to live on the campus.

Franklin completed registering within an hour, signing up for courses in the history of England, the history of Russia and U. S. domestic policy to 1865. He paid his tuition and returned to his dormitory.

As Franklin completed his registration and walked away from the library, two unidentified students greeted him with outstretched hands.

They were immediately stopped by state troopers and required to show their student identification cards and then allowed to proceed.

One of the white students, who declined to give his name, said the handshakes were merely a friendly gesture to welcome the Negro to the campus.

An Associated Press reporter telephoned Franklin at his dormitory but he declined any comment.

"No comment," Franklin said, "I don't have anything to say to you."

He would not say whether he planned to stay on the campus over the weekend although his luggage was taken into the dormitory and his attorney returned to Montgomery after driving Franklin to Auburn.

Gov. Wallace, disdaining another doorway stand such as the one he made at the University of Alabama last June, made no physical effort to block Franklin's admittance to Auburn.

But Wallace instructed state troopers to allow no U.S. marshals, FBI officers or other federal agents on the campus either as observers or escorts for the first Negro student admitted to the institution.

A small force of FBI agents was in Auburn. There was at least one Justice Department attorney, John Douglas. But there was no indication any federal official would try to challenge the Wallace restriction.

A Justice Department spokesman said in Washington on Friday night that as long as Auburn complied with federal court orders to enroll Franklin and house him, it was not essential to have federal agents the school grounds.

Franklin is a graduate student seeking a master's degree in history and political science.

French and West German governments have taken a stand against giving the Soviets long-term credits. Britain plans to grant them.

President Johnson should not take Khrushchev at his word, he warned, but demand evidence of good will.

Adenauer believes the Soviets want to take over Western Europe and thus become stronger than either the United States or Red China.

Berlin, he said, is dangerous terrain for agreements with the Communists.

"Do you think they gave those passes out of pure humanitarianism?" he asked, poking out his finger accusingly.

He was referring to the holiday arrangements allowing West Berliners to spend a day in East Berlin.

Stockbridge Funeral To Be Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Sydney E. Stockbridge, 1007 N. Corona St., will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Law Drawing Room with the Rev. Sigurd Burch officiating. Burial will follow in Evergreen Cemetery. Stockbridge died Thursday at the age of 71.

A lifetime resident of Colorado Springs, Stockbridge was retired from a job at the Out West Printing and Stationery Co. He was a member of the International Typographical Union and a World War I veteran.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha Stockbridge; a son, Sydney E. Stockbridge Jr. of Loring AFB, Maine; two daughters, Mrs. Maxine Louise Johnnie of Anaheim, Calif., and Mrs. Enid Noel Kennis of Colorado Springs.

He is also survived by 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Sophia Dobbins Dies In Nursing Home

Sophia C. Dobbins, formerly of 12 Cherokee Rd., Manitou Springs, died Saturday at a local nursing home. She was born in Sweden and had been a resident here for 13 years. She was 91 years old.

Mrs. Dobbins was a member of the Presbyterian Church. Survivors are a son, Percy Dobbins of Manitou Springs; a brother, Oscar Swanson of Paris, Ark.; a sister, Anna Phillips, of North Dakota, four granddaughters and 9 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at graveside in Evergreen Cemetery. The Rev. Dr. Howard E. Hansen will officiate. The Law Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

'Label Does Not Apply to Me,' Rocky Declares

Goldwater and Rockefeller have declared formally their candidacies for the Republican nomination for president.

In his announcement Friday, Goldwater said Rockefeller would not offer the voters a clear-cut choice between Republican and Democratic philosophy.

Rockefeller addressed himself to that comment when he said that his views had been worked out from 32 years of public life and therefore could not have been pirated from the three-year-old New Frontier.

Goldwater amplified his comments on Rockefeller Saturday in Los Angeles as he said he saw no sense in the debates proposed by Rockefeller.

"Debating him would be more like debating a member of the New Frontier," Goldwater said.

Those comments arrived at Rockefeller headquarters here after the governor had departed for his home in Westchester County, New York. There was no immediate rebuttal.

On each of four public appearances during his New Hampshire visit Rockefeller called upon Goldwater to join in the debates as "part of the New Hampshire and New England tradition."

Rockefeller said he wanted to debate with Goldwater such views as U. S. withdrawal from the United Nations, cutting off all foreign aid, abolishing the graduated income tax and stopping farm subsidies.

Rockefeller has attributed these views to Goldwater but the Arizona senator and conservative leader has said they do not reflect his thinking.

The New York governor Saturday established Goldwater as his immediate target, stating that the first concern of Republicans should be "the choice within the party" at the convention next July.

Goldwater has emphasized the choice between the Democratic and Republican candidates next November.

Huge Crowds Engulf Pope On Visit to Holy City

as the Pope walked into the shrine of the Holy Sepulcher. He bent his head to pass under the low rock arch which leads into the shrine. Four church dignitaries followed him.

The Pope was lost to view.

He came out three minutes later and police opened a path for him through the crowd.

The congregation burst into applause as he left the shrine. The applause followed him as he moved away.

The welcome outside the Damascus Gate was so riotous that some windows were smashed.

At one point the Pope entered a small chapel and stayed behind barred doors for 25 minutes while anxious authorities tried to determine how to get him on his way safely.

Shouting, sweating police threw up line after line to try and hold back the surging masses, but each time were overwhelmed by the pressure.

The Pope began the hectic march into Jerusalem on a jubilant note. Thousands waved palm branches, blew bugles, beat drums and cheered as he drove slowly down the ridge along the edge of the Mount of Olives.

Children in blue and white dresses sang hymns and groups of nuns mingled with Arabs in native costume to watch the pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church pass by.

As the papal car pulled up in front of the Damascus Gate the crowd surged forward.

The crowd burst through security lines and descended on the papal car, trapping it so that the Pope was unable to disembark. The roar was constant fo 15 minutes.

Finally police and soldiers helped by cars mounted with machine guns cleared space sufficient to permit the Pope to leave the car.

Long after the Pope walked down eight steps through the gate, bells tolled and choruses of their voices carried by amplifiers, sent religious music echoing through the city.

Climaxing his day, the Pope celebrated Mass at night in the Church of All Nations which is in the Garden of Gethsemane where Christ awaited His crucifixion. The garden on the Mount of Olives where Christ was betrayed and arrested was floodlit for Pope Paul's visit.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

JERUSALEM (AP) — Torchlights glimmered from the Mount of Olives Saturday night as Pope Paul VI knelt before the Rock of Agony for services in the Garden of Gethsemane.

Looking tired from his first day's pilgrimage in the Holy Land, the smiling Pope entered the Church of All Nations through a shoving crowd for 40-minute services during which he recited prayers as priests sang the Gospel in six languages.

About 1,500 worshipers pushed against the line of police and troops inside the 12-domed church. But as the Pope entered for his night's devotions, the crowd was quiet during the solemn ceremony dealing with Christ's final agony.

The crowd scene was far quieter than those the Pope faced earlier in the day when he was jostled by tumultuous throngs, especially along the Via Dolorosa, marked as Christ's path to the crucifixion.

Troops swung shut the copper-sheathed doors of the church next to the ancient olive grove where Christ spent the night before His crucifixion. This was done during the services to prevent more spectators from pushing inside.

The Pope prayed before a square of rough limestone rock traditionally considered to be the rock where Jesus prayed "Not my will, but Thine, be done" before He was betrayed by the kiss of Judas.

The service was one of devotion, prayers and meditation, with priests singing the Gospel in Latin, Greek, Arabic, Armenian, Russian and Coptic.

The Pope left the church surrounded by Jordanian soldiers. He lifted his hands in benediction to an applauding crowd.

He climbed into a black sedan and was driven up the hill to the Apostolic Delegation where he was spending the night.

Bomb Destroys Mortuary in Chicago Area

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bombs destroyed a West Side mortuary owned by an alderman's brother, and damaged the North Side home of a union official here Friday night.

Two gunmen invaded the Marzullo and Kringas Mortuary, forced a watchman to leave and touched off bombs which caved in the roof and blew out a wall of the building, causing a fire.

Another bomb was set off on the lawn in front of the doorway of the home of Matt Martin, business agent for Local 63 of the Ironworkers Union. The bomb wrecked the door and windows of the house and blew out windows of nearby buildings.

The West Side mortuary was owned by William Marzullo, a brother of Alderman Vito Marzullo, and John Kringas.

Watchman Gus Gianoulis, 49, was on duty at the mortuary late Friday night when the door bell range. He answered and two armed men pushed him aside and entered.

While the gunmen were in the mortuary, Kringas telephoned and the men forced Gianoulis to answer. "Tell him it's okay and don't talk Greek," they ordered. Gianoulis did as ordered.

Then they forced Gianoulis from the building and told him to walk west. When he got about a block away he heard a loud blast and called firemen.

Battalion Fire Chief Harry Mohr said at least two bombs were set off in the mortuary chapel. He estimated the loss at $50,000.

Threatened Duel in Argentina Canceled

Rush Sergeant Receives Air Medal Citation

Senior M. Sgt. Alfred I. Smith has received the citation which accompanies the Air Force Commendation Medal.

Sgt. Smith distinguished himself by meritorious service as non-commissioned officer in charge of the Aerospace Ground Equipment Section, 5040th Field Maintenance Squadron, Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska from June 1, 1960 to May 30, 1963.

He was responsible for raising the "in-commission" rate of assigned Aerospace Ground Equipment from 67 per cent to 86 per cent. He also reduced the necessity for airlifting replacement Aerospace Ground Equipment to remote forward bases by 78 per cent, thus reducing the air logistic load for supporting aircraft and increasing the forward bases self-sufficiency.

Sgt. Smith, son of Alfred E. Smith of Fountain, is a graduate of Miami High School, Rush. He entered the service in April 1941 and is now stationed at Shelfridge, Mich., where he lives with his wife, Eileen, and their two sons.

Retail Sales Above Average In County

Consumer spending in Colorado Springs was high in the past fiscal year and gives every promise of going higher.

Local residents returned to the market place in force. The loss of confidence they had suffered in the Spring of 1962, when the stock market took a nose dive, was all but forgotten as they proceeded to pick up where they had laid off.

The result is to be seen in the volume of business registered by local retail stores in the 12-month period ending June 30, 1963.

The figures are contained in a new report issued by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It lists net earnings, other pertinent facts for communities in all parts of the country.

For Colorado Springs, it shows that retail business in the year came to $166,913,000, passing the previous year's $158,211,000.

With this volume, local merchants accounted for .0695 per cent of the national total, the report states. This was more than their proportionate share, since the local population is only .0436 percent of the national.

New car sales were the strongest part of consumer spending throughout the period.

Other big-ticket items such as air conditioners, washers, dryers and refrigerators, also benefited from the return of consumer confidence.

Sparking the general business improvement was the powerful economic force of rising incomes. With more money in their pockets, with prices fairly steady and with the business outlook favorable, people began to spend more freely.

Net income in Colorado Springs in the year, after allowing for taxes, reached a total of $168,134,000. It was more than in fiscal 1962, $151,522,000.

What it amounted to was an average spending capacity of $6,175 per local household.

Most business leaders see good times ahead for most of 1964. They forecast another good automobile year, continued large-scale outlays for industrial expansion and substantial spending by all levels of government, Federal, state and local. The outlook, they feel, is better than at any time since 1960.

Dutch Teachers Told To Stop Smoking

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands (AP) — Dutch school teachers are being asked to quit smoking in their schools as an example to their students.

The annual Congress of the Dutch Teachers Federation voted 348-12, with 5 abstentions, for a resolution making the request of all the nation's teachers.

Exile Group Charges Attacks by Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban Judicial Association in Exile said today it has sent to the Organization of American States a list of 278 alleged acts of aggression or subversion by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government against Latin-American nations.

Association President Francisco Alabau Trelles, former Cuban supreme court justice, said the information was obtained from the governments concerned and from speeches by Castro.

AEC Plans to Issue License

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)— The Atomic Energy Commission announced Friday it intends to issue a license in 30 days for Consumers Public Power District to take over operation of the Hallam, Neb., nuclear power facility.

Plant manager J. D. Cochran said Consumers personnel have been engaged in the start-up and testing of the reactor portion of the plant since July, 1961. He said 27 CPPD operators and supervisors have been licensed individually to operate the plant after an extensive period of classroom training and on-the-job experience.

Atomic International designed and built the Hallam reactor, the world's only commercial sodium cooled atomic power plant.

When operating authorization is issued, it will allow CPPD to complete one more step in a schedule set up in 1955. The next step is the use of the conventional steam boiler to drive a new generating unit.

GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Theft Is Not Peace

Persons who favor a planned economy wherein production shall occur under the direction of the state, and wherein distribution of goods will take place on the basis of "need," would probably never have attained much in the way of success for their ideas had they not also come forward to claim a desire for universal peace.

That the claim is completely phony can be detected almost at once.

Here are persons who, in fact, are calling for a program of universal grand theft to be conducted by the state against all persons, but who in the same breath say they are favorable to world peace.

But they win acceptance to their theories because they not only claim to favor peace, they also link the word peace with the word welfare, and try to make it appear that peace and welfare will be available for all people in the world just as soon as a world government is established and a redistribution of all goods takes place.

A major chore for those who oppose theft and who do not want to see men becoming subordinate to and completely dependent on the state, will be the task of exposing these social schemers as the true makers of war, the true destroyers of wealth, the true wreckers of welfare.

There are probably numerous ways this can be done. But certainly one of the ways does not include opposing people who say they favor peace, by saying that we favor war. Nor does it include the idea that to oppose welfare of the kind managed by the state, we must automatically oppose charity or kindness and generosity which have ennobled and advanced mankind for centuries.

We know of no more effective approach than to examine the thinking of these social reformers to find out why it is that they are so insistent on a redivision of property. In a very pertinent sense, the difficulties we face in the realm of opposing philosophies in this country and elsewhere relate primarily to opposing views of the nature and origin of property.

Those who favor a redistribution of property or insist they want a "planned economy" (governmentally ordained), begin their argument on wholly false and unrealistic grounds. What they suppose is that all privately owned property which might accrue to anyone over and above the "need" of that person, is an instance of immorality.

In other words, along with early theologians, mystics and social philosophers, they imagine that private ownership of property is basically wrong for it tends to exclude all the world except the owner. And the owner isn't really an owner, as they see it. He is a usurper, having claimed or taken possession of property which rightfully should belong to everyone. Thus, as they see it, a property owner is an exploiter, a causer of human misery.

Viewed in this light (if you can believe such nonsense) it is easy to assume that taking property away from a property owner isn't robbery. Since the owner has robbed the whole world to begin with by having any property at all, then it is hardly a crime (they will argue) to take away that which he should not have at all and to redistribute it on the basis of need.

To round out their argument they will contend that if private ownership of property is abolished, then peace would come. It would come because we would have returned to a "natural" world in which no one "owned" anything. This would obviously eliminate all slavery, greed, corruption, piracy, war, theft and everything else, for the contention is that property is the root of all evil. If no one owned anything, then there would be no occasion to fight with anyone over anything.

But property is not the root of evil, it is the root of good. And this is the real burden we have; to convince people that peace and human welfare can best be advanced, not thru a program of grand theft, but thru a program of eliminating at least one kind of theft, the legalized theft we call taxation.

Great

The things America makes are the things that make America great.

Freedom and Peace

Some folks apparently imagine that freedom and peace are contradictory terms. Possibly this idea is one of the oldest and most deeply imbedded concepts in existence. Implicit is the rationale that our freedom depends upon our ability to reduce all our enemies to impotence. As tho our freedom were to be based upon the impotence or possibly the slavery of others.

The early usage of the word "freedom" would lend itself to this point of view, it must be admitted. So far as can be learned, the word freedom, when it was first employed, did not relate to a general condition for humanity but, rather, was reserved to indicate a condition of privilege within the family or clan. Within the circle provided by the close association of these early tribal units, the restraining hand of the chief or witch doctor could be removed and the individual was "free" in the sense that he was not physically restrained by others.

Actually, a condition of freedom in our own sense of what freedom means simply didn't exist. The person was "free" who was able to make choices within the family or clan unit and who also experienced some degree of "protection" or "safety" as provided by the collectivity of the tribe or clan. When a stranger put in an appearance, the stranger was not "free." He was restrained by elaborate and onerous rules until he could be "accepted." At that time, the strangeness had worn off and he was granted the "freedom" of the family or the tribe. Literally, he was "adopted" into the group and accepted the privileges it provided.

Freedom as we think of it today, simply did not exist.

Thus, it is probable that the apparently dichotomy between freedom and peace has a very ancient root system. Freedom is frequently viewed as nothing more than a system of political privilege and peace is seen as a temporary condition arising when OUR SIDE has such formidable weapons and armaments that we hold the balance of power in our favor and at the same time refrain from attacking a supposed enemy.

This is nothing more than an extension of primitive savage reasoning into the age of guided missiles and atom bombs.

It has remained for philosophers of our own era to come forward with ideas which are far more complex than these simple plus and minus concepts.

Freedom is now viewed by those who are foremost in its examination, not as a condition of privilege belonging to an "in group" while all outsiders are held at bay; rather it is seen as a universal law relating to the nature of man and residing in man's constant necessity to choose for himself on the basis of reason rather than instinct. Thus, freedom moves out of the class of privileges and is seen as a right.

And what of peace? Those who are giving greatest thought to this idea no longer are satisfied to view it as a temporary condition existing for "in groups" while those outside the sphere are dominated. Instead, peace and freedom are seen to be little more than two sides of a single coin. Some are beginning to doubt the possibility of having freedom without peace, or peace without freedom.

Clearly, it is the lack of peace that will enslave. And certainly it is true that slavery (the domination of some by others) is the cause celebre for war.

Somehow, we are going to have to learn that freedom and peace cannot be viewed as separate and disparate conditions. Where men are not free, wars ensue. Where wars ensue, freedom is banished. Certainly, there can be few conditions in the world so totally destructive of freedom as a condition of total war. And this would be true regardless of the side one's loyalties bid him take. In war, persons on both sides are enslaved.

The American Way

Bountiful 1964 Ahead

By RAYMOND C. BAKER

If the men who feed statistics from every section of the nation into mechanical "brains" are analyzing outpourings of the computers correctly, 1964 will be the most prosperous year in history.

Economists see the gross national product — plant expansion, manufacturing, sales of goods and services — soaring right thru the $600 billion barrier to a total of $617 billion. This is an increase of 5.5 per cent over last year's estimated $583 billion.

Some of the forecasters go so far as to say that business increase predictions for this new year "may" be on the conservative side. They admit to a minus $16 billion error in the 1963 forecast since the best they could see was a 2.5 per cent increase over 1962 to $567 billion instead of the final $583 billion.

This seems to indicate that management and the people had more faith than the economic seers in the vitality of the American free enterprise system and its ability to overcome political roadblocks and increased competition from foreign goods.

CURE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

This is not to suggest that everything was rosy. It wasn't. There were, and still are, very serious areas of unemployment. One element in this area is increased automation which put large segments of workers out of jobs.

This is being corrected 1) by off and on job training of men and women needed to operate the very machines which threw them out of work until increased consumer demand for the products they produce requires more workers in manufacturing and allied fields and 2) illogical strikes over outrageous pay rise and other demands.

Ambitious labor leaders are responsible in large measure for soaring unemployment rolls. The New York newspaper strike is illustrative of their "public be damned" attitude. This 114-day strike caused economic losses running to $250 million, including $50.4 million in wages lost by 19,000 employees, and resulted in the demise of the New York Mirror and 1,600 newspaper jobs.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK

Despite this and another serious strike in Cleveland, preliminary estimates of newspaper advertising revenues for 1963 show a probable slight increase over 1962. All other media show substantial increases, ranging from 3 to 12 per cent. This augurs well for the new year, because it demonstrates that business can clear economic and political hurdles to meet the needs and desires of Americans.

There is one area that could cause a problem if a handful of metropolitan newspaper editors do not soon see their error. They seem to feel that direct mail is too serious a competitor, in spite of the fact that newspaper advertising probably will hit $3.7 billion for 1963 as compared with probably $2.1 billion for mail advertising.

In fact, their criticism became so serious late last year that Robert F. DeLay, president, Direct Mail Advertising Association, decided to run an advertisement in Editor & Publisher, bible of editors, calling attention to the fact that newspapers are the seventh largest users of direct mail — that actually one complements the other in that large advertisers use mail promotion to pinpoint their newspaper advertising.

'COUNTRY EDITOR' KNOWS

Apparently, some metropolitan editors have not yet learned what small city and rural newspaper editors have known for years — that the ambitious entrepreneur, who initially builds his business thru smart mail advertising, soon becomes one of the papers' best advertisers. Moreover, they know that direct mail is a low cost fine salesman for building circulation, holding old advertisers and attracting new ones.

Surely it is in order to suggest that this unnecessary quarrel be dropped in the interest of harmony in the advertising field and instead, all who sell visually and verbally get on with the job of helping American business bring in the bountiful harvest economists foresee for 1964.

And by all means, my best wishes to you, the reader, for a Joyous, Exciting and Prosperous New Year.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION No. 404: "If a person would have to obey only those laws with which he agrees, then what purpose would there be in laws, or for anyone wasting his time voting for or against them or our representatives who make them?"

ANSWER: We presume the writer means man-made laws rather than natural, eternal, moral laws which are in harmony with the Human Relations Commandments.

It is to man's self-interest to obey these eternal, moral laws that add to his well being — spiritually, intellectually, and physically.

But most of the man-made laws are in complete contradiction to these natural laws which are eternal. If one lived in harmony with the Human Relations Commandments which are summarized in the Golden Rule and expressed politically in the Declaration of Independence, then he certainly is not obliged to obey laws which violate these natural laws.

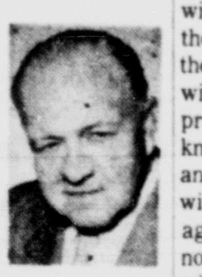
Henry D. Thoreau wouldn't pay taxes which would be used to help catch slaves and return them to their owners. Yet Henry D. Thoreau was an extremely moral man. His "Walden Pond," was translated into 15 different languages and reprinted 150 times. We suggest that anyone who believes in the sacredness and necessity of obeying man-made laws read "Civil Disobedience" by Thoreau or his "Life Without Principle."

Socrates refused to obey man-made laws. Bruno refused to obey the laws which required him to recant his belief in the Copernican system. They put him in jail for seven years trying to get him to recant and when he would not they burned him at the stake.

I Welcome Agreement

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

Every so often I read some comments relating to the merit of conflicting ideas which remind me of a man with whom I was employed for more years than I like to think about. One of his pet conversation pieces went like this, "I welcome disagreement. This business is built upon the conflict generated by disagreement, different ideas, and I do not care to be surrounded by a bunch of yes men."



I knew this man for more than 20 years and can recall not a single instance in which a conflicting idea, expressed before witnesses, won. Vividly, I recall an instance where a young and very brash salesman challenged his employer during a sales meeting. The man accepted the challenge, discussed the idea at length, provided the young salesman with plenty of fuel for his argument and the meeting ended on a note of harmony, good will and peace on earth. When the young salesman sat down to his desk in the office, he found a check in payment of his salary for two weeks, in lieu of notice.

Actually, the wholesale business I refer to was built upon the vibrant energy and drive of one man, aided by a staff of excellent salesmen who had no time to sit around arguing with the boss or anybody else. The man had three daughters and an overwhelming desire for a son. A medical man told him his wife's life would be seriously endangered if she attempted to have another child. The man fired his medical advisor and another and another and another until he found one who agreed with him. His wife did present him with a son, he presented her with a new $6,000 automobile but the previous rapport between this man and his wife was gone forever, for obvious reasons.

True, some people seem to thrive upon conflict. They are different than the great composer who told me he could compose best after a fine meal, and when peace and quiet and good will radiated thruout his household so he could concentrate upon his music. I have always found myself in complete agreement with this philosophy, welcoming agreement.

Bluntly, I suspect that many who apparently welcome conflict, also welcome agreement with their own ideas. The point they decline to make involves the fact that they rarely agree with others, as a matter of principle. In my own case, I know I am happily content when another person presents ideas with which I am in complete agreement. In other words, I not only welcome agreement with my ideas, I also am enthused when I find ideas, presented by others, with which I agree.

This seems quite logical to me. If another man and I reach agreement on certain principles, we can then explore other ideas under the best possible circumstances. Our energies are directed towards constructive thinking instead of resolving a conflict.

I suppose there are people who find it difficult to direct their own energies towards a goal unless conflict exists. A man may desire a certain woman because she seems unattainable. He wants a Rolls because he's broke or a $50,000 home because he doesn't have the down payment for a less expensive property. People of this type rarely know happiness or a sense of achievement. They are possessed by an acquisitive nature, which is only rarely also discriminating.

Not long ago, a man said to me, "I am engrossed with the freedom philosophy because freedom seems unattainable. Probably if a condition of freedom prevailed, I would be fighting for a dictator or some kind of rulership simply because I oppose the status quo, whatever the status quo may be." The statement suggested a sorry state of mind, to me, and a sad condition of intellectual immaturity.

Obviously, I present an idea which is in conflict with a great deal of contemporary thinking when I say that conflict hinders progress and inherently impinges upon the right of human beings to live in freedom. In freedom I would find it possible to create without having my efforts diluted by tyranny and the urge of others to live upon my earnings.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Endless Conflict

From Rocky Mountain News

As 1964 approaches, we wish a very special Happy New Year for one individual in Denver who, we think, deserves it more than most.

We are referring to Burr Betts, president of the Security Life and Accident Insurance Co., and his seemingly endless conflict with government.

Several years ago Betts bought a fine piece of property at Lincoln Street and Colfax Avenue, across from the statehouse, to build a new skyscraper for his rapidly expanding company.

Not so, said Gov. McNichols; the state needs that land for a new building for state agencies. So he moved to, condemn the property, and eventually there probably will be a shining new edifice on the site, to be promptly filled with state employees.

Undaunted, Burr Betts bought an expensive piece of property from Max Cook at 16th Street and Glenarm Place, and promptly got to work raising a 32-floor structure. This was "topped off" recently to the plaudits of the whole city.

All along Burr Betts had planned with the appearance of the new building, to sell or lease the old Security Life Building at 14th and Stout Streets, across from City Auditorium.

But this has become practically impossible at present because of conflicting objectives of two government activities. Supporters of the proposed Metropolitan State College, which has been okayed by the legislature, declare that with modest remodeling this building would house the new institution admirably.

Supporters of a municipal bond issue to construct a convention exhibition hall insist that the property of the old Security Life Building is essential for the exhibition hall because of its proximity to City Auditorium.

Mind you, neither of these groups has a cent to spend on building anything. Nevertheless, the threat of condemnation — state or city — throws such a shadow over this property that it is like the maiden who was wanted but unwooed.

Happy New Year, Burr Betts! May 1964 bring an early solution to this lamentable situation.

City Zoning - -

AN ECONOMIC WASTELAND

From The Freeman, Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Mr. Terry is a high school economics teacher and debate coach and served on the City Council of Louisville, Ohio.

DONALD R. TERRY

Demonstrations and heated discussions of burning issues often conceal facts and principles that would seem reasonably clear from the quiet comfort of one's armchair. The recent outbreaks of violence over human rights or civil rights make it hard to see that the real issue of the minority versus the majority boils down to the question: What are the rights of the individual which the government ought never to invade but should defend against violation by any other individual or group? In other words, what is the proper role of government in a free society?

This is no easy question, of course; but one way to approach it is to ask yourself and your friends, "Would you favor a law specifying how each of us is to spend or invest the money in his pay envelope?" The overwhelming response, I suspect, would be a vehement "No!" Yet, time and again, we have acted collectively to violate the rights to private property implicit in the foregoing question and answer. This inconsistency reflects our failure to understand the net effect of the laws we promote or permit.

My rude awakening on this matter came when we Councilmen of Louisville, Ohio, were asked to review a zoning case. I had always assumed, along with most others of the community, that zoning was the only way to protect the "right" of an individual to live in an area of the type he desired. But now I was jolted by a question about the effect of zoning on property rights.

I began to see that zoning acts as a law specifying how private property, in the form of real estate, may be used by its owners. The ultimate effect, I concluded, is a majority decision on how you and I may use our property —hardly consistent with a viewpoint stressing human liberty. Zoning, if we favor it, amounts to an insistence on our part that someone else protect and subsidize our privacy and our likes and dislikes.

For example, if your neighbor has a use for his property to which you object, only two alternatives are open to you: (1) you may, in the true spirit of the free market, bid for and buy the property, or (2) you can, by collective action, call out the police force to deny your neighbor his choice and enforce yours instead. Which of these is consistent with liberty and freedom?

This led me into further study of the history and background of the private property concept. Gottfried Dietze, in his book "In Defense of Property" (Chicago: Regenery, 1963) says "a prerequisite for incentive and human progress—is property (which) guarantees peace among individuals." Without guarantees of property, some use of the gun is inevitable. John Locke made it clear in his "Second Treatise of Government" that property enjoys protection as a natural right. Hume, the staunch Scottish proponent of limited government, stated that any property owned and improved by the individual must be secured to him. As Dietze points out, "The Declaration of Independence is to a great extent a document in defense of property." John Adams in his "Defense of the Constitutions of Government of the United States of America" stressed the need for protecting each man's right to use his property as he saw fit. Dietze concludes that no discrimination against the right of property use can be justified, if the objective is compatibility with freedom. Can we deny the need to return to the complete protection of property, including the right of the owner to make the use he desires of it?

EXAMPLES OF WASTE

With this background, I began to reflect on the case before the Council. It involved a large building designed as a theater on a half-acre tract. This business property stood economically wasted for years because zoning laws prohibited any use except as a theater or residence, thus prohibiting the owner from introducing light industry. This property was not only well suited to such use but adjoined a railroad track and was on the boundary of a light industrial and commercial zone. True, the owner had made a mistake in locating a theater there. But why perpetuate, by law, such an economic waste of resources as well as a restriction on human liberty? As I pondered the case, there came to mind two reasons why government should not decide land use:

1) Zoning denies freedom of choice by individuals and businesses to use their property to pursue their ultimate economic well-being; 2) thus, zoning collectively creates an unjustified economic wasteland that private owners wish to avoid. The following examples may help to clarify the fact that zoning denies freedom of choice:

First, there came before the Louisville City Council a businessman who could not erect a sign of certain height within a certain distance from the sidewalk. Why not build it back where zoning laws call for it? Large trees would obscure it, thus defeating its purpose.

The second case was that of a homeowner who developed a basement workshop where he did small repair jobs. Zoning laws denied his right to continue to pursue his economic goal.

The third example, recently related to me by a friend from another community, concerned a vacated dance studio. Neighborhood opposition, plus zoning laws, long frustrated the owner's efforts to sell. Finally, in spite of the opposition, he was given permission to sell it for use as a private kindergarten. The result has been the improving of the appearance of the property so it is no longer an eyesore. Indeed, property values have since risen throughout the neighborhood.

These cases illustrate how the right of property usage can be and is denied in many cases to individuals, businesses, and industries throughout this "land of the free." The result is a vast economic wasteland as owners are denied for years the economic use of their buildings and land. How can we progress if we deny owners the freedom to properly allocate resources?

UNWARRANTED FEARS

The counter argument of the planner is that zoning is the only way to protect residential areas from invasion by industry. The answer is threefold, but simple. First, if homes are the proper allocation or usage of that land, then industry will not desire it. And remember, too, much of zoning is speculative regarding possible future use of areas. But what "planner" can know the future? Why not let the free market determine use? Second, we have ample evidence that, as manufacturing moves into an area, prices are bid upward; thus, the original owners can profit and still permit the best allocation of the land. Houston is an excellent example of a city developing in a logical manner under this principle. Third, the much feared public nuisance—the slaughter house or run-down mill—would be taken care of by the common law. Adequate decisions are available to uphold this principle, without resort to special zoning legislation.

Most of us agree that no man should be forced to use his resources if he does not choose to use them. By the same reasoning, no collective group should use the gun of the policeman to force anyone to waste his resources or to subsidize someone else's desires. To deny the right of any individual to use his own property according to his own choice is to jeopardize the freedom of everyone.

BRAINWASHING

To the Editor:

In the last six months, I've seen a few TV programs and of that few, two of them presented Protestant ministers as crack-pots or racketeers.

I wonder if this is a form of religious brainwashing that is going on in our country, or whether the movie industry is simply trying to warn the public to look out for this type of religious racketeer.

If the image of the Protestant minister is continually presented in this way, it can be the beginning of the end for religious freedom and a positive ministry of getting God's Word out to the public in our free land.

Comparatively few people ever stop to determine the motive behind any movie, TV program, or book they read, and this type audience is wide open for brainwashing and thought control.

One of the most valuable things we might do to protect our American public and defend our freedoms, I believe, would be to expose the manner in which they are being influenced and alert them to look for the motives behind the things they see and hear.

The Protestant ministry, both in our churches and among lay organizations, has been a strong force in bringing moral standards and Christian ethics to our society. Hollywood's survival may depend upon them protecting this ministry rather than perverting it, because the minds they pervert may be the very minds that will ruin their industry.

"Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counsellors, there is safety" (Proverbs 11:14).

PHONE CALLERS

To the Editor:

With your permission I would like to address a few words to my nameless phone callers and letter writers.

We are most fortunate in Colorado Springs to have a newspaper and an editor more than willing to publish both sides of any question. In fact, some times I shudder at some of the stuff they give space to.

Now, if you think my articles are untrue or off base (and you have the courage to sign your letter) write to the editor of the Gazette Telegraph. If your letter is constructive and within the bounds of decency he will publish it. Attack what I write. It does you no good to telephone or write and attack ME. It is a waste of your time.

As an illustration — one paragraph in a two-page unsigned letter I received said, "Webster defines coffin as a pine box and the sooner you are buried in one the better." This was a complete waste of time. First, because Webster does not define coffin as a pine box and, secondly, I am not going to be buried in a coffin. I am going to be cremated!

HOW MUCH TAXES

To the Editor:

The philosophic position of most conservatives is based upon the doctrine of "free will"— that is, that man's "rights" are derivable from the Creator, and-or are inherent in the nature of man (the choice of a precise source depends on whether the individual is a theist, deist, pantheist, or something else). Since man is, or should be, FREE, this establishes FORCE, used by man against his fellow men, as a primary evil. The organized monopoly of FORCE, called by some, "government", is the major embodiment of this evil. If we concede that man is not by his nature perfectable, then we are usually led to the conclusion that SOME government is necessary, if only in the sense of organized NEGATIVE force, as defined by Leonard Read and Frederic Bastiat. If we presume the existence of ANY government, then we must likewise adopt the notion that some TAXES are necessary. The payment of taxes does NOT involve the use of "free will," since taxes are extracted through the use of FORCE by that greatest monopoly of force, government. Traditionally, the extraction of property through the use of force has been called "stealing." Are we not then led to the inescapable conclusion that the collection of ANY tax is stealing, and therefore immoral; consequently, government cannot morally exist, since it MUST depend upon the collection of taxes for its existence? It is a rather inconsistent and untenable position to have to argue that some stealing is all right, but that more stealing is not all right. Perhaps our Editor can treat this one in the question box.

We can hardly argue that the payment of taxes should be reduced to a voluntary basis — you could never get universal agreement on precisely what are the limits of the appropriate functions of government. The Gazette Telegraph (and I), for example, would hardly agree to pay taxes to support the socialized public schools. LeFevre probably wouldn't pay ANY taxes — for courts, sanitation, public roads, police force, national defense, or what - have - you. Most of us "moderates" who are not entirely out on the extreme (pardon the expression) fringe of the libertarian right are willing to accept the delimitations of power that were intended in our Constitution, despite the several errors in that great document. On this basis, we conclude that SOME taxes are necessary, whether we believe that taxes are moral or not. We probably can never agree on how much government we SHOULD have, but we can certainly agree that we now have TOO MUCH! It seems rather futile to spend great amounts of time arguing whether we can do with 5 per cent government, 2 per cent government, 1 per cent government, or 0 per cent government, when the present figure is in excess of 45 per cent government! It is a vain exercise in rhetoric to argue, especially with uninformed citizens, about precisely where the lower bound should be — when the important objective should be to START to have LESS!

As a step back (What! Repeal the 20th Century?!) to a government of laws, not of men, I urge all thoughtful citizens to study and support the Liberty Amendment. Stealing through the means of taxation would certainly not be eliminated, but we have to start somewhere. The elimination of 40 per cent of the immense national bureaucracy would be a giant step in the reduction of immoral, tyrannical, socialistic government. We can ill afford to permit the continual erosion of our constitutional heritage—for if the present trend is not abated, Orwell's 1984 will be a fait accompli, ten years ahead of schedule!

ROBERT E HECKERT
Santa Ana, California

Editor's note: It is precisely because of this tendency of "moderates" to compromise with evil in the form of legalized theft that we believe a discussion must ensue in an effort to find out just what percentage of government is the correct percentage. If we cannot determine what that is, and if we cannot make that determination on the grounds of principles and not simply on the grounds of expedience, then any effort to reduce the size of government will come to naught.

Reader Heckert says it would be vain to argue with uninformed citizens on this subject. Presumably Mr. Heckert is not of this group and therefore it cannot be vain to discuss the matter with him. Where would Mr. Heckert draw the line?

We note that he favors a repeal of the income tax. Splendid. Now, what arguments can he advance whereby we may know that the income tax is evil and must go, but other taxes are not evil and must stay?

If we cannot solve the problem in logic, we cannot solve it in physical reality.

BEER LICENSE DISPUTE

To the Editor:

Your note on the letter of Mr. and Mrs. Saulnier, appearing January 1, 1964, in your newspaper was rude, unpropitious and derogatory.

P.S. What interest do you have in 1424 Dustry Drive?

Editor's note: Our note appeared in response to a direct invitation to comment. We stated our view firmly and without rudeness, impropriety or derogation.

We did so because we believe in freedom. We believe in the right of each property owner to do what he believes is in his own best interest in relation to the property he owns. We do not believe that we can retain our freedom in this country or community if we persist in organizing in such a way that some persons try to control and regulate the property of other persons.

We have no business or financial interest in 1424 Dustry Drive. Our interest is in the concepts of American freedom and independence which are enunciated in the Declaration of Independence and the Golden Rule.

Man Donates Kidney For Wife in Surgery

DENVER (AP) — Delbert M. Maynard, 29, and his wife, Addie Jane, 25, were reported in good condition today after a six-hour operation Friday that transplanted a kidney from him to her.

The surgery was the 51st kidney transplant by a team of surgeons at Colorado General Hospital.

A spokesman said the transplanted kidney began excreting shortly after the surgery was completed. Although not unusual, this development is an early indication of the eventual success of the operation, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Maynard was ill of chronic nephritis and faced certain death since both her kidneys had ceased functioning.

They reside in Westfield, Ia.

Two Persons Injured In Train Collision

TOKYO (AP)—A loaded runaway gasoline tank car slammed into a stationary five-coach passenger train and burst into flames at Tachikawa railway station, near the big U.S. air base west of Tokyo, today but only two persons suffered burns and bruises.

About 60 others aboard the train escaped serious injury or fiery death because railway officials swiftly cleared the cars moments before the crash.

Phones Fail To Match British Mail

LONDON (UPI)—The British mail service is so good that letters are often delivered from one end of the nation to the other in less than eight hours.

The telephone service is something else again. And the Post Office Engineering Union demanded Friday that the post office—which runs both services—find out why.

Union General Secretary Charles Smith said millions of calls go astray, must be dialed repeatedly — or are answered only by a hollow silence on the other end of the line.

Smith noted that the post office has allotted $2.52 billion to develop services.

"For this to bear fruit and benefit the public," Smith said, "there will have to be a substantial change in attitude at many levels and quite a different attitude towards the public."

IT REALLY IS SUGAR — Young Danny Vigil wasn't sure he wanted any during the first K-O Polio Sunday in November. Today he will be one of an estimated 75,000 residents to receive type two serum. Here, he is surrounded by his mother, brother and unidentified clinic personnel. Residents who missed the first K-O Polio clinic may start the series with type two and those who received the first vaccine will be two thirds of the way through the immunzation program after receiving the second dose today. Type three vaccine will be given on Feb. 16.

Type Two Polio Serum to Be Given Today

Today is K-O (Knock Out) Polio Sunday. Type two serum will be administered in fifty locations in El Paso and Teller Counties between 11:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Residents may faciliate processing by taking the registration form from the newspaper and filling it out before going to the clinic.

Every resident over three months of age, regardless of previous immunization by injection is encouraged by the El Paso County Medical Society to receive the vaccine. Those who missed type one Sunday in November may begin the series with type two, continue on Feb. 16 with type three and complete the series with the missing serum thru a private physician.

Residents who can afford to do so may contribute 25 cents a dose to offset the cost of the serum. All residents should be immunized regardless of ability to pay and the Medical Society asks those who cannot pay the fee to come anyway and receive the vaccine.

"To really knock out polio everyone must be vaccinated," Dr. William Stone, chairman of the public health committee said.

The same clinics will be in operation today as those operating during the type one immunization, with the exception of the Colorado [illegible] clinic.

Students at Co[illegible] College will receive the [illegible] when they return from the Christmas vacation.

Harrison District: Stratton Meadows School, Chamberlain School.

AFA Officer Authors Article About Swimming

The importance of breath control in teaching beginners to swim is the topic of an article by an Air Force Academy staff member published in a nationally circulated technical journal.

Capt. John N. Gordon, department of physical educationl is the author of "Breath Control in Teaching Beginning Swimming" published in the current issue of "The Physical Educator."

The magazine is the official publication of Phi Epsilon Kappa fraternity, the professional fraternity of physical education.

In his article Capt. Gordon stressed the fact than many instructors frequently neglect to stress the importance of breath control to the beginner because the technique is so often taken for granted by the more proficient swimmer.

Art Works Will Be Displayed in AFA Hospital

Hallways, waiting rooms, and the dining hall of the Air Force Academy's 7625th USAF Hospital now offer a "short course in art."

Thru the cooperation of the department of English, 44 art works by cadet painters and sculptors will be on display in five hospital locations until Jan. 15.

Included in the paintings on exhibit is a copy of Tiepolo's "Madonna of the Goldfinch" by T. C. Isaacson, Class of 1964. Cadet Isaacson is better known by his nickname "Terry" as the Falon's triple threat quarterback. Terry also has an original oil "Despair" in the exhibit.

The cadet art works on display were done in English 451 and 454. The two are enrichment courses offered as electives.

Each cadet enrolled is required to do an oil copy from a print of a masterpiece, a still life from a set up arranged by the instructor, a small sculpture in wood, plastic, wire, or any combination of the materials, and a "free" project in a medium of his own choosing.

Cadets are encouraged to attempt an abstract or non-objective work for the latter requirement.

Tod Jagerson, the Falcon's hard charging guard also has a sculpture of Lincoln in the exhibit.

Col. Peter R. Moody is head of the department of English; Capt. Carlin Kielcheski, instructor for the two Fine Arts courses.

Historian Looks Back At War in New Volume

By LYNN POOLE

All the acres of documents and volumes of history brought forth so far on the subject of World War II have left some troublesome questions still unsettled by historians of the War.

One of the best known of these historians is Dr. Kent Roberts Greenfield, who from 1946 until his retirement in 1958 was chief historian of the department of the Army and general editor of 51 volumes of the monumental series, "The U.S. Army in World War II.

As a capstone to his long career as a military historian, Dr. Greenfield recently published a small volume entitled "American Strategy in World War II; A Reconsideration", in which he presents, as he says, "Interpretations, reflections, corrections and questions" about four still controversial topics of the War.

The book was written, says Dr. Greenfield, to clear up historical questions raised since the original "U.S. Army" volumes were published, and to shed light on the arguments made and new facts revealed since.

The questions concerned are broad ones, and with the names changed, are applicable today to the leaders, alliances and weapons of the Cold War.

The first question concerns the Allies' reasoning in what Dr. Greenfield calls the eight major strategic decisions of the War — such decisions as that of the U.S. to put off waging "total" war against Japan until Germany had been defeated, and that of the Western Allies to make preparations with the Soviet Union for an invasion of Japan. The unsettled question is what principles governed the Allies in their making of these major decisions and how the decisions were reached.

The second question concerns Anglo-American conflict about the launching of a cross-Channel invasion. Beginning in 1942, while Great Britain advocated her famous "encirclement" and "Tightening the ring" strategy, the United States began contending for a concentrated cross-Channel offensive as early as the spring of 1943. The two opposing conceptions of strategy caused much suspicion between the two countries about their political motives in the various theatres of war, putting a considerable strain on the alliance. The question is to what extent American and British strategy really differed, and what country was more justified in suspecting the other of bad faith.

The third question involves the role of the President as commander-in-chief; how great a part did Roosevelt take in forming and directing U. S. strategy and how much did he rely on the judgement of General Marshall and the other Chiefs of Staff?

The final question concerns the effectiveness of air power: how much did air power live up to expectations of its usefulness as a "revolutionary" weapon of strategy, and what did it actually contribute to the Allied military effort?

Dr. Greenfield documents his discussion of the four questions with extensive references, and reaches some unexpected conclusions.

About the major strategic decisions of the War, he says that whatever their consequences on the post-War political balance, at the time they were decided every decision made "military sense," and were reached by the Allies on the basis of military, and not political considerations. "Even after Roosevelt and Truman realized what Stalin was doing with the Soviet-occupied countries of Europe and China," says Dr. Greenfield, "both presidents consistently gave the green light to their military chiefs, and these consistently rejected decisions on grounds other than military effect." The prevailing view was expressed by General Marshall, who wrote in a 1945 on grounds other than military effect." The prevailing view was expressed by General Marshall, who wrote in a 1945 letter to General Eisenhower that he "would be loath to hazard American lives for purely political purposes. Though the Allies' wartime strategy ignored political consequences, "that is why," says Dr. Greenfield, "if for no other reason, the strategic direction of World War II is a classic model of military effectiveness," resulting in total defeat of the enemy.

On the other questions, Dr. Greenfield concludes that the U.S. has to bear the blame for causing unnecessary tensions within the alliance over the cross - Channel invasion, and that England had more reason to be suspicious of U.S. intentions than, as is often represented, the U.S. had to be of England's.

Also, according to Dr. Greenfield, in cases where President Roosevelt's ideas or commitments conflicted with the advice of his military chiefs, the President had no compunctions "about overriding—or ignoring — the counsel of his military experts"—a conclusion contradicted by earlier statements by Churchill, Alanbrooke and many American historians.

Air power, concludes Dr. Greenfield, was a weapon much overrated, much misunderstood, and much abused by its advocates; by the time the War ended "it had not proved its decisiveness execpt in hastening the end and, incidentally, in providing a carrier for the first atomic bomb."

Noted Scholars To Speak at War Symposium

Contributions of war to philosophical and religious thought will be discussed during Colorado College's Jan. 12-18 symposium on World War II by nationally-known scholars.

They are Dr. Hazel Barnes, professor of classics at the University of Colorado; Dr. Gordon C. Zahn, professor of sociology at Loyola University in Chicago; Dr. J. Glenn Gray, professor and chairman of the philosophy department, at Colorado College, and Hanson Baldwin, Pulitzer Prize-winning editor.

Dr. Barnes will talk about "Some Reflections of World War II in French Philosophy and Literature" at 4 p.m. Jan. 14 in Perkins Hall.

Prof. Zahn will discuss "Religion and Modern War" at 11 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 12, in Shove Chapel, and "The American Conscientious Objector to World War II" at 11 a.m. Jan. 13 in the Shove lecture room.

Prof. Gray will read at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 12 in Shove Chapel from a journal he kept while a member of army counter-intelligence attached to front line infantry divisions during World War II.

Dr. Gray's journal provided the basis for "The Warriors," a widely applauded philosophical analysis of the war. Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, will take part in Colorado College's week-long symposium on World War II Jan. 12-18 in Colorado Springs.

He will participate in panel discussions of "The Naval War in the Pacific," and "The Military Strategy of the War." He is the author of 14 books and a contributor to numerous leading magazines.

World War II Strategy Subject For Symposium

Various aspects of World War II strategy will be examined by military leaders, war correspondents and scholars during a weeklong symposium at Colorado College Jan. 12-18.

Amoung the discussants will be Hanson Baldwin, Pulitzer Prize-winning military editor of the New York Times; Maj. Gen. William H. Gill, commander of the Red Arrow Division in the Pacific during World War II; Maj. Gen. William H. Draper, fromer member of the general staff and under secretary of the army; Telford Taylor, former U. S. chief counsel for war crimes; Herbert Feis, Pulitzer Prize-winning historian of World War II; and Canadian Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, deputy commander of the North American Air Defense Command.

They are among 35 persons from Asia, Europe and the United States coming to the campus of the independent liberal arts college to participate in the first full-scale study of World War II ever conducted by a college.

They will talk about The Role of Air, Sea and Ground Forces in the War; The Military Strategy of the War; The Naval War in the Pacific; The Economics of War; War Propaganda; and Japan's Two Fateful Decisions.

These discussions are among 50 separate programs to be featured during the week.

Other aspects of the war to be discussed include politics, literature, science, the war seen from the points of view of the Germans and Soviets, responsibility, and the war in Asia.

Fighter Wing Expresses Friendship

The 52nd Fighter Wing, an Air Defense Command unit based at Suffolk County Airport, N. Y., expressed the co-operation and friendship which it holds as sponsoring unit of the Air Force Academy's 8th Cadet Squadron in a tangible way.

Officers and men of the 52nd sent A1C Edward F. Baron to the academy with a special gift. Built by Amn. Baron, the two-sided glass and mahogany display case will be used in the 8th Sq. air power room to house squadron trophies, aircraft and missile models, and other items.

The 52nd has sponsored the Academy squadron for the past three years.

Robert Rowley Named On College Honor List

Robert Rowley of Colorado Springs was among 62 students named on the honor list for the fall quarter at Mesa College in Grand Junction.

Rowley had the equivalent of a B-plus average in 15 academic hours, a minimum of 52 quality points, to be named to the academic dean's list.

Salvation Army Has Good Year Griffin Reports

Twenty-nine derelict men have been guided back to a useful place in society and 100 others have been helped thru personal crises during the last year by the Colorado Springs Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center, according to a recent report.

The report by the Western Division of the Salvation Army covers the work of the Colorado Springs Center for the year extending from September 1962 to September 1963.

Maj. Charles W. Griffin, manager of the center, stated that part of the success of the program as shown in the report was due to publishing of information about the center's program, and expressed appreciation for the help given by the Gazette Telegraph in acquainting the community with the needs of the center.

In reviewing the report on the year's work, Maj. Griffin stated, "We can look back at quite a successful year for our rehabilitation program among homeless men suffering from a drinking problem or other psychological problem.

"Now we must look ahead and we realize how much fuller job can be done, and among a larger group of men.

"Because of the nature of our program almost everyone can have a part in enlarging it. Our need is not for cash contributions, but rather in contributions of cast off articles, and nearly every family discards many items no longer considered useful, and often considered useless.

"These discards, when contributed to the Salvation Army, serve in the worthy purpose of work therapy. Sorting, distributing, mending, finishing, painting, and repairing the article help to restore a sense of usefulness in a man," the major continued.

Sale of the repaired articles in the Salvation Army Thrift Stores, such as the one located at 17 W. Colorado Ave. in Colorado Springs, provides the funds to continue the work.

The Men's Social Service Center program gave help to men from all of Southern Colorado last year. A total of 151 men were admitted. The 29 men who are listed in the report as rehabilitated are the ones known to have found complete rehabilitation.

Maj. Griffin expressed the belief that a larger number could be included on this list if information was available on all the men who had participated in the program during the year.

At the center the men are provided with clean sleeping quarters, healthful food, companionship, recreational activities, medical care and spiritual guidance. Added this year was the service of a clinical psychologist for group therapy.

A record is kept of each man's participation in the counseling, recreational and religious activities at the center, and the rehabilitation work of the center is built around the evaluation of this statistical information.

Those wishing to give usable discards can do so by calling 633-4697. Items, particularly needed at this time are: chests of drawers, chairs, beds and other furniture, as well as warm clothing and bedding.

ROUNDUPPER OF THE YEAR—Mayor Harry Hoth (right) accepts the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce Round Up Club award for signing up the most members for the Chamber of Commerce during 1963. Les Sietta, Assistant Ranch Boss to the Chamber's membership activity, the Round Up Club presents the plaque. During the past year Mayor Hoth enrolled 55 members in the Chamber of Commerce.

Father and Son Host Yule Party For Orphans

This Christmas was made more meaningful for Maj. Ivan L. Hickman, 6314th Support Sq. commander, with the arrival of his son, RD-3 Kim Michael Hickman, (USN) on leave for a week from his ship, the aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk.

On Christmas day, the two servicemen, who last met at San Diego, Calif., in April 1963, hosted 65 orphans of the Ae Hyang orphanage at a 40-minute color-cartoon showing at the Sebille Memorial Theayer at Osan.

The youngsters, a portion of the 350 children visiting the base from various orphanages, were served refreshments at the movie and were later treated to turkey dinners at the dining hall on base.

The Ae Hyang orphanage, locate just outside Osan AB in Sojongni, receives much of its financial support from Maj. Hickman's squadron and the 6314th Civil Engineering Sq.

Young Hickman's ship was docked at Yokosuka Naval Base, Japan, while he visited Osan. Hickman, a radar operator for his ship, has served two and a half years in the Navy.

Maj. Hickman, a 21-year veteran serviceman, served as director of manpower and organization, Hq. Ninth Aerospace Defense Division at Ent AFB, prior to going to Osan.

Besides Kim Michael, Maj. and Mrs. (Roberta) Hickman are parents of John Patrick, 17, and Thomas Allen, 15. The family resides at 1235 E. Monroe St.

22,000 Aliens To Report Region Addresses

District Director John T. Clingan of the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimated today that 22,000 aliens will report their addresses in the states of Colorado and Wyoming during January under the Federal Alien Address Report Program.

The Immigration official said that over 21,500 aliens reported their addresses in those two states during January 1963.

Clingan said that all non-citizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, are required to file the address report.

He added that any alien who willfully violates the address report requirement may be fined up to $200, imprisoned for 30 days and deported.

In addition, aliens who are not in the United States during January must report their addresses to the Service within 10 days after their return.

The district director said that address report cards will be available at the Immigration Service Office at Room 437 Post Office Building, Denver, and local Post Offices beginning last Wednesday.

Hobbs of Ellicott Named Handicapper of the Year

Dale Hobbs of Ellicott has been named the "Handicapper of the Year" by the Stalwarts and Pals Club of Colorado Springs.

Hobbs, who was named handicapper of the month in September, is a high school teacher.

In 1960, Hobbs was in Milwaukee, Wis. He had graduated three years before from Colorado State University and at the time, he was engaging in his favorite hobby — dancing. Then he became ill.

Today, the personable young man has a brace on one leg and must use crutches.

But instead of giving up, Hobbs began to work harder.

He teaches commercial courses at Alta Vista High School and is going to the University of Colorado Extension Center here for extra courses in order to qualify for a full teacher's certificate.

He has classes here once a week. Hobbs drives to Colorado Springs for the classes, a 50-mile round - trip. The car is not specially equipped. It has an automatic transmission which means the teacher has only one pedal to worry about.

While at CSU, Hobbs was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity. His hobbies today include photography and music — he plays the accordion and "some piano."

This summer he plans to do some private teaching in order to better prepare himself for a full - time career as a teacher.

Hobbs' parents and a brother and two sisters also live in Ellicott.

DRIVES OWN CAR—Dale Hobbs, a high school teacher who has been named "Handicapper of the Year," drives his own car on a 50-mile round trip to and from Colorado Springs once a week to attend graduate classes at the University of Colorado Extension Center here. The car is a standard model with automatic transmission.

AUSA Members To Man Desks at Local Banks

Members of the Association of the United States Army will man desks at local banks next week to sell memberships in the organization.

Bill Becker, membership drive chairman, said Jan. 13-14-15 will be the three-day period when representatives will be at the banks in the Pikes Peak Region.

Becker reported 550 new members have signed up during the drive, totaling 2,160. This is still considerably short of the 5,000-member goal, he said.

Becker and O.C. Watson are making 10-minute talks to all service clubs in the region urging support of the AUSA.

Local Men Design Nation's School Of the Month

A school building designed by Colorado Springs architects, Edward L. Bunts and F. Lamar Kelsey has been selected as the "Nations School of the Month" for December, 1963 by a committee of editors and consultants of the Nations Schools magazine.

An article, titled "Colorado School Sets Stage for New Auditorium Design," in the December 1963 issue of the Nations Schools magazine describes the project in detail.

The article places particular emphasis on the unusual auditorium design developed by the Architects under a research and planning grant made by the Educational Facilities Laboratories, a division of the Ford Foundation.

The new school project, tho not scheduled for completion until spring of 1964, has already received acclaim from a number of sources.

In February, it was exhibited at the national convention of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City.

This building and 14 other school projects were selected from the 225 mounts exhibited in Atlantic City to be included in an exhibition of contemporary school buildings shown in the galleries of the national headquarters of the American Institute of Architects in Washington, D.C.

An article in the Washington Post, commenting on the A.I.A. exhibit, commended this school for becoming "a neighborhood center." During March of 1963, the school was included in an exhibit of school buildings shown at the annual convention of the National School Boards Association.

Scout Swim Classes Set for Wasson High

A special class for Boy Scouts who desire to learn to swim or to complete first class or merit badge swimming requirements will be held at Wasson High School swimming pool starting Jan. 13 at 7 P.M.

The class will continue for 10 weeks from 7 to 8 P.M. each Monday. Special instructors will be on hand to help Scouts complete a complete rank during the 10 weeks course.

A fee of $3.50 should be paid at Scout Headquarters by Thursday, in order to register for the course starting Jan. 13.

Ray M. Ryerson, Scout executive, stated that these special instruction classes conducted by Wasson High School instructors have been of real benefit to Scouts who wish to complete their swimming requirements.

Scoutmasters are requested to announce this fine opportunity to their Scouts during the coming week and register those interested at Scout Headquarters by Thursday.

Aiken Bird Society Takes Annual Yule Bird Count

Runner-up this year was the Oregon Junco. Members counted 849 of this species, more popularly called "Snowbird."

The count area was a 15-mile circle centered at Highway 85-87 and Harrison Road. The size of the count area was determined by the National Audubon Society which has been conducting such inventories for the past 64 years.

The purpose of the bird count, which in 1962 had teams scanning 672 separate census areas, is to supply data for keeping comprehensive records of bird populations and migration trends.

In the local count, 75 species were noted as compared to 74 in 1962. The total number of individual birds, counted and estimated, was about 85,000, compared to 5,400 the previous year.

Society officials say, however, that this does not necessarily indicate a trend toward a greater local bird population; weather and feed conditions, number of observers, etc. may enter in.

An unusual find this year was the Water Pipit, a summer resident of Arctic regions or extremely high altitudes of temperate climes. Also noted were 172 Goldfinches, summer residents, few of which usually winter in this region.

During the 13 years the Aiken Society has conducted the local bird count, participants have increased from an original 20 to more than 40 on the December count.

Participants included several biology professors, a professional naturalist and the "birders" — members prefer to be called by this term rather than "birdwatchers."

The activity has grown steadily until now the sponsoring National Audubon Society calls it the "world's largest wildlife survey, covering the most territory with the most human eyes."

No one has challened this claim, the Society says.

Participants included Mrs. T. I. Adams, Mrs. Robin Bassein, Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Beidelman, E. F. Buckley, Mrs. Gilbert Catlett, Stanley Davis, James H. Enderson.

Richard Esposito, Mrs. Kenneth Ewing, Larry Field, Mrs. Lawrence Field, Major and Mrs. Donald W. Galvin, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Graves, Miss Mary Alice Hamilton, Mrs. Miriam Haecker.

Miss Portia Holt, Mrs. Gayle Ireland, David Jensen, Mrs. Jane Jones, David Laliberte, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Larkey, Blaine Marshman, Mrs. Noble Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nesbit.

Mrs. Alfred Nicholson, Mrs. William Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oar, Bruce Peterson, Miss Ramona Pickering, Mrs. Ruth Pickering, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Speers, James B. Stabler.

To give readers an idea of how Colorado Springs stacks up against other areas rich in birdlife, here are some scores announced by the National Audubon Society.

In the 1962 count, Cocoa, Fla., came in first with 197 species. Runner-up was Tomales Bay, Calif., with 166 species, and in close at third was Houston, Tex. with 165.

The project was started in 1900 by the late Dr. Frank M. Chapman, dean of American ornithologists.

Last winter, teams went on bird counts in all the 50 states, eight provinces of Canada and the District of Columbia. Ornithologist Allan D. Cruickshank, the Society's expert who compiles and edits all the reports, estimated more than 15,000 persons took part.

Cruickshank's 1963 summary will be printed in the annual April issue of "Audubon Field Notes," a journal of field ornithology published by the National Society.

Homestake Water Project Pictures To Be Displayed

A pictorial display of the Colorado Springs-Aurora Homestake Water Development Project is being installed in the lobby of the Colorado Springs Department of Public Utilities office, 18 S. Nevada Ave.

Pictures taken by utilities field representative Howard Arnberg are included in the display.

The project will double Colorado Springs water supplies. First water is to be delivered here in the spring of 1966. The Homestake area is located west and northwest of Leadville.

A 5½-mile long tunnel will bring Home stake water thru the Continental Divide into Turquoise Lake, then by stream flow in the Arkansas River to Otero Reservoir, then by 66-inch pipeline over Trout Creek Pass to a point south of Eleven-Mile Reservoir.

Colorado Springs' share of water will come from that point here by pipeline. Aurora's share will go by stream flow in the Platte River thru 11-Mile Reservoir.

Opera Group To Hold Auditions

The Colorado Springs Opera Association will hold auditions for its 1964 season next Sunday.

Officials said the auditions would be held starting at 3 p.m. in the Grace Church Parish Hall. Persons seeking auditions should use the Monument Street Entrance.

The announcement said that interested singers are welcome.

James Bouchard Joins U. S. Marine Corps

James B. Bouchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Bouchard of 2012 Condor St. has enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Bouchard was flown Monday to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. to undergo three months of recruit training. This will be followed by four weeks of individual combat and advanced weapons instruction at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

After completion of the above training the new Marine will be given 20 days leave prior to further assignment.

Gary Light Returns To Marine Duty

Marine Lance Cpl. Gary L. Light, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Light of 2206 S. Corona Ave. has returned to duty with the Marine Corps after spending holiday leave here.

THE TRAIL IN WINTER

There is just as much beauty along the trail in winter as in summer, even tho there is the absence of wildflowers and green foliage. Many people get the mistaken idea that the mountains are only to be enjoyed in the summer. In fact there is really more pleasure to hike in the winter over the trails for the temperature is just right for walking while in the summer, the days are too hot to make it enjoyable. There is nothing quite so pretty as the snow covered trail which stretches before you, especially if you are the first to travel over it after a new fallen snow. You might be the first human being to travel over it, but the animals and birds are always there first and it is quite interesting to study the tracks and guess what animal made them. We are all familiar with the deer tracks and perhaps the bobcat or rabbit but those tiny little tracts which are peculiarly shaped are quite puzzling. Some we know belong to the little field mice and some are bird tracks but there are others that are zig-zag and criscross which makes one wonder just what little animal it could be.

Occasionally we see a number of animal tracks in one place which might indicate that they had some sort of a conference. Every bush, shrub and tree is snowcovered and even the grass and dry weeds peep thru the snow all snow clad. The rocks and boulders are all snow covered, some look like large frosted cakes. The snow glistens in the bright sunlight like sparkling diamonds and the evergreens over on the hillsides look like Christmas trees sparkling with tinsel. All nature seems to feel the force of winter and boasts of splendors beyond what summer knows. The chicadees and juncos are merrily chasing one another around the trees for they are happy in the snow. The blue jays are scolding from the trees. Like cathedral towers those statelly pines uplift their summits tipped with cones, covered with a mantle of white.

There lies the trail ahead, one vast stretch in the bright sunlight, glistening white and now the trees have cast their shadacross the snow-laden path. We look below where just a short time before we trod and see our footprints in the snow which were so fresh a short time ago that we felt we were committing an offense by marring it. There is utter silence all about you and you feel as tho you have been transferred to a fairyland. The bright scenes of winter seen more abundantly in winter on the mountain trail than anywhere. Its gorgeous splendor is everywhere, about you and each bend of the trail unfolds a beautiful revelation. The joy of a climate that can give you four different seasons especially a winter in which we can have snow and yet we can enjoy abundance of sunshine. Leave your fireside for a few hours and get renewed strength and energy by a walk over the trail and when you return, you will have a deeper appreciation of the outdoors.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Buddhist leaders began an investigation today of reports that Catholic district officials killed two Buddhists and injured eight others in a remote coastal town 80 miles east of Saigon.

Huskie Banquet Set for January 22

In an effort to provide an athletic banquet for Florence high school athletes, the Huskie Booster Club is selling tickets for the annual "Huskie Booster Club Party" to be held Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. at the school cafeteria.

Funds from the sale of the tickets will also help defray costs of a new wrestling mat recently purchased by the school for its mat team.

To help attract ticket sales, the school has donated a 1956 Buick and a number of local business firms have contributed prizes to be given away at the banquet as "door prizes."

In addition to the car, the club will offer among its prizes the following:

A $25 U.S. savings bond, a transistor radio, 10 gallons of Bay gasoline, 10 gallons of Texaco gasoline, two complete meals and 10 free bowling tickets, a $10 gift certificate, two $5 gift certificates, and a stuffed bulldog.

Tourism is providing Hong Kong with much revenue, with Americans alone spending approximately $100 million there each year.

Sales Expert To Address SWAP Club Banquet

Larry Wilson, salesman, author of a book on selling and creator of a sales training course, will speak at the fifth annual SWAP Club awards banquet at 7 p.m. Monday, Jan. 27, in the Broadmoor International Center, Rex Dodson, club president, announced Saturday.

During 1963, Wilson traveled more than 100,000 miles over the United States presenting his lectures on human relations, sales psychology and success.

Wilson was graduated with honors in 1952 from the University of Minnesota. While in school, he acted in three major theatre productions, won the university senior welterweight boxing championship and held a job selling women's shoes.

After graduation, he became a high school speech teacher, but in 1954 he entered the life insurance business, and in five years — from the time he was 24 until he was 29 — sold $15 million worth of insurance. His insurance sales record won him a life membership in the Million Dollar Roundtable of life insurance men. He is one of the youngest men ever to achieve membership.

Wilson's sales record put him into the field of telling others how he did it. As president o the Larry Wilson Corp., he has written a book on selling and created his sales training course. In addition to his many speaking engagements, he spends hours training sale trainers, writing sales articles skin diving, flying his own airplane and, of course, spendin time with his wife and six chi dren.

Safeway Names Frank Jones District Manager

Frank Jones, formerly in Phoenix, has become district manager here for Safeway Stores, succeeding Clifford E. Ozmun, who became district manager for the company last month in Phoenix.

Jones was Phoenix district manager for 14 months. Previously he was a Safeway store manager in Provo, Utah. With Safeway 23 years, he also has been a store manager in Logan, Utah, and Preston and Pocatello, Ida. He was born in Logan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones have a son, Dennis, who is attending school in Provo.

Jones' appointment here was effective Dec. 30.

of General Dynamics Corp., R. M. (Pat) MacIver, manager of the Colorado Springs office for the company, announced Saturday.

Bothwell is a retired Reserve Air Force colonel and has had background experience in air defense planning and held assignments in Washington, D. C., and Europe as well as at Air Defense Command and North American Air Defense Command Headquarters here.

Bothwell and his wife, Virginia, have two children.

Advance Advertising Moves Into Own Building

Advance Advertising Agency Inc., of which Miss Mickey Eichmeier is president, has moved from 2818 Airport Rd. into its own new building at 1812 E. Monument St. The new one-story building provides expanded facilities for the agency, which has a staff of three.

Open house was held Friday at the new location for 200 business executives and military officers.

The building is modern in design with a touch of the oriental. It features efficiently designed working areas for copy, art and administration and is equipped with audio and visual apparatus.

The agency suite is decorated with toast beige draperies and has champaigne gold carpeting thruout. Furniture is Swedish modern, and the suite has a music and communications system designed to create a relaxed atmosphere. Included in the reception room is a large planter.

Advance Advertising Agency was established seven years ago by Miss Eichmeier when the Colorado Springs branch of the Broyles Advertising Agency of Denver, with which she was associated, was closed.

Members of the staff, in addition to Miss Eichmeier, are Phyllis Dolyniuk and Joyce Fennel. Miss Eichmeier heads the only all-woman advertising agency in the area—perhaps in the entire country.

Mickey Eichmeier was christened Neola Maxine. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Eichmeier of Waterloo, Ia. She left college in Iowa during World War II to join the Women's Air Force (WAF), and spent two years with Special Services.

After the war ended, she reenlisted in the Women's Army Corps to serve in the Army of Occupation in Japan. Two years later she was sent to Port Angeles, Wash., and a year later was discharged at Ft. Lee, Va.

MICKEY EICHMEIER

From 1949 to 1951, she worked in the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., but was transferred to Ent Air Force Base here at her request. From Ent she went to the Broyels Advertising Agency here, but established her agency in 1957.

Miss Dolyniuk is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen E. Dolyniuk of Belfield, N. D., and is commercial artist for Advance Advertising Agency. She majored in art at the University of North Dakota, from which she was graduated in January, 1963.

As a university student, she taught a junior group studying art and was affiliated with the art fraternity.

Miss Fennel, daughter of Mrs. James N. Fennel of Elk Point, S. D., is continuity writer and receptionist for Advance Advertising Agency. She majored in radio-speech at the University of South Dakota, from which she was graduated in 1956. After her graduation, she worked for five years for radio station KSOO in Sioux Falls, S. D., first as assistant in the continuity department for a year and a half and then as director of continuity for three and one-half years.

She came to Colorado Springs in 1961 to assist in managing a small mountain hotel. She joined Advance Advertising a year later.

Savings at Colorado Hospital Proposed

DENVER (UPI) — Colorado Institutions-Director David A. Hamil said Friday the Colorado State Hospital in Pueblo could save $200,000 a year by having its laundry done at the State Prison.

Hamil and Gov. John Love have been discussing the possibility of establishing a laundry for the hospital at the medium security section of the prison, located at Canon City. The change would cut 75 persons from the hospital payroll.

Hamil said the hospital processes about 6.6 million pounds of laundry a year.

"We could do this much cheaper and put the savings into the hospital treatment program," he said. "We also would be helping our prison population by providing more convicts with something constructive to do."

Hamil said he would ask the 1964 Legislature to approve a transfer of funds from the hospital's building mill levy to build the laundry.

Argentina's Plata River really is a shallow, freshwater bay into which the river system flows.

Ford Sales Head To Speak At Luncheon

Thurlo Newell, Denver district sales manager for Ford Division of Ford Motor Company, will speak Wednesday at a noon luncheon meeting of the Pikes Peak Advertising Association in the Pike Room of the Antlers Hotel.

In his talk, entitled "'A' Is for Automobile — Color It Complicated," Newell will discuss current automotive marketing techniques, with particular emphasis on Ford Division's "total performance" program and its nationwide efforts to have as many people as possible "test-drive" its products.

A native of Reno County, Kan., Newell attended the University of Kansas and joined Ford in 1945 as a stock clerk at the company's assembly plant in Long Beach, Calif. He transferred to the Los Angeles district sales office as a sales clerk two years later and subsequently held a number of managerial positions there, including that of assistant district sales manager.

In 1958, he was promoted to Salt Lake City district sales manager, the position he held at the time of his appointment as head of the Denver district in January, 1963.

Second Look Requested Before Reporting Fire

The engines have been called out twice recently by citizens who saw what they thought was smoke. It turned out to be billows of insecticide from a truck spraying for mosquitoes.

Four Railroad Men Killed in Accident

SELIGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—Four members of a railroad maintenance crew were killed Thursday when a Santa Fe freight train ran down two handcars. Workers on a third car were not hit.

The accidents occurred 30 miles west of Seligman in northern Arizona.

Killed were B. C. Castillo, Belen, N.M.; Harold Begay, Willie Sam and J. H. Lewis, from the Navajo Reservation in Arizona. No ages were available. Castillo and Begay were machine operators, the others laborers.

Business Pins '64 Hopes On Early Income Tax Cut

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — As 1964 arrived, business pinned its hopes for accelerated growth on an early income tax cut.

Optimistic predictions about the outlook for the new year were qualified with a big "if"—if Congress acts quickly on tax legislation.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges forecast that the gross national product — total value of all goods and services —would exceed $620 billion in 1964 if the administration's $11.1-billion tax cut bill clears Congress soon. That would be an increase in the GNP of at least $36 billion over 1963.

Hodges said that without a tax reduction the economy would grow more slowly and "the prospects for continuous expansion through all of 1964 and 1965 would be seriously impaired."

Favorable factors, he said, were that business generally has avoided excess inventories that could later lead to reduction in production. Christmas shopping reached a record level. 1964 model automobiles have been favorably received and financial markets reflected apparently strong investor confidence.

The National Planning Association, a privately supported organization of persons prominent in business, labor and education, was a bit more conservative in its forecast, putting the expected gain in the gross national product at $26 billion, to a total of $610 billion.

It, too, based its prediction on the belief there will be a tax cut.

"Should that assumption be wrong," it said, "we would have to assume a substantially lower increase in the gross national product."

A leading banker, David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, largest in New York, described the business outlook for 1964 as excellent.

He said a major influence in the favorable business forecast will be the tax reduction bill which President Johnson has pledged to push.

Senate leaders have promised Johnson to work for early passage with a provision that the reduction would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents reported that a majority of its members believe business in the first half of this year will be better than in the like period of 1963. Fifty-eight per cent looked for gains, 11 per cent expected a decline and 31 per cent thought it would be about the same.

For 1964 as a whole, 69 per cent said they believed it would be better than 1963. Only 4 per cent forecast a decline.

The second holiday week in a row cut into automobile and steel production but both industries expected a resurgence when the new year really gets under way.

Automakers turned out an estimated 124,500 passenger cars this week, down from the 131,165 assembled last week but ahead of the 114,020 built a year ago.

The industry wound up 1963 with the greatest production of cars and trucks since 1955. The year's output was estimated at 9.1 million units, just under the record figure of 9,188,000 in 1955.

Some work disputes in General Motors and Ford plants caused stoppages that prevented production reaching a record level. Studebaker Corp.'s abandonment of U.S. production also cut into the total.

Steel output dropped last week because of the Christmas holiday, slipping to 1,804,000 tons, off 9.9 per cent from the previous week. Output was expected to be about the same during the New Year's week.

Industry executives expected shipments should increase about 15 per cent in January. Demand for light products was reported improving and orders for heavy products were holding up better than expected.

Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., reported that domestic steel consumption set a record of 77.4 million tons in 1936 but rising imports were a problem.

Herman F. Lehman, head of General Motors' Frigidaire Division, predicted that appliance sales in the first three months of this year will rise 3 per cent from a year earlier.

The furniture industry reported sales for the first 11 months of 1963 were 7 per cent higher than in the like period of 1963.

Audit Criticizes Bookkeeping at Western State

DENVER (AP) — An audit report released Friday by State Auditor John Proctor, critisizes accounting practices at Western State College in Gunnison but specifies that all money was accounted for.

The audit was made by Robert R. Anderson and Co., a Greeley firm of certified public accountants.

"No records are maintained to properly account for property assets," the auditors said in a letter to Proctor. Some funds, they added, were not recorded on the same basis during the two years studied.

"Many of the . . . comments pertain to practices of long standing," the auditors said. "the basic accounting records of the college have not been revised or updated for many years. In view of an increasing enrollment, expanding facilities, additional personnel and an increased amount of funds in the custody of the college, we feel it is eminent that revision of the financial accounting of the college should be accomplished at the earliest possible time."

Good Cook Able to Make Good Pastry

One of the most severe tests of a good cook is the ability to make good pastry. The new Central Pastry Kitchen in Building 107 at Ft. Carson, bakes 660,000 pounds of pastries each year. M. Sgt. Dale Heldenbrand, NCO-in-charge of the recently opened facility, is assigned 21 bakers to get the job done.

In the Middle Ages, pastries were baked in heavy ovens of brick and stone. When Major General John A. Heintges, commanding general, cut the ribbon to the new Carson bake shop, he opened a gleaming kitchen filled with modern, stainless steel equipment.

Serving thousands, its bakers prepare three million wedges of pie and pastry for soldiers each year, or 10,000 servings a day. Apple pie seems to be the favorite out of the 1,500 baked daily.

ALARMING CRIME

PHOENIX, Airz. (AP)—Burglars who ransacked the Circle K Market added insult to injury—they stole the burglar alarm. Police said wires had been cut and the outside alarm removed.

Population Explosion Losing Steam

The population explosion is losing some of its steam in the United States.

According to statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the number of births decreased in 1963, and at the year's end will be somewhat below the 1957 record peak of 4,300,000.

Nevertheless, 1963, which will record a total of about 4,100,000 births, marks the tenth year in succession that births have exceeded four million.

Despite the recent declines, the rate for second births in 1963 will be only about one-sixth below the high point reached in 1949.

Second births, which had numbered more than one million a year since 1947, are expected to fall slightly below slightly beow that level this year, the statisticians report.

Third and subsequent births have been accounting for an increasing proportion of the total, from 38 per cent in 1950 to about 49 percent now. The statisticians attribute this to the sustained high rate for third and fourth children.

For third births, the rate has been at least 30 per 1,000 married women under age 45 for more than a decade. The rate for fourth children has risen to about 20 per 1,000 in recent years. Fifth and higher order of births, too, have reached relatively high levels. Their number this year is not expected to be much below the 1961 all-time high of about 762,000, the statisticians concluded.

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan and (background) Impala Convertible.

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them. They were built to be driven by you—on the kinds of roads you drive on.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Which, after all, is the kind of performance you'd expect from Chevrolet. The greater satisfaction and enjoyment built into these cars is borne out, year after year, by the higher resale they bring over other makes in their field.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

Bowl Game Hangovers

From force of habit, it's going to be hard to keep from automatically twisting the dial for the next couple weeks for the majority of sports fans in the country who have become expert in the art of football mayhem during the past season.

To help ease off, there's still a dribble of games yet on tap for those who seldom get closer to the stadium than the living-room tube, but for the most part the windup finally has come. At least for the college boys, who have been drawing down the salary of tuition, etc., their labors are over. Many of them officially turned professional in taking the jackpot of Saturday's Senior Bowl.

For us blurry-eyed 50-yard liners, it's been a long, tough pull and now we can settle back and readjust to a normal weekend again without the urge to spin that dial to just one more game.

It's been a solid month now of running the gamut from the Cement Bowl, the various fruits and flowers of New Year's annual additional hangover to the night before, and finally winding up with Honolulu's Hula Bowl.

This year none of 'em had more interest — and disappointment — than the often ignored Gator Bowl, at least for the immediate area. The reason, of course, was the presence of the Air Force in its second post-season extravaganza in a half-dozen seasons under Ben Martin.

As expected, there's been plenty of second-guessing to that game in which the Falcons had their tail feathers clipped to the tune of 35-0. Because the nearest I got to Jacksonville, Fla., that fateful Saturday was the view from in front of the tube like most others who have backed the Fliers all season, there's no first-hand info to use as an alibi for dropping a wager for a two-bit brew.

Nonetheless, there seems to have been several reasons stated by returning team-followers as to why the Falcons were hardly at their best against a North Carolina team that obviously was having a good day:

First off, it was an awfully long season, starting a couple weeks before most other college teams had checked out uniforms. The Academy gets a yearly break on the season because classes at the AFA start earlier. It gives the Cadets a head start and may account for the surprise of Washington in the opener which helped earn the bowl berth — but there undoubtedly were some weary players by late December.

Deserves Consideration

Secondly, altho it was regrettable for all, the assassination of President Kennedy played a key role. The final game was delayed two weeks and the Air Force had to wait on a victory over Colorado to cinch the Gator Bowl. Once that was accomplished (and the delay resulted in a much closer finish than expected) there were no accommodations left in Florida . . . even for some invited football vagabonds.

Thus the Cadets had to take what they could get — which was barracks type housing on an Air Force base near Jacksonville. It was hardly the swank surroundings a bowl team would expect, and morale naturally slipped several points knowing the opponent was whooping it up at a nearby vacation spot.

Perhaps in a way these Cadets have been coddled too much and when called on to "rough it" without room service and scenery of bikini-clad live dolls to play with, they became slightly disgruntled. But it should be understood that in no way is the life of a Cadet ordinary — they must give up many things normal college students take for granted, and in this case it was the Christmas holiday which is one of the few times they have permission to leave the AFA's grey, stone walls.

Adding on the fact that the jet that was to haul them to Florida wouldn't fly, a stolen

Fruita Easily Wins Mat Meet

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Powerful Fruita wiped out all comers in an annual four team wrestling tournament at the Wasson Gymnasium Saturday, further boosting its stock as the top prep aggreagation in Colorado this winter.

The veteran Western Slope team piled up 70 points in far outdistancing the opposition. Fort Collins finished second with 39 points, Wasson had 30, and Palmer 9.

In breezing thru the meet as had been anticipated, Fruita lost only one match in the first round and just four in the entire tournament. The team also picked up eight of the 12 individual championships. Fort Collins won the other four as both local schools failed to win a single title.

Fruita was paced by a pair of brother combinations. The Silva family contributed two titles and one second place and the Bortles brothers also won a pair of crowns. Joe Silva captured the 112 pound weight on a pair of pins, flattening Jim Ranals of Wasson in his opening match in 5:36 and Dennis Maybon of Fort Collins in 2:43 of the title bout.

Anadeo Silva followed by pinning Doug Jones of Palmer at 4:20 of the 120 pound first round match and then annexed the title by whipping Archie Martinez of Wasson, 7-1. The third brother, Archie, pinned Tim Ives of Wasson in 4:22 of his opener but lost a 2-1 decision on riding time in the finals to Carl Greenfield of Fort Collins. That was at 133 pounds. Both Joe and Anadeo Silva are state titleholders.

Fruita also won championships at 127 where Clyde Etcheverry decisioned Tom Hurley of Wasson 7-3 in the finals; at 138 where Jim Hoisington decisioned Chip Summers of Wasson 6-0; at 145 with a 7-2 decision of Fort Collins Curtis Barnes by Jerry Gobbo; and at 165 where Mike Page decisioned Yogi Grandcourt of Wasson, 7-3.

Fort Collins' titles came at 95 on a 7-3 decision of Fruit's Melvin Barbe by the Lambkins' Jerry Gonzales; at 103 where Dave Mora slipped away with a 10-7 decision of Dave Bufmack of Palmer in an overtime match; at heavyweight where gigantic Mark Ochner pinned Fruit's Art Sharp in 2:45; and at 133 where Greenfield slipped past Archie Silva.

To further emphasize the dominance of the Western Slope team, however, in 11 opening round victories, Fruita had eight pins and just three decisions. Overall the winners had 10 pins and 10 decisions in 24 matches.

Wasson fared well in the early going. The Thunderbirds advanced six men thru the opening round, with five of the victories coming over Fort Collins opposition. Palmer had only Bufmack make the finals but picked up third place points from Jones, Frank Bernard, and Ron Smith.

The T-Birds again got fine work from Hoffpauir, the sturdy sophomore at 180 pounds and from a number of others. Campbell gave the 'Birds an opening round pin at 154 and Langman got a pin at 145 in the third place match.

Other winners from Wasson were Archie Martinez at 120, Tom Hurley at 127, Chip Summers at 138, and Yogi Grandcourt at 165 in first round matches. All finished second. Winning third places for the 'Birds were Terry Remy at 95, Jim Ranals at 112, Tom Ives at 133, and Langman.

Loyola Downs Morehead by Large Margin

CHICAGO (AP) — Loyola of Chicago's third-ranked Ramblers matched their all-time high scoring output Saturday night in smashing Morehead State of Kentucky 127-85.

Registering their 10th basketball victory in 11 starts, the Ramblers had four players scoring 20 or more points and hit 51 per cent from the floor.

Vic Rouse, making good on 14 of 17 field goal attempts, led the attack with 32 points.

Valiants Overpower Hawks, 6-0

Fur games highlighted the Young America Hockey League Saturday at the Broadmoor World Arena with the Chiefs topping the Rovers, 3-2, in the heavyweight division.

Other games Saturday found the Flyers shutting out the Barons, 3-0, (middleweight); the McCoys spearheaded the Beavers past the Royals, 3-2 (lightweight); and the Valiants of Denver blasted the Hawks of Colorado Springs 6-0 (bantamweight).

The McCoy boys tallied all three scores for the Beavers in their triumph over the Royals in lightweight competition. Dan McCoy scored two points while his brother, Jim, tallied the last score.

Fordyce Scores Twice In 4-3 Win Over Hosts

PROVINCE, R.I.—Buoyed by the twin goals off the stick of senior Warren Fordyce, Colorado College won the annual Brown Universiy Invitational Hockey Tournament here Saturday night by defeating the host team, 4-3, in a thrilling battle that went right down to the wire.

The invaders from the Western Collegiate Hockey Association scored twice in both of the final periods to snatch the come-from-behind victory away from Brown's Bruins. It was CC's fifth win in eight games this season and they will cart home to Colorado Springs the big silver trophy that each season goes to the winner of this tourney.

Third place in the four-team, two-day meet went to McGill University from Montreal which defeated Providence U. in the preliminary consolation game, 3-2. Friday night Colorado College slipped past Providence, 8-5, to gain the berth in the finals.

Fordyce, who earned eligibility for the second semester just before the Tigers started this eastern tour, scored in both of the final periods. The big 200-pound winger from Dauphine, Manitoba, who had to sit out the first four games of the season, also pounded home one goal in Friday night's win and in his debut this year against McMaster U. on CC's home ice he collected a four-goal hat trick.

Fordyce's linemate Johnny Simus got one of the other four goals in Saturday's final contest of the tournament, and center Jeff Sauer had the other.

For Brown, Bob Candreau also had two goals to equal Fordyce's output for the evening and his wing, Terry Chapman, had the other.

For the most part, it was a defensive battle in both ends of the jam-packed Meehan Auditorium here in Providence as 2,600 fans watched CC goalie Art Warwick kick out 27 shots and Brown's John Dunham save 32 attempts on goal. There were 11 penalties tooted with six of them going against the Tigers.

The penalties played an important role in the game with four of the seven goals coming when one team was shorthanded — each team getting two.

Altho the Tigers took a two-goal lead early in the third period after the game was knotted thruout most of the second stanza, Brown kept the crowd on the edge of the seats in the last few minutes by bringing the deficit to only a single tally. They tried vainly to push in the tying tally in the final seconds, but Warwick and the Tigers were equal to the task.

Brown's Candreau scored the only goal of the opening period just 36 seconds after CC's big defenseman Bob Otto was sent to the penalty box for the first of three infractions he drew in the game. Brown drew two more penalties and the Tigers one during the remainder of the period, but both were unable to dent the nets again.

Early in the second chapter Coach Bob Johnson's Bengals deadlocked the count with Sauer scoring 18 seconds after Brown was whistled into the sin bin for interference. And again three minutes later in the period CC took its first lead at 2-1 when Fordyce scored his first of the night on a feed from Bob Magie — just 51 seconds after a Brown penalty.

But Brown came right back to knot the score some six minutes later with Chapman socking in the goal on an unassisted break-away. This one came 29 seconds after another CC penalty.

CC wasted no time in breaking loose from the tie as the third period began with Fordyce knocikng in his second goal on a deflection that rolled past goalie Dunham with only 1:34 gone in the frame. And Simus followed up to push the Tigers two ahead five minutes later on a rebound from Fordyce's shot that was quickly slapped back at the Brown nets from point blank range.

Then Caudreau set up the exciting finish with still another goal that came only 30 seconds after CC was whistled into the penalty box again. This was another unassisted goal after he stole the puck and dashed in alone on Warwick.

From here, the Tigers travel on to meet Colgate University in Hamilton, N.Y., on Monday night, and they'll be meeting a team that's undefeated so far this season. After that single game, Colorado College ends its eastern tour with twin games against Ohio University at Athens, O., Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Next weekend the Tigers get back into WCHA action with league games Friday and Saturday nights at Grand Forks against the University of North Dakota, one of the top contenders for the league title and last year's NCAA champion

CSU Posts Victory Over DU

DENVER (UPI) —Colorado State University routed the University of Denver 74-55 Saturday night in a basketball game at the DU Fieldhouse before a turn-away crowd of 3,501.

DU started off with a bang and dominated the first half, but CSU came roaring back in the final half. DU lead, 32-28 at halftime.

In the second half, CSU used a tight man-to-man defense, and held DU to only seven field goals during the final 20 minutes. DU hit only 24.1 per cent of its shots from the field during the second half, while CSU hit 46.7 per cent. CSU hit 18 of 21 last half free throws to ice the game.

Denver held a 34-30 lead with 44 seconds of the second half left, then CSU's Terry Matthews, a guard, hit a jump shot from behid the key to give CSU a 35-34 lead CSU never was head again.

Five CSU players scored in the double figures. They were Matthews and Lonnie Wright, both with 16, Gary Anderson with 13, Dave Sigafoos with 10 and Wynn Hoffman, also with 10.

Hula Bowl Results Due Sunday

HONOLULU (AP)—Northern and Southern collegiate all-stars tangled Saturday night in the Hula Bowl football game under threatening skies.

Because of time zone differences, the expected passing battle wasn't to end until Sunday morning mainland time.

The South's attack centered around quarterbacks Don Trull of Baylor and Pete Beathard of Southern California, but faced a mammoth North line anchored by All-America Carl Eller of Minnesota.

Bork, Byrd Lead National Squad To Victory in Challenge Bowl

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —George Bork of Northern Illinois, George Byrd of Boston University and Ohio State's Matt Snell combined to score all 10 National touchdowns in a 66-14 rout of the Southwest in Saturday's Challenge Bowl football game.

The slender Bork passed for three touchdowns—one to Byrd—and set up two more with his aerials as he completed 20 of 27 attempts for 243 yards. Bork also scored on a two-yard run.

Byrd scored on a 12-yard pass from Bork, a five-yard run with an interception and a six-yard scamper. He also set up two touchdowns with long kickoff returns.

Snell scored four touchdowns. He plunged a yard on each of two TD smashes and sped seven and 35 yards for the other two.

Bork and his favorite target, Northern Illinois teammate Hugh Rohrschneider, were selected as outstanding back and lineman, respectively.

BETWEEN THE LINES

wallet from one of the players before the game, and the rain and cold in which they had to practice, perhaps it was the straw that fractured the Falcon's back when their best power runner, Dick Czarnota, was injured with a pulled hamstring muscle in the pre-game warm-up.

All these undoubtedly sound like excuses for the Fly Boys . . and they are. But to anyone who had watched them thru an exciting and entertaining season it was plain as the nose on Jimmy Durante that at least eight of their games were about 100 per cent better played. Had the Falcons performed as they did against Washington, Nebraska, Army, UCLA or even Boston College it would have been a far different story.

But as one wag put it, maybe the Falcons "just went to the well once too often." They made no secret of the fact that it took an extraordinary effort any time they were against a major opponent. Muscle was missing from this team — as it probably will be on future editions — and only thru consistent work on finesse along with some fine guidance from the coaches do the Cadets manage as well as they do.

And lastly, perhaps a couple of weaknesses were finally discovered; shortcomings that were known to the intimate but never publicized widely. (1) The AFA has always been short on strong tackles and guards, and it always spells trouble when up against a giant fullback that weighs more than the tackles as in the case of North Carolina and Maryland this season. (2) There has never break-away speed on the team, which is essential especially when trying to make a comeback with a couple long gainers.

Altho it was a general letdown by the whole team, there were still a few individuals that didn't seem bothered badly by the circumstances. Considering the help he had (especially from the line) quarterback Terry Isaacson did another marvelous job in 129 yards in total offense tho swarmed on every play by the Tar Heels. Linebacker Dave Sicks was in on plenty of tackles, tho the spongy line had usually sagged back four or five yards in front of him, and end John Puster again did his usual fine job on defense and catching the only two passes thrown his way all season.

Now the question is, what affect will this game have on the future?

No matter what you might think, a bowl game is NOT just "another game" for any team. There are many benefits to gain besides the obvious cash handed over to the participating schools, and there can be ill effects.

Probably the most immediate reaction will come when Coach Ben Martin negotiates for a new contract, which is due any day. Undoubtedly he will want new footnotes written into the pact to give somewhat broader power in recommendations for appointments to the Academy. Working as many miracles as he has in many of the past victories, Martin deserves some consideration.

Also before summer rolls around, there will be effects felt in the Academy's recruiting program around the country. A winner in a bowl game is an attractive selling point for prospective Cadets, but a lop-sided defeat such as the 35-0 licking in the Gator can have the opposite result. Often it's hard enough to convince a boy he should endure the military training, discipline and confinement of the Academy over the carefree life of an ordinary school, and this did little for the argument of playing for a colorful, victorious team.

There will be better days on the playing field in the future for the Air Force, but the way the Gator Bowl debacle turned out, there was more harm than good done to the prestige of the school and its athletic teams.

The only consolation is perhaps in the fact that Navy was beaten just as badly by Texas in the Cotton Bowl . . . and Air Force wasn't claiming to be No. 2 in the nation with a Heisman Trophy winner that spent most of the afternoon on his back.

Sunday Soap Opera

One of the more refreshing sidelights of the National Football League's championship presentation last Sunday was the fact that the former "Galloping Ghost" of Illinois renewed his act for fans across the nation — and vanished from television.

An informal sampling of local viewers would seem to indicate that Red Grange's latest disappearing act drew more enthusiastic applause than any of the spectacular touchdown runs of the 1920s from which the "Ghost" tag was derived.

In a season during which football continued to reach toward the zenith in entertainment for the American sports fan, it is perhaps inappropriate that such an attitude of sacrilege should be fostered toward one of the game's immortals. Grange undoubtedly was one of the "Babe Ruths" of the gridiron—one of those few who provided the sport with the spur to stretch toward its present plateau of popularity. The fact is, however, that Grange's touchdowns were scored with a football—not a microphone. If Red had made half the fumbles on the gridiron that he does in a T.V. booth, he would never have been in a huddle other than with a pail of water during a time out.

Altho Grange's heroics with a football preceeded my acquaintanceship with the sport by several years, I am the first to assume revered silence when his feats are chronicled by one who was more fortunate. In fact, this thesis is not to discredit Grange but rather to point out an increasingly obvious blurring of the television image these days.

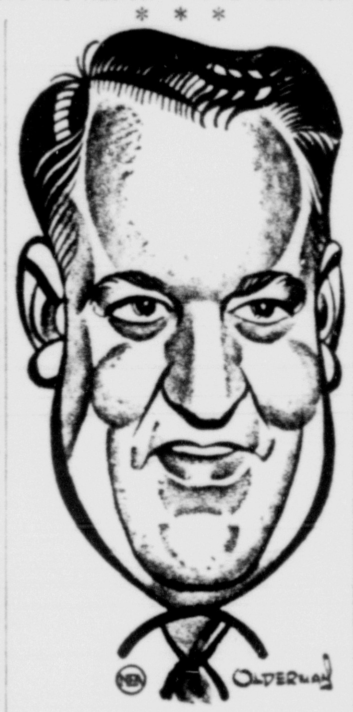
Certainly some sports have profited by the appearance of the tube as an intermediary between the scene of combat and the sedimentary fan. Others, notably boxing, are in their death throes due to overexposure of an inferior product by the medium.

Even tho this contrast exists, it does not explain why the networks and - or sponsors have chosen to punish the viewers with second-rate commentary. Somehow the idea was conceived that armchair experts prefer to listen to the babbling of some hero of yore while witnessing modern day gladiators wreak destruction on one another.

Considering the quality of the majority of this comment, television can be found guilty of premeditated assault on the nervous system. Listening to Dizzy Dean and Roy Acuff mutilate a few bars of music (a cappella nonetheless) in a poor man's version of "Grand Old Opry" is unsettling on any terms. But when the camera feels obligated to switch to Dean and friend just as Mantle or Mays strolls to the plate with the leading run on base—that's too much.

Watching Dean spit peanut shells at the microphone or stuff his already portly frame with enormous hunks of sandwich is hardly a substitute for a Koufax strikeout. Hearing sidekick "Pee Wee" Reese read telegrams originating at every Louisville organization from sewing circles to the Association for the Preservation of Marble Shooting while Casey Stengel attacks an umpire leaves a viewer feeling like he just got caught looking at a changeup curve.

Listening to Grange coo phrases of affection while the camera snatches glimpses of impassive George Halas planted on the sidelines like a portion of the architecture is scarcely an adequate description of a kickoff return. Nevertheless, on an average afternoon, the viewer can anticipate about 45 minutes of football and 15 minutes of "Papa Bear".



Red Grange

There are rare exceptions, such as Paul Christman and Joe Garogiola. Christman is one who successfully bridged the two fields. In retrospect, it seems that perhaps Garogiola's view of pitches from an announcer's booth is better than it was at home plate. He is more glib of tongue than he was smooth of swing, indicating that baseball may have been a means of guiding him into the proper profession.

Grange is used as the primary example here because he best represents the two evils infiltrating the T.V. booth. In addition to the flood of inaccuracies with which he batters the helpless listener, Red also has an emotional attachment with the Bears. This comes thru quite clearly during his broadcasts, often distorting the picture conveyed to the viewer. Such conduct, minus the distortion, is licensed somewhat on a local level but shouldn't be tolerated on a far-ranging telecast of the type with which Grange is associated.

Probably, Red has made more enemies for the Bears thru his partisan description than would have been possible in any other manner. Many transfer their bitterness toward Grange to the team and look on, merely hoping to see the Bears take a whipping. Needless to say, these folks just endured a long fall.

Partisan broadcasting does not begin and end with Grange. Descriptions of the recent East-West Shrine game and the Orange Bowl classic were highly colored, at least in the minds of many who listened—and were also watching. It is a situation which the industry should feel obligated to correct.

But, back to Red! Recently, during a subpar performance the Bears fell behind in the first half and Grange monotoned his way thru the description of opposition scoring with about the level of enthusiasm of a person signing his income tax return. I even thought I saw moisture on the screen—and it wasn't raining in Chicago.

Minutes later, while in the back yard, I heard the mounting wail that could only mean a Chicago touchdown. The description, thru two thicknesses of walls, was no less unintelligible than in the living room, however.

Which only led me to wonder why someone hadn't thought of listening to this Sunday afternoon soap opera from the back yard a long time ago!

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament wound up in a triple tie Saturday at the end of 36 holes, with the familiar figure of Arnold Palmer within striking distance of the leaders.

Nursing a precarious lead were young Tommy Jacobs and Bobby Nichols, each with rounds of 69-68, and veteran Jimmy Clark, 71-66, all with total scores of 137.

With lanky Al Geiberger sandwiched in between, with 70-69—139, Palmer was just three shots behind the leaders with his second straight 70—a position he occupied a year ago before he launched what proved to be a winning drive.

Tied with Arnold was Don January, 72-68, and Don Fairfield, 71-69, while hard luck hit several gallery attractions as the tournament reached the midway mark before a crowd of more than 20,000 swarming over the Rancho Golf Club course.

Par is 36-35—71 and the weather again was summery and clear.

National Open champion Julius Boros recovered from a first-round 76 for 70 and 146, but Vardon Trophy winner Bill Casper Jr. failed to survive the cut for the first time in 25 straight tournaments dating back to the American Classic at Akron, Ohio, in August 1962. Casper had rounds of 74-76—150.

And Friday's Cinderella kids, Roger Ginsberg of New York and James Black of Charlotte, N.C., couldn't stand prosperity. They led the pack in hte first round with 67s. Saturday Ginsberg faded in the face of five straight bogeys and holes that the 21-year-old Black eagled or birdied Friday became horrible bogeys Saturday.

Both Ginsberg and Black finished with 74s for 141.

Also tied at 141 were Gene Littler, who rallied after a poor first nine 40 with a 33 coming home, for a 73; Dicky Hart, with a 68, and Frank Beard with a 72.

Tech Upsets Kentucky

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia Tech surprised the nation's No. 1 team, Kentucky, with a 76-67 upset in the opening Southeastern Conference basketball game for both teams Saturday night.

The loss was Kentucky's first in 11 starts this season. Tech boosted its mark to 6-3.

R. D. Craddock, Tech's 5-foot-11 captain, led the Yellow Jackets with 25 points. Cotton Nash, the Kentucky sharpshooter who entered the game with a 29.7 average, was held to 20.

Tech pulled away to a 5-1 margin before Kentucky scored its first field goal with almost five minutes elapsed.

The always popular Rocky Smith, one of the promising young comers in professional wrestling, will team with a newcomer to this region, Pedra Zapata, in the featured tag-team match this Tuesday night in the City Auditorium's weekly pro wrestling card.

Going against these two is a pair of maniacs of the mat game with Wild Bill Fletcher and The Green Shadow holding down the other side of the ring. This main event is scheduled for best two of three falls with a one hour time limit.

Smith, a 214-pound dandy from Little Rock, Ark., has pleased crowds wherever he's appeared, with a clean style and fast moves. Zapata, who made his debut here in Colorado Springs last week, also has been a hit with the local mat fans.

But they'll have to be sharp in facing a pair of the meanest grapplers ever to enter the ring here. Fletcher, a 220-pound consistent winner from Seattle, couldn't care less whether there is a rule book around as he makes up his own regulations as the bout progresses.

The Green Shadow is another who likes the rough stuff and the masked man is liable to pull some new tricks out of the bag especially for the young opponents this week.

In the semi-final match of the evening, giant Hercules McIntire, the 260-pound muscleman from Glendale, Calif., will go against an old favorite to Springs' fans. Facing him will be Big Daddy Siki, making his first showing here this season.

This match is also slated for two of three falls with an hour time limit.

There will be one other match, which will be announced at ring side Tuesday night. This bout will open the show at the usual 8:30 p.m. starting time.

Advance tickets are being sold at Blick's Sporting Goods Store, 119 N. Tejon St., and Ring Military, 122½ E. Pikes Peak. Ducats will also be available at the City Auditorium box office the night of the bouts.

Prices range from $2 for reserved ring side seats, $1.50 for box seats, $1 for general admission and 50 cents for children under 12.

Ron Sargent, Budge Win Ski Honors

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Ron Sargent of Bogus Basin, Idaho and Karen Budge of Jackson Hole, Wyo., won the top events Saturday in the Intermountain Ski Association junior downhill and slalom tryouts.

They were among 175 young skiers who competed in the opening session of the ISA event. Top contestants earned points for the national junior championships in March.

Sargent skied the hard packed Olympic course in 1:25.6. He was followed by Ray Miller of Snow Basin, Utah, in 1:25.8, and Larry Ross, also of Snow Basin, in 1:26.3.

Winner in expert girls was Miss Budge, with a time of 1:36. Pam Street of Sun Valley was second in 1:36.6 and Peggy Goddard of Snow Basin was third in 1:39.4.

Other winners were:

Novice girls — Dawn Johnson, Sun Valley, 1:08..2

Cheyenne Records Win Over Gladiators, 63-53

By DICK FOSTER

Ten points, altho it's not stretching it any, seems like a comfortable enough margin by which to win a basketball game. But the Cheyenne Indians had to fight for their lives Saturday night before chalking up seasonal victory number four, over Widefield 63-53.

Things pointed to a rout in Cheyenne's favor during the opening minutes. They dumped an alert defensive shell around the hapless Gladiator five, and Widefield's smallest flaws looked like gaping holes, for the Indians jumped at every error, and cashed in on many.

Led by Rick Chenoweth and Tom Pearson, who scored six points apiece, the Glads threw a monkey wrench in the smooth running Cheyenne machine and outscored them 22-16 in the second period. After that came a series of third period bombardments by Glen Wheeler, the game's high scorer, with 18 points. He scored 10 of Widefield's 14 third frame tallies and kept the Gladiators threatening.

Cheyenne threw Widefield a balance of Gary Graham, Bill Massarand and Joel Folk, a combination which proved unbeatable. Graham and Massarand tallied 14 apiece and Folk led the Tribe with 17 points. Ron Graham also netted double figures as did the Glad's Rick Chenoweth. Both netted 10.

The Indians stopped any Widefield threat cold in the opening period. The Glads scored first on a free throw, but went scoreless after that for three minutes until John Henke hit a field goal, and again were cold until the final minute of the frame when Glen Wheeler connected for two points. At the same time Widefield was suffering from the poor shooting and Cheyenne defense — they hit two for ten in the first quarter — the Tribe was red hot and on the ball, hitting for 18 points.

The Gladiator's cooled down John O'Hare's group in the second frame with a heads up, scramble pattern, that netted them 22 points and slowed the Tribe's output to 16, the half-time score standing at 34-28.

Third quarter action seemed to take on the appearance of Glen Wheeler vs. Cheyenne Mountain. The little guard poured in five pin-pointed fielders all from a good distance outside the key. Altho Widefield never came within three points of Cheyenne, there was always the threat that once the Glads got started they couldn't be stopped.

It almost got out of hand in that third period too. Widefield had come back from a 14 point deficit in the second quarter and were trailing by just six points when the second half began. This was the Glad's fuel for a comeback effort. They seemed to run out of gas tho, for cold shooting and a re-vamped Indian defense were again a great barrier — too much of one, in fact, for the Widefield five to scale. The Glads hit on just six of the 18 shots they had in the third frame. Cheyenne in the same frame racked up 9 for 16, over 50 per cent.

The pace slowed down in the fourth, and altho Widefield was still fighting for a comeback, Cheyenne wouldn't allow it with their stall tactics. The Indians stand now with a 4-2 overall record while Widefield is opposite with a slow 2-4 mark.

NCAA to Vote on Unlimited Substitution

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rules Committee of the American Football Coaches Association Saturday recommended a return to free and unlimited substitution for next season.

The recommendation goes before the National Collegiate Athletic Association Rules Committee meeting in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 11.

"They're a very sincere, dedicated group," said Jack Curtice, chairman of the coaches rules group. "I'm certain they'll give some serious consideration to the coaches' wishes and that the recommendation has some chance of passing."

The rule, Curtice said, is identical to the free and unlimited substitution rule that was abolished in 1952.

"The substitution rule has been our bug-a-boo," the football coach at University of California at Santa Barbara said. "We've tinkered with it every year since 1952.

"The rule we had last year seemed at the time to be a tremendous step in the right direction, but it didn't seem to satisfy the situation."

Curtice said the 24 members of the Football Coaches Rules Committee had polled all members of the association and that 98 recommended a change from the limited substitution rule of 1963 and 90 advocated a return to free and unlimited substitution.

Under the proposed change, Curtice said, "free and unlimited substitution would be possible at any time when the ball is not alive.

"That's the same language of the rule we had in 1952," he said.

Under that rule free substitution, including platooning by offense and defense, was permissible at any time the ball was not in play, whether the clock was stopped or not.

Wasson Tankers Cop Swim Meet

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — Ed McVehil's potent Wasson tankers captured the annual Cheyenne Invitational Swim meet here Saturday when the Thunderbirds edged Palmer to win the event two years running.

Five teams were entered in the competition with Wasson accumulating 80 points. Colorado Springs' Palmer finished in the runner-up slot with 72½ points followed by Cheyenne Central (63½ points), Casper, Wyo. (53 points), and Cheyenne East (22 points.).

T-Birds won a tri-meet on Friday when they topped Casper, and Cheyenne East by a Considerable margin. The Wasson swimmers scored 57 points in that meet to surpass Casper and East.

CSC Trims Western State

GREELEY (AP) — Colorado State College ran up its seventh victory without a defeat this season by whipping Western State 65-61 in a Rocky Mountain Conference basketball game Saturday.

A Western State spurt in the last three minutes of the half cut CSC's halftime margin to 34-31.

The Bears went into ball control at that stage and only a Western rally in the last minute made it close. The Mountaineers bagged five points in the final 40 seconds to come within four points, their closest approach to the Bears after the intermission.

Oklahoma Tops Kansas State In Dual Meet

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Pete Skarzenski and Stven Holm, both juniors, pinned their opponents here Saturday night to break a tie and give Oklahoma a 20-10 Big Eight Conference wrestling victory over Kansas State.

The win is the fifth of the season for Oklahoma and stretches to 17 straight its winning record in dual matches against K-State. Kansas State has won two of its three matches this season.

The results:

147—John Thompson, K-State, and Jerry Stanley, Drew 7-7.

167—Mike Davis, Okla., outpointed Dennis Woofter, 5-0.

Quarterbacks Meet Again After Holidays

The Colorado Springs Quarterback Club will resume its weekly meetings this Monday noon after taking a two-week break for the holidays. The club meets each Monday at the Alamo Hotel, and all males interested in sports of the region are welcome to attend.

The Quarterbacks will hear reports from all the local coaches on games of the past week, plus a rundown on their chances for upcoming contests this next week.

Plans are being made for the annual presentation of the Colorado Sportsman of the Year Award which will be made later this month. Last year's winner was Coach Jack Faulkner of the Denver Broncos professional football team, but candidates for the past year have not been announced.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Bob Foss

What was the most exciting single sports event of all-time? . . . A poll of sportswriters once chose the Dempsey-Firpo fight of 1923 . . . That was the fight when Firpo went down nine times in two rounds and Dempsey was down twice including being knocked out of the ring.

One of the most unusual nicknames for a team in sports is the "Dodgers" . . . Do you have any idea how that nickname came into being? . . . When trolleys were first introduced in Brooklyn, people in New York referred to Brooklynites as "trolley dodgers" . . . The Brooklyn baseball team then was given that name . . . After a few years, they shortened it to simply "Dodgers."

Perkins Knocks Out Japan's Takahaski

TOKYO (AP)—Junior welterweight champion Eddie Perkins of Chicago knocked out Yoshinori Takahashi in the 13th round of a world title bout Saturday night with a two-fisted attack that sent the young Japanese boxer to the hospital with a brain concussion.

The challenger collapsed after a second knockdown in the 13th and lay unconscious on his back in the ring for nearly 10 minutes. Ambulance attendants carried him from the ring on a stretcher and he did not regain consciousness until 30 minutes after the knockout.

Dr. Takashi Suzuki, a Japanese boxing commission physician, examined Takahashi and said, "He suffered from a concussion but now is all right."

The boxer will be kept under observation for another 24 hours.

Perkins, a native of Clarksdale, Miss., weighed 128¾ pounds for this first defense of the title he recaptured from Roberto Cruz in Manila last June 19. His victory never was in doubt from the first round when he staggered the Japanese challenger. The bell saved Takahashi from punishment in the first, sixth and ninth when he had been shaken but not floored.

Apparently shocked by the first round attack, Takahashi, 139¼ pounds, tried to outbox the agile champion but failed. In the 10th round, the Japanese boxer started stepping in, desperately gambling for an upset. The 10th and 11th were even and the 24 - year - old Takahashi made it close again in the 12th. There was no indication that the end was near.

Perkins floored his opponent for a mandatory eight - count early in the 13th. He went after him again with a powerful left hook and a right to the head. Takahashi went halfway through the ropes, stood up reeling, then sank again to his knees and collapsed as referee Nicholas Pope waved his hands to count him out at 1:35 of the round.

Perkins now has a record of 32 victories and nine defeats; Takahashi is 23-3.

Dardin Named Outstanding Coach

WASHINGTON (AP) —Wayne Hardin of Navy was named Saturday as the outstanding college football coach of 1963 by the Washington Touchdown Club.

Hardin's team finished second in The Associated Press poll and lost 28-6 Wednesday to national champion Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

South Wins Senior Bowl Tilt

By MIKE BARRON
Associated Press Sports Writer

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Ode Burrell, Billy Lothridge and George Mira led the South to a 28-21 victory over the North in the 155th annual Senior Bowl football game Saturday.

Burrell, the Mississippi State halback, scored two touchdowns on short runs. Quarterbacks Mira of Miami and Lothridge of Georgia Tech passed for one touchdown each, and Lothridge kicked all four extra points.

The South defense was hard pressed to stop a North rally led by Bill Munson of Utah State in the final period.

Lothridge's touchdown pass came on one of the most unusual plays in Senior Bowl history. The Tech All-America was attempting to make the Senior Bowl's first field goal in the second quarter when his holder, Larry Rakestraw of Georgia, fumbled the snap.

Lothridge picked it up and fired a six-yard pass to his Tech teammate, end Bill Martin, for the South's third touchdown.

Munson led the North from a 28-7 deficit with two touchdown passes in the final quarter and kept the crowd on edge with his passing up to the final gun.

South	14	7	7	0—28

Munson passed 10 yards to Dick Drummond of George Washington for one score and then tossed two yards to Paul Krause of Iowa for another. His last pass attempt fell incomplete in the end zone as the game ended.

Burrell was chosen the game's outstanding player as well as the South's top back, and Miami tackle Dan Connors was chosen the South's outstanding lineman.

Munson was voted the North's outstanding back and Krause, an end, the Yankees' outstanding lineman.

The expected passing duel between Mira and Jack Concannon of Boston College failed to materialize. Both teams had to pass in a rain which grew heavier as the game progressed and Concannon was unable to make headway against it.

BATTEN ON THE MOVE—North back Pat Batten (20) of Hardin Simmons moves the ball deep into South territory during the second period action at the Senior Bowl game Saturday in Mobile. Behind him is South defender Perry Lee Dunn of Ole Miss and at the right is Whaley Hall, also of Ole Miss. The game was played in the rain on a muddy field.

Denver Skater in Competition

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — The advance guard of between 100 and 110 of America's finest amateur figure skaters began arriving Saturday to compete in the 1964 U. S. Figure Skating Championships and the Olympic qualifcations.

The four - day competition begins Thursday as the amateurs battle in 10 divisions. A 12-member squad will be selected at the end of acton and this team will compete in the Winter Olympic Games at Innsbruck, Austria, Jan. 29-Feb. 9.

Before actual competition begins however, the skaters will hold daily workouts beginning Saturday at 8 a.m. through 10 p.m. to round into tip-top form.

Skaters who will be defending senior titles are Thomas Litz, Hershey, Pa., men's singles; Lorraine Hanlon, Boston, ladies' singles, and Judianne and Jerry Fotheringill, Tacoma, Wash., in the pairs.

Expected to give Litz a strong tussle is Monty Hoyt, Denver, who was the 1962 senior men's singles king before being dethroned last year.

Miss Hanlon is expected to have a tough battle on her hands to ward off the challenge of Mrs. Barbara Holes Pursley, who is returning to competition after a one year layoff.

Among the competitors are Gregory Hoyt, the 15-year-old flash from Denver, who won the 1964 midwestern figure skating championships junior men's singles title at Detroit Friday. Other winners at this event are Yvonne Drummond, Detroit, senior ladies' singles; Barbara Hartwig and Bobby MeCay, St. Paul, senior pairs and Sandra Schwomeyer and James Pennigton, Indianapolis, silver dance.

Mickey Wright Voted Top Woman Athlete

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mary Kathryn (Mickey) Wright, a tall, blonde girl from California and Texas who possibly plays golf better than any woman in the history of the game, is the Woman Athlete of the Year for 1963.

Miss Wright won this honor in the annual Associated Press year-end poll as easily as she outscored her rivals on the golf course. She polled more than twice as many points in the voting as her nearest rival, former winner Maria Bueno of Brazil, the 1963 United States tennis champion.

In 1963 Mickey, a willowy walloper who can hit a golf ball farther than most men, won 13 official tournaments on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, including the LPGA championship, and a record $34,027 in prize money. Incidentally, she annexed the Vare Trophy as the leading scorer in women's pro golf.

Writers and broadcasters participating in The Associated Press poll were asked to name 1-2-3 selections for the outstanding female athlete but many of them stopped after writing "Mickey Wright." She received 87 first-place votes, 21 seconds and eight thirds out of 134 ballots. On a 3-2-1 point scoring basis, Mickey drew 311 points. Miss Bueno, who won this honor in 1959 after her tennis victories at Wimbldon and Feorst Hills, received only 15 firsts and 127 points for the runner-up spot.

In recognition of her selection as the outstanding woman athlete of 1963, Miss Wright will receive the Frederic C. Miller Memorial Trophy.

Five women shared the first-place votes in the poll and were far ahead of the others menplace votes in the poll and were far ahead of the others mentioned on scattered ballots. Marion Ladewig, the bowling star, placed third with 109 points, followed by Australia's Wimbledon tennis champion, Margaret Smith, with 87 and swimming star Donna de Varona of Santa Clara, Calif., with 78.

A measure of Mickey's superiority in her field was seen in the voting when Kathy Whitworth, the year's No. 2 woman pro golfer with eight tournament victories and $26,968 in prize money, received only one vote for second and one for third. Mary Mills, who won the U.S. Women's Open — when Mickey couldn't play—drew a single second-place vote.

It was the third straight year Miss Wright topped the LPGA money-winning list and her official total of $31,269 made her the first woman pro ever to win more than $30,000. No other ever had won as many as 13 tournaments before. In addition, Mickey finished the season by teaming with Dave Ragan for a victory in the unofficial but financially rewarding Scotch Mixed foursomes tournament.

Miss Bueno's greatest single achievement during the year was her 7-5, 6-4 victory over Miss Smith in the U.S. women's championship final at Forest Hills. This kept the Australian girl, winner of the Australian and Wimbledon titles, from gaining a clean sweep of the world's top three major championships.

French Olympians Win Women's Slalom Meet

OBERSTAUFEN, Germany (AP) — The Goitschel sisters swept the first two places as French Olympians narrowly outraced American skiers Saturday in an international women's slalom.

Nineteen-year-old Christine Goitschel won the Olympic tune-up and her sister, Marielle, placed second. Next came Jean Saubert of Lake View, Ore., star of the U.S. Olympic team who won Friday's slalom here and was runner-up to Marielle for the combined title.

Linda Meyers of Bishop, Cal., took sixth place and was fourth in the over-all standings behind Germany's Heidi Biebl, who was fourth in Saturday's event.

Two other American girls, Barbara Ferries of Houghton, Mich., and Joan Hannah of Franconia, N. H., placed in the first 20, but two others were disqualified after spills on their first runs. Margo Walters of Salt Lake City and Starr Walton of Sacramento, Calif., took the tumbles.

"I could have done better on skates out there today," was Miss Walters' rueful comment.

Miss Ferries was 11th Saturday and seventh over-all, Miss Hannah 19th and 17th.

Christine Goitschel raced down the 300 - meter course which dropped 130 meters, in runs of 43.25 and 41.86 seconds for a total time of 85.11. Her sister was close behind at 43.43-41.87—85.30.

Miss Saubert, 21-year-old junior at the University of Oregon, had a total of 86.74 seconds on runs of 44.07 and 42.67. The first run had 42 gates and the second 35.

Despite special preparations that had to be made due to lack of snow, most competitors called the IC4 course excellent. The races were moved higher up in the mountains to take advantage of lower temperatures, and hundreds of tons of snow were carted up to cover the course.

The races here developed into a two-way competition between French and U.S. Olympians and the Goitschel sisters gave France the edge.

"I did my best," Miss Saubert said. "I didn't make any mistakes. There will be more races and I hope I beat them next time."

Other tune-ups will be at Grindelwald, Switzerland, and Bad Gastein, Austria, before the skiers move to Innsbruck, Austria, for the Winter Olympics, Jan. 29-Feb. 9.

AFL Players To Seek More Benefits

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — American Football League players plan to form an association this month and ask club owners for a pension program and family medical coverage.

The plan was announced Saturday by linebacker Tom Addison of the Boston Patriots. He said the AFL players' association will be patterned after the one in the National Football League.

Addison said the association will be organized at a meeting here Jan. 14. He said player representatives from the eight AFL clubs will elect officers, adopt a constitution and bylaws and "draw up proposals to be presented to the league commissioner and owners at their meeting Jan. 16."

Army Awards Dietzel New Long-Term Contract Even Tho Losing to Navy

By John Griffin
UPI Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI)—Army, which fired its last football coach because he didn't beat Navy, Saturday gave Coach Paul Dietzel a brand-new long-term contract even though he, too, has failed to beat Navy in two tries.

"I'm very happy with the new contract," said Dietzel, "and I believe the future of Army football is very bright indeed."

Dietzel still had three years to go on his original five-year pact with the U. S. Military Academy. He said the new agreement was for a "longer" term than the original one, one, which probably would make it the longest contract in Army's gridiron history.

Dietzel, the first non-graduate of the Military Academy to coach the team in over 50 years received $20,000 per year under his original contract. Although salary terms of the new pact were not disclosed, they were believed to call for a token raise as Army's vote-of-confidence in the 39-year-old coach it hired away from Louisiana State in January, 1962.

In line with Army custom, there was no formal ceremony announcing Dietzel's new contract. But when word leaked out, it was confirmed at the academy by Col. Ray Murphy, director of athletics.

Dietzel, reached at Liberty, N. Y., where he was spending a skiing weekend, expressed pleasure at Army's confidence in him.

"Everything looks much better for us in the near future," he said.

"Remember," he added, "we will be starting the 1964 season with a good number of the boys who were in the starting lineup in the final game of 1963 against Navy—both ends, both tackles, one guard, the quarterback, the wingbacks.

"Right there we have a pretty good nucleus. It's true that depth will still be our main problem, but things do look bright and we also believe we have some boys coming up from the plebe (freshman) team who will be able to help us."

Dietzel said that he hopes "to keep all of my present coaching staff." But he disclosed that some of his assistants "are under consideration for head coaching jobs of their own at other universities."

Johnny Longden Recovering From Spill

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Johnny Longden, the 56 - year - old jockey who has ridden 5,777 winners, reported himself "very sore" Saturday, a day after escaping with a broken rib and bruises in a nasty spill at Santa Anita.

Longden, resting at his Arcadia home, said pains seem to have concentrated in his neck and shoulders and that he could barely move his head.

Longden said he lost consciousness and had no recollection of the incident after losing his balance and plunging over the horse's head.

Sorensen to Conduct Ski School Here

Registrations are now being taken at the Colorado Springs Park and Recreation Department for the "Learn-To-Ski" program.

The series of seven lessons are being co-sponsored by the Recreation Division and the Pikes Peak Ski Area. Classes are open to children eight years old thru 15 years old and to all adults who want to learn the basic ski techniques.

The ski school will be under the direction of Fred Sorensen, director of the Pikes Peak Ski School. Sorensen has directed the Pikes Peak Ski School for seven years and previously taught Cooper Hill. During World War II, Sorensen was an instructor with the 10th Mtn. Division at Camp Hale. He has skied all over the world.

Students in the "Learn-To-Ski" program will be instructed under the newly developed American Ski Technique. Besides the beginners lessons there will be instructions for those skiers who want to improve their technique.

Cost for the series of seven lessons will be $15. This fee includes instruction and tow rides during class instruction. Students must furnish their own equipment and transportation to the Pikes Peak Ski Area. Schedule of classes are as follows:

Lesson 1. Class Organization—Weds., Jan. 8—7:30 p.m. Discussion of equipment, clothing, exercises, etc.

Lesson 2 & 3. Pikes Peak Ski Area — Sat., Jan 11 — 10:30 a.m and 1:30 p.m. OR Sun., Jan. 12—10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Lesson 4 & 5. Pikes Peak Ski Area — Sat., Jan. 18 — 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. OR Sun., Jan. 19 — 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Lesson 6 & 7. Pikes Peak Ski Area — Sat., Jan. 25 — 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. OR Sun, Jan. 26 — 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

CC's Edwards to Compete For U.S. Skating Crown

One of the hardest working young men in town these days is David Edwards, 19-year-old sophomore at Colorado College, who will be competing for the United States Senior Men's Figure Skating title at the National competitions in Cleveland Jan. 9-12.

Edwards starts his day at 5:30 in the morning at the Broadmoor World Arena where he practices figure skating for two hours before putting in a full day on the Colorado College campus. Then he's back at the arena at 5 p.m. for more hours of steady practice on the exacting school figures which will count as 60 per cent of his score at Nationals, and at polishing his free skating which counts as 40 per cent of his total performance.

Known in amateur figure skating ranks as a spectacular jumper, Edwards has mastered the triple Salchow and triple loop jump made famous by World and Olympic Champion David Jenkins. He is one of three skaters in the U.S. able to do the triple jump, and the first to do it since Jenkins. These figures require exceptional timing and balance and are the result of long hours of hard work on the ice.

Edwards had first hand assistance from the man whose feats he hopes to duplicate when David Jenkins came back to the Broadmoor World Arena for two visits recently and gave him some pointers on perfecting that famous triple loop jump.

By virtue of always being in the top three of every division he has competed in, Edwards has advanced to the Senior Men's ranks in National competition.

The closest he has come to capturing the coveted National Senior crown is to place third in 1961. He has passed his Gold Test, top examination given to figure skaters.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Edwards of Haverford, Pa., David has been studying under Carlo Fassi, head figure skating instructor at the Broadmoor, for the past two years. He began skating at the age of nine at the Philadelphia Skating Club.

He is attending Colorado College on an academic scholarship and therefore works just as hard at school as he does at skating. During the summer months he holds down a full time job at the Broadmoor front desk and still keeps up those long hours of skating practice. A career in medicine is in his plan for the future.

Besides the National Men's Figure Skating title, Edwards can win a place on the United States Olympic and World Teams by doing well this week in Cleveland.

U.S. Hopes To Send Baseball Squad to Japan

NEW YORK (AP) The United States hopes to send an amateur baseball team to Japan to play a series of exhibition games during the 1964 Olympics, the chairman of the U.S. Olympic baseball games committee said Saturday.

Baseball is not an Olympic sport and the team—to be made up of college players—would not be an official part of the U.S. Olympic squad.

W.F. Fehring, chairman of the committee and baseball coach at Stanford, said the U.S. group has received an invitation from the Japanese Amateur Baseball Association to make the trip, starting Oct. 11. The invitation has to be confirmed by the Japanse Olympic Committee, Fehring said, but that is expected in the next few days.

The principal obstacle at the moment, Fehring said, is lack of funds.

"We're working with the U.S. Baseball Federation," Fehring said. "They are planning an Olympic baseball month this summer, with some proceeds going to help finance the team."

The team, he said, would be composed of 18 players and seven coaches and administrators. Coaches will be selected at a meeting Monday of the American Association of College Coaches, which is holding its annual convention.

Russian Ski Jumps Sets Unofficial Mark

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Pjotr Kovalenko, Russian Olympic ski jumper, did 305 feet off the Olymipc Bergisel hill Saturday. Although it bettered the previous best mark by six feet it will not become a record because it was made in practice.

NEVER WON IN COTTON

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —The University of Arkansas has played in the Cotton Bowl game three times and has never won.

The Razorbacks lost 7-6 to Duke in 1961, 14-6 to Georgia Tech in 1955 and tied Louisiana State University 0-0 in 1947.

Highlights Of 1963 Sports Scene

BALTIMORE (AP)—John McKay, Southern Cal football coach found himself out on a cracked limb the first day of 1963.

"We believe defense will be the key to the game," he said of the Rose Bowl contest with Wisconsin. "And we think we have a very good defense.

USC defeated Wisconsin 42-37.

Before this year in sports ended, McKay had a lot of company on the ground with other personages whose words didn't pan out.

The Baltimore Evening Sun in its annual publication of quotes that backfired included:

Jan. 8—Green Bay's Paul Hornung on rumors of a betting scandal in the National Football League: "I'm positive no player would be stupid enough to get mixed up with any gamblers." (Hornung and Detroit's Alex Karras were suspended April 17 for betting on league games.)

Feb. 1 — Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts: "I see no reason why Dick Donovan shouldn't repeat as a 20-game winner." (Donovan won 11).

March 2 — Bill Skowron on home run hitting by his Los Angeles Dodgers: "Tommy Davis, Frank Howard, Willie Davis and Ron Fairly should hit more than 20, and I think I will, too." (Skowron hit four and Howard was the only one with more than 20).

April 4 — Woody Stephens, trainer of Never Bend: "The Kentucky Derby will be a two-horse race. After Candy Spots and my colt, you just have a bunch of horses—none in the same class with these two." Chateaugay beat 'em both.

May 7 — Ray Washburn, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, on his 5-0 record: "With this start, I think I can win 20 games." (He was beaten 11-1 that night and one month later was sent to the minors).

July 22—Floyd Patterson before his second fight with Sonny Liston: "I won't get knocked out in the first round again." (He did and only four seconds later than in their first championship match).

Green Bay Favorite to Down Browns in NFL Playoff Bowl

By FRANK EDIGE
United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — The two best fullbacks in pro football measure off against each other for the first time in more than two years Sunday when the Green Bay Packers and Cleveland Browns clash in the National Football League's playoff bowl.

Green Bay is the pre-game pick by 6½ points.

Jim Taylor and his Green Bay cohorts haven't met Jimmy Brown and his Cleveland sidekicks since the 1961 season when the Packers came off with a 49-17 victory that still rankles the Browns.

The linemen of both teams should be in for a rough afternoon, starting with the 2 p.m. EST kickoff in the Orange Bowl Stadium before 50,000 fans.

CBS television will carry the game nationwide, starting at 1:30 p.m., EST, with the telecast blacked out in the south Florida area.

Taylor took the rushing title away from Brown in 1962 but the Cleveland linebuster recaptured it last season by blasting for 1,863 yards and 12 touchdowns in 291 carries. Taylor had a total of 1,018 yards and 9 touchdowns in 248 attempts.

Green Bay won the favorite's role despite Brown's prowess afoot and Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan's league-leading record for passes. The Packers lost only to the Chicago Bears, twice, during the regular season, while Cleveland dropped four games.

Most observers believe Green Bay's attack is better balanced and its defense a little tougher than Cleveland's.

Ryan amassed a total of 2,026 yards and 25 touchdown by completing 135 of 256 passes during the season. Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr sat out a few games with injuries but still chalked up 1,855 yards and 15 touchdowns with 132 out of 244 completions.

Ryan's favorite receivers are halfbacks Gary Collins and Ernie Green, Brown and end Johnny Brewer. Starr throws mostly to ends Boyd Dowler, Max McGee and Ron Kramer.

Cleveland has won three of its past four meetings with Green Bay.

Most of the proceeds will go into the NFL players fund. The winners will get $600 each and the losers $400 for each player.

Chargers Favored to Top Patriots for AFL Crown

By RAY MEANS
United Press International

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The San Diego Chargers are 6½-point favorites to win their first American Football League championship by beating the Boston Patriots here Sunday.

San Diego has taken the Patriots 17-13 and 7-6 this season, and promise of warm dry weather indicates the Chargers' league-leading offense should do better Sunday.

Both clubs stress speed, but the Chargers have a little extra in flanker Lance Alworth, the league's most valuable player.

Boston's defense, the best in the league, has stopped San Diego's running game this season, but Alworth has been too much.

The former Arkansas University sprinter snared four passes for 76 yards and one touchdown in the 17-13 win. But he capped that with a record-tying 13 catches for 210 yards and the only touchdown in the 7-6 victory.

If Boston uses double coverage, San Diego quarterback Tobin Rote still can hit ends Don Norton and Dave Kocourek, besides Keith Lincoln and Paul Lowe.

Lincoln and Lowe gained 1836 yards in 305 carries this season for a 6-yard average, enough to give the Chargers the league rushing lead and keep the defense honest.

Boston, despite only one touchdown against San Diego this year, is no slouch offensively. Coach Mike Holovak proclaims the return of halfback Ron Burton as the factor which could give Boston the edge.

Burton, operated on for a ruptured disc in September, still wears a brace and must be regarded as a doubtful advantage. Larry Garron remains a powerful factor. The 198-pound fullback set a club record of 750 yards on the ground and gained 160 yards in the two Chargers games, although the defense was keying on him.

San Diego's Tobin Rote paced the league in passing despite bursitis in his throwing arm at the end of the year. Boston's Babe Parilli has been off-and-on all season but has normally been tough with his short passes against San Diego.

The game could be decided by the toes of Gino Cappelletti of Boston and George Blair of the Chargers, first and second respectively in field goal kicking in the league. Cappelletti kicked 22 of 38 and Blair 17 of 27 during the regular season.

Michigan Tops Northwestern In Big 10 Tilt

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan successfully opened its Big Ten basketball campaign with an easy 85-73 victory over Northwestern Saturday.

The taller Wolverines, troubled by Northwestern's zone defense in the early minutes, started to hit from the outside and rushed to a 45-33 halftime lead after twice leading by as many as 14 points.

Sophomore Cazzie Russell paced the well-balanced Michigan scoring attack with 23 points. Bill Buntin had 22 and Larry Tregoning 18. The Wolverines, ranked fifth nationally, now are 10-1.

Rick Lopossa of Northwestern topped all scorers with 29 points, 22 of them in the second half.

Bradley Tops Tulsa, 79-59

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI)— Bradley used a balanced scoring attack and control of the backboards Saturday to defeat Tulsa 79-59 in a Missouri Valley Conference basketball game.

Ed Jackson and Joe Strawder, each with 17 points, led Bradley, which had five players scoring in double figures.

A BUSY COACH

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Dromo does much of the basketball recruiting for the University of Louisville, serves as assistant varsity and head freshman basketball coach and varsity golf coach.

It wasn't always this way. When Louisville hired Dromo 12 years ago, he came here as assistant football coach.

John Pennel Selected For Sullivan Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Pennel of Northeast Louisiana State College, the only man ever to clear 17 feet in the pole vault, Saturday was named the winner of the 1963 James E. Sullivan Award.

President Jay-Ehret Mahoney of the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) announced the selection of Pennel by a tribunal of 524 sportsmen as the amateur athlete who "by performance, example and good influence did the most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

Hawaiian weightlifter Tommy Koon was runnerup in the voting for the third straight year and Bob Hayes of Florida A&M, "the world's fastest human," was third.

Fourth in the voting was hurdler Hayes Jones of Detroit, followed by gymnast Mrs. Muriel Davis Grossfeld of New Haven, Conn., swimmers Donna de Varona of Santa Clara, Calif., Chet Jastremski of Toledo, Ohio, and Robyn Ann Johnson of Arlington, Va., and discus champion Jay Silvester of Trementon, Utah.

Pennel, who says he had "umping complex" even as a kid, was a virtual unknown less than a year ago without a 16-foot jump to his credit. But in quick succession the 23-year-old Miami senior equalled or broke the world record seven times and finally reached an all-time peak of 17 feet, ¾ inches.

On the basis of a 5-3-1 scoring system, Pennel received 165 first place votes and a total of 1,115 points. Kono had 140 first-place votes and 931 points, and Hayes was the first choice of 54 selectors and garnered 628 points.

The Sullivan Award, most coveted prize of amateur athletes, was inaugurated in 1930 when "grand slam" golfer Bobby Jones was honored.

Pennel went over 16 feet and set his first world mark with a jump of 16-3 although using a borrowed pole during the Memphis relays last March. Then he began a series of intense duels with Brian Sternberg, a sophomore at the University of Washington, who vaulted into prominence with a 16-5 mark at the Penn Relays in April.

The record was brought up to 16-6¾ by Pennel, but Sternberg countered with leaps of 16-7 at Modesto, Calif., in May and 16-8 in a head-on clash with Pennel at Compton, Calif., June 7.

Sternberg then was tragically paralyzed while performing on a trampoline and Pennel continued the assault on 17 feet alone.

Pennel regained the world record for keeps with a vault of 16-8¾ in the British track and field championships at London, July 13, equalled this July 26, and extended it to 16-10¼ in White City Stadium during the U.S.-Britain meet Aug. 5.

It was in his home town of Miami, before an audience that included his parents, that Pennel cleared the bar at 17 feet, ¾ inches on Aug. 24.

Jimmy Brown Selected Most Valuable Player

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Line-busting Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns was named the most valuable player Saturday on the first annual All-Star team selected by the National Football League Players Association.

The New York Giants gained three offensive positions against one for the Chicago Bears on the elite squad picked by the players themselves just before the playoff game in which the Bears beat the Giants for the World championship.

Joe Schmidt of Detroit was named the most valuable defensive player while the Bears placed three men on the All-Star defensive team against two for the Giants.

The teams were announced by Pete Retzlaff, offensive end of the Philadelphia Eagles and president of the NFL Players Association, who himself was chosen as right end on the offensive second team.

The only member of the world champion Bears named to the first offensive team was right end Mike Ditka.

The squads:

Offensive first team:

Defensive first team:

Clemente Spearheads San Juan Victory

SAN JUAN (AP) — Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates provided the big punch for San Juan Friday night when he drove in two runs with a double and also scored on an error in a 4-1 victory over Santurce. Clemente continued around the bases to score the third run of the seventh inning when Chico Ruiz of the Cincinnati Reds overthrew the plate.

TB Skin Tests Focused on Children in '63

A lot of adults in El Paso County received tuberculosis skin tests last year, but the major effort was on behalf of the children.

According to Mary Frances Loughlin, executive director of the TB Association, "We try to stop TB in young children with complete testing in schools, but our program includes checking those who work with youngsters in public institutions."

For example, she said, new teachers who are hired into city schools are tested for possible infection, and teachers are checked again each three years. The association has successfully initiated a program calling for tests in all baby sitting organizations.

"Another hope we have is to arrange routine tests for others who deal with children as well as the public," Miss Loughlin said. "These would include barbers, beauticians, bus drivers and others."

The testing for children in schools begins in the fall of each year. The tests are given to six-year-old students in every public and parochial school in the county.

But there is one exception to this — the schools located east of Colorado Springs have a very low incidence of the disease. These include Alta Vista, Calhan, Edison, Ellicott, Falcon, Peyton and Miami at Rush.

The executive director explained that there is not as much person-to-person contact among residents there because of the low-density population, and cattle are TB tested regularly to guard against infection from animals.

Students in these schools are tested only once every three years, and every student in the school is then checked. This was part of the 1963 program, and will be repeated in 1966.

But a great many of the country's adults call the TB Association to make appointments for the tests, which are made at the office.

The tests are free, of course, and it takes only a few moments for some brief paper work and the painless test itself. "We were delighted at the public interest in tests this year, but, as always, we know that there are many adults who have never had a test in their lives," Miss Loughlin said. "We would like to check everyone."

The schools and the parent-teacher association won the association's thanks for their help in testing the youngsters. "They make our job so much easier," Miss Loughlin said. The volunteer physicians are actually able to test over 100 children an hour with their help."

Teachers often talk about the tests as tho it is a game — the form signed by the parent showing permission serves as the ticket to the game, and each youngster "wins" a TB insignia to pin on his healthy chest.

"It's been a wonderful year," she concluded, "and we are planning hard to make 1964 even more so."

Appointments for tests can be made by telephone. Contributions may be sent to the TB Association, 809 N. Cascade Ave.

Robert Bills Leaves For Marine Duty

Robert L. Bills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Bills of 30 Boulder Crescent, left Monday for active duty with the U. S. Marine Corps.

He previously enlisted in the Marines' delay enlistment program Dec. 10.

Bills, who enlisted for aviation duty only, was flown to San Diego, Calif. where he will receive three months of recruit training. This will be followed by four weeks of individual combat instruction at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The new Marine will be granted a 23-day leave after this instruction prior to reporting to the Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn. to attend a formal school in an aviation job specialty.

Socialites Welcome New Year At Garden of Gods Club

The Garden of the Gods Club was opened for a special New Year's Eve party, where members and their guests enjoyed dinner, and dancing to the music of Ray Kranz's orchestra. The club was gayly decorated with balloons and colorful streamers, and guests found at each table fantastic hats and an abundance of noise-makers.

A number of Denver members of the club brought guests to the dinner dance. Here Mrs. Warren Vollhaber shakes a noise maker in the ear of W. H. Cosper, as he threatens a raucous blast on a holiday horn.

American Music Society Will Meet at Thomas Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Rowan Thomas, 1003 N. Foote Ave., will be the scene of the Jan. 8 meeting and program of the American Music Society. A varied program featuring vocalists and instrumentalists has been carefully planned. Mrs. Louise Dockstader will be the commentator.

Shirley Shaffer, pianist, will open the program with three sonatas, D Major, D Minor, and B Minor by Domenico Scarlotti. This composer who lived in the early eighteenth century was the most important Italian composer who developed the opera overture, called "Sinfonia."

Three songs by Richard Strauss, "Die Nacht," "Heimkehr" and "Allerseelen" will be sung by contralto, Ruth Laughren. Her accompanist will be Ethelynne Thorpe. These songs are some of the finest written by this German composer who made such an impression on the musical world of the late 19th century.

Ida Hutchison, pianist, will continue the program by playing the Suite, Opus 14, by Bela Bartok. A Hungarian, Bartok was a pioneer in discovering and interpreting the folk music of his country. In the music which he discovered, the melody was severe, the rhythm was irregular, the tonality reached back to the modes of the church.

The song cycle, "Lieder Eines Fahrenden Gesellen" by Gustav Mahler, will be performed by soprano, Arline Kushnir, with Virginia Andrews as accompanist. Except for this and a few other song cycles, Mahler confined his musical endeavors to symphonic works. His true musical genius was never fully recognized in Europe or in this country.

An original compostion, "Conversation" by Carlton Gamer, assistant professor of music at Colorado College, will be performed by flutist, Dorothy Bradley. She will also play "Poem" by Griffes.

Assisting the hosts will be Mr. andl Mrs. David Austin, Mrs. Russell Volkman, Mrs. Grace Lord Johnson, Fritz Funk, Mrs. L. W. Dockstader, and Mrs. Charles Straeb.

Presbyterian Groups Will Meet This Week

The Women's Association for Christian Work of the First Presbyterian Church will meet for luncheon at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday in the dining room of the church.

The Alice Hyson and Clara Hepburn Circles will serve the luncheon.

Mrs. Ernest Nowels will be in charge of the devotional service. The fellowship department will conduct a program on "Functional Fellowship." Mrs. Margaret Wallace will furnish the music.

The board meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m.

First Presbyterian Church Circles will meet this week as follows:

Frances Goodrich Circle will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Honnen Parlor at the Church. Mrs. Jerry Palmer and Mrs. Herb Gollis will be the hostesses.

Clara Hepburn Circle will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with Mrs. Pearl Parmerlee, 401 Bonfoy Ave.

Fannie Kellogg Circle will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with Mrs. Anna G. Ross, 233 N. Franklin St.

Narcissa Whitman Circle will meet at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in the Honnen Parlor at the Church. Mrs. Harry Lee and Mrs. William Irwin will be the hostesses.

Ruxton Chapter Will Meet in Masonic Temple

Ruxton Chapter 10, OES, will hold its regular meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Masonic Temple, 455 El Paso Blvd., Manitou Springs.

Mrs. Betty Rigdon, WM, and Arthur Fannin, WP, will preside. Plans will be in the making for the official visit of the worthy grand matron Feb. 13.

Vandermiller-George Rites Held in Broadmoor Church

The marriage of Miss Marcia Jean George and James Carl Vandermiller was solemnized at 11 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 26 in the Broadmoor Community Church. The Rev. George Otto performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. George of 2712 Lark Dr., was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Vandermiller of 470 Clayton St., Denver.

The bride wore a short white satin dress styled with portrait neckline and elbow length sleeves. The controlled skirt was trimmed with rosebuds at the waistline in back. Her circular veil of illusion was caught to a white satin pillbox and her only jewelry was a pearl necklace with small pearl earrings. Her flowers were white roses surrounded by stephanotis.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Gates, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a green wool dress with full skirt. She wore white brocade shoes and carried a single white rose.

The bride's mother wore a deep lavender wool dress with gold accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore a grey-blue silk knit dress shot with silver. Her accessories were also silver.

A small wedding breakfast was given at the Moors following the ceremony, after which the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Phoenix and other points in the Southwest. The bride's going-away costume was of pale gold mohair. On their return, the newlyweds will make their home in Colorado Springs.

The bride received her Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Colorado, class of '62. The bridegroom received his Bachelor of Science degree at CU, class of '60.

The guests included Miss Elsie Vandermiller, aunt of the bridegroom from Santa Barbara, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Gates, brother-in-law and sister of the bride from Berkeley, Calif. The bride's brother, Pvt. 1. C. David George, who is stationed at Bad Tolz, Germany with the U. S. Army Hockey Team, was unable to be here. He is a former hockey player at Colorado College.

The tour started on Sept. 27 from San Francisco, with 24 in the party. Their first stop was Hawaii, then to Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, Singapore, Malaysia, Ceylon, India, Pakistan, Kuwait, Lebanon, The Holy Land, Cairo and Luxor, Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Paris and to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Graham, formerly of Colorado Springs, now of Woodland Park, held open house Sunday, Dec. 29 on the occasion of their second wedding anniversary. Their guests were close friends from Colorado Springs and Woodland Park.

Larry Daugherty, a senior at Weslyan University, Middletown, Conn., was recently given the Edward Bennett Rosa Worthy Student award.

Mrs. Edward Bennett Rosa established the bequest in 1945, as a cash Christmas present to five upper classmen deemed by the faculty to be the most deserving, from the standpoint of scholarship, personality, ability to think, and promise of usefulness.

Mr. Daugherty was graduated from Palmer High School, class of '60. He is spending the holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Daugherty of 821 N. 31st St.

Miss Carol Ann Lutes, a junior at the University of Colorado, and Roger Fenton, a sophomore, are members of the 67-voice choir which presents an annual Christmas concert at the University, and sings at various other functions and places during the school year.

Miss Lutes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lutes of 2247 N. Bennett Ave.

Mr. Fenton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Fenton of 103 N. Meade Ave.

Michael E. Wald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin S. Wald, 2814 Airport Rd., and a graduate of Palmer High School, was one of the 838 successful candidates to pass the 1963 fall Bar Examinations of the State of California.

The total class enrollment was 1585. Mr. and Mrs. Wald and little son, Robbie, make their home in Sacramento, Calif. where Michael is now practicing law with a well-known legal firm.

Sister Melanie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Hurd, 6 Via Peidras, Manitou Springs, was one of 16 novices of Mount St. Scholastica who made first profession of religious vows on Dec. 29, in the convent chapel during the Pontifical Low Mass offered by the Rt. Rev. Thomas Hartman, OSB, coadjutor abbot of St. Benedicts's Abbey, Athison.

Sister Melanie was formerly a member of Sacred Heart parish and was graduated from St. Mary's high school.

Knapp-Shear Vows Recited In Hillsboro, Wis., Church

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Shear of Hillsboro, Wis., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Elinor Christine, to Hugh Heath Knapp, son of Prof. and Mrs. Lewis M. Knapp of Colorado Springs. The ceremony took place on Dec. 28 at the First Congregational Church in Hillsboro, with the Rev. J. Paul Tatter, associate minister of Park Hill Congregational Church in Denver, and the Rev. William ~~R.~~ Schafer, minister of the local church, officiating.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of pale ivory satin and pearled Alencon lace, with a chapel length train. Her waist-length veil was held in place by a double crown of lace, and she carried red roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. E. Randall Lanier, wore a floor-length emerald green velvet gown with matching veil, and carried white spider mums. The other attendants, Mrs. Christopher Wright of Seattle, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Ruth Tatter of Denver, were similarly attired.

Serving as best man was E. Randall Lanier, a classmate of the bridegroom. Walter L. Shear of Pittsburgh, Kan. brother of the bride, and Paul J. Tatter of Denver and Colorado College, were the ushers.

A reception was held after the ceremony, in Fellowship Hall of the church.

The new Mrs. Knapp is a graduate of St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn. For the past two years she has lived in Denver, and taught music in the Littleton schools. Mr. Knapp graduated from Amherst College in Amherst, Mass., in 1960, and is in his final year at the Yale University Divinity School in New Haven, Conn. After a brief honeymoon in New York City the couple will be at home in New Haven.

Merry Matrons Hold Annual Christmas Party

The Merry Matron Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Earl Dean, 2110 Parkview Blvd. Dec 17 for the annual Christmas party.

Secret Pals were revealed and new names drawn for the coming year. Members of the club brought ornaments and candy canes to decorate a Christmas tree which was given to a needy family.

Conley-Stenback Nuptials Held in Boulder Church

St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church in Boulder was the scene of the wedding of Miss Sally Lou Stenback of Ft. Morgan and Lt. Thomas Michael Conley of Colorado Springs, at 4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 21. The Rev. Clement Lafferty performed the double ring ceremony against an altar enhanced by baskets of white mums. Mrs. Lester Richards at the organ played nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stenback of Ft. Morgan. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Conley of 12 Broadmoor Rd.

Mr. Stenback gave his daughter in marriage. Her classic gown of ivory brocade was designed with portrait neckline and elbow sleeves. The bell skirt swept into a brush train, and her bouffant veil of silk illusion was caught to a matching pillbox. Her flowers were white roses.

Miss Joan Reilly of Brytown, Tex., was maid of honor, wearing a dress of Christmas green velveteen and headdress of fresh holly. Her flowers were white button mums arranged in a nosegay.

John Conley attended his brother as best man and ushers were James Smith of Boulder and Lee Van Boven of Redlands, Calif.

The bride's mother, wearing a dress of gold brocade with gold accessories, received the guests at the reception which was held in the Century Room of the Harvest House, Boulder. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of blue brocade with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white button mums.

Mrs. James Smith of Boulder was in charge of the guest book, and Miss Beverly Heflin of Phoenix cut the cake. The punch was poured by Miss Andrea Shippey and Miss Diana Dempew.

After a honeymoon at Glenwood Springs, the newlyweds are living at Kingsville, Tex., where the bridegroom is stationed. The bride's going - away costume was a white wool knit suit with beige accessories.

Both young people attended Colorado university.

Blue Spruce Club Members to Make Resolutions

CHICAGO (UPI) — Principles of design used by artists also apply to room furnishings. They include proportion, balance, emphasis, rhythm and harmony.

A "money management" booklet (published by Household Finance Corporation) offers many useful decorating hints based on these principles of art.

To create pleasing proportions in small and medium rooms, select furnishings with slim, simple lines. Use solid colors in light or medium grey tones or small, subtle designs. But avoid large furniture, bold patterns and bright colors or furniture arrangements that divide the room. Reverse the rules for large room.

High ceiling rooms can be scaled down by using darker colors on the ceiling than on walls. Choose furnishings and decorative effects with horizontal lines.

In long and narrow rooms, room dividers, mirrors on side walls, contrasting colors or emphasis on end walls proportion space.

The two types of balance include formal, when items on either side of a center are equal; or informal, when items on either side are placed at different distances from the center.

It is harder to arrange informal balance, but the effect is more interesting.

To achieve emphasis, furnishings should be arranged to draw the eye first to the center of interest and then to every other detail in order of importance.

Rhythm in a design leads the eye in an orderly manner from one object to another. It can be achieved by repeating lines, forms, colors, patterns and textures.

The end result of the first four principles: harmony, the achievement of a pleasing whole which express variety and unity.

The experts say so.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

In Response!

DEAR READERS: A few weeks ago I ran this letter in my column:

Dear Abby: Happiness is knowing your parents won't almost kill you if you come home a little late. Happiness is having your own bedroom. Happiness is having parents who trust you. Happiness is getting the telephone call you've been praying for. Happiness is getting good grades and making your parents proud of you. Happiness is being included in the popular circle. Happiness is having parents who don't fight. Happiness is knowing you are as well-dressed as anybody. Happiness is something I don't have. — FIFTEEN AND UNHAPPY

I received hundreds of letters from readers who wrote to comment. Here are a few:

DEAR FIFTEEN AND UNHAPPY: Happiness is coming home on time so your parents won't worry. Happiness is having someone to share a bedroom with. Happiness is proving to your parents that you can be trusted. Happiness is in realizing that sometimes you're lucky you don't get what you pray for because it isn't always good for you. Happiness is including someone who is lonely and unpopular in your circle. Happiness is in having two parents who haven't already fought it out in the divorce court. Happiness is keeping the clothes you have neat and clean and not worrying about whether somebody else is "better-dressed." Happiness is not something you get. It's something you give.

FIFTEEN AND HAPPY in Richmond, Va.

DEAR FIFTEEN AND UNHAPPY: Unhappiness is having to punish your 15-year-old for coming home late because if we didn't he'd keep coming home later and later. Unhappiness is listening to your son gripe about having to share a room with his brother when he should be old enough to understand that all parents aren't financially able to provide each child with his own bedroom. Unhappiness is knowing that your 15-year-old can't be trusted. Unhappiness is finding out that the reason your son's grades are poor is because he cut classes, came unprepared for tests and never did his homework. Unhappiness is in knowing that the "popular circle" your son runs with will call him "chicken" if he doesn't do what they do, regardless. Unhappiness is knowing that your son will be well-dressed only if you hang up his clothes, shine his shoes and see that he changes his socks, and underwear. Unhappiness is something we have brought on ourselves because we loved our son so much we couldn't say NO to him. —UNHAPPY PARENTS

DEAR ABBY: We're a bunch of guys in Vietnam doing a job for Uncle Sam, and we read your column in the Stars and Stripes. That 15-year-old kid who was unhappy because she didn't have a bedroom of her own, didn't get the telephone calls she wanted, and wasn't as well-dressed as some of the other kids, sure has a lot to learn. Do you know what happiness is for the kids here?

Happiness is having enough to eat so when you go to sleep at night your stomach doesn't ache. Happiness is having shoes on your feet and any kind of clothing to keep the cold out. Happiness is having a roof over your head. Happiness is the hope that maybe you'll be lucky enough to get some kind of an education. Happiness is believing that the dream of freedom, brotherhood and peace for all mankind will someday come true. —MOREY, CLIFF, WHITEY AND GUS

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I am a fifteen-year-old teenager. I wear white socks.

Naturally, I walk around the house stocking-footed. Within an hour or so my socks are black on the bottom.

My mother does not like this . . . she said she could never get them clean and truly she couldn't until I made a little discovery (after she made me wash my own!)

I tried putting the socks in a basin of hot suds and adding bleach to it but it still did not get the bottoms clean.

So after the socks were thoroughly wet I laid them on the drainboard and picked up my mother's scouring powder (the type which says "contains bleach") and sprinkled some of it on the bottom of the socks.

Then I put a little water on the socks, picked up the scrub brush and scrubbed the scouring powder into the fibers.

Then I left the socks on the drainboard for about thirty minutes.

Do you know that when I put those socks back in the sink with some hot water and let them soak a few minutes and then scrubbed them between my hands with my fists that the black was gone?

Now I dampen and soak my socks with the scrubbing powder and throw them in with Mother's tub of white clothes. Just a slight soak for 20 minutes in the scouring powder sure fixes them.

And say, teen-agers, it's far easier to pull off your white socks and walk around barefooted . . . and wash your feet . . . than it is to have to wash your own socks. —Mat Matlock

Dear Heloise:

My husband taught me the best way to run a home-type buffer when waxing highly-polished floors:

Never go around in circles. This causes streaks.

Never go up and down as this causes streaks, also.

Always run the buffer from left to right or side to side . . .

After the floor has been polished this way "first" . . . you can then run the buffer any direction you see fit and you will never have a streak. —Bemarie Burns

Dear Folks:

Most amazing thing I've ever seen. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I would like to send a big bunch of flowers to the person who sent in the hint to you about using peanut butter to get chewing gum out of little girls' hair! I have four girls and three of them have long hair.

It has been a real lifesaver to me. —Mary Jo

All we said was that when chewing gum is stuck in a child's hair, don't take to the scissors . . .

Take some peanut butter, put it between your fingers and massage it into the strand of hair. Then take a facial tissue and pull the glop of chewing gum down the hair strands and all of the chewing gum will come out with no need of scissors. —Heloise

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

First off . . . I must tell you of a little "pun" my husband made:

I was doing something —don't remember just what now — that I had read about in your column and he asked me where I got the idea and I told him: "Heloise".

So he promptly came back with "Who in the "Heloise" is running this house?" —Lydia Sigman

Kit Carson Circle Will Elect Officers

Kit Carson Circle 9, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, will have a regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Edith Platt, 1022 N. Arcadia St.

There will be an election of officers. All members are reminded to be present.

A BLOOMIN' WEED

Just for kicks, Pratt keeps one plant of some variety of weed growing in a flower bed around the courthouse.

Pratt makes certain it doesn't multiply.

Medical Advances Battle Killing, Crippling Ills

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The bill of particulars on medical advances in 1963 includes:

—Improved surgical techniques for heart and blood pipeline defects.

—Development of new chemical bullets for the treatment of certain kinds of cancer.

—Widespread use of the Sabin polio virus vaccine, given orally.

— Availability of two new measles vaccines.

—The introduction of new antibiotics, enabling medicine to keep one step ahead of organisms which develop resistance to super drugs.

On the minus side, a reported increase in veneral disease and lung cancer.

The credits and debits were cited in a statement to United Press International by Dr. Hugh H. Hussey, director of scientific activities for the American Medical Association.

Advance Organ Transplants

The most exciting medical story of the year still is in the breakthrough stage. It concerns man's ability to provide spare parts for the human body through organ transplant.

Science long has dreamed of the day when a kidney or liver or lung on the blink could be replaced by a workable one from a donor — especially from victims of fatal auto accidents.

The major gains in organ transplant were with kidneys. Kidney transplants between identical twins have been workable for the last 10 years. But transplants between persons genetically different, even though they might be related by birth, offered little promise of success and were used as a last-chance gamble.

The odds seem to be getting better. This has been largely brought about through new methods for suppressing the immunological mechanism — the system which enables a human to battle invasive bacteria and viruses.

The work with kidneys offers a possible springboard to the transplantation of other organs. There was no lasting success in attempts to transplant liver and lungs during the year. But there were indications that these, too, may develop into effective measures.

During the year, too, there was a medical advance connected with the tragic discovery that thalidomide was linked to severe birth defects.

In the wake of that discovery the Food and Drug Administration was reorganized, rules to protect the public were tightened and the agency was given more scientific manpower with which to help evaluate claims of new drugs.

Upset Miracle Claims

Another drug, long controversial, made news. The drug: krebiozen, offered as a cancer cure.

During the year, an analysis of the substance by researchers at the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) turned up evidence that the substance is crecal, known to be of no use in cancer treatment.

The FDA called the evidence "unimpeachable."

On the drug front there was progress. A new pain relieving drug, pentazocine, was in the final stages of clinical research.

It is said to be as potent as morphine but non-addicting.

Hot Clue Along Cancer Trail

A new anti-leukemia drug, vincristine, was introduced. Also developed was a technique for the synthesis of steroids. This could mean that hormone-like drugs could be tailor-made to fit specific situations.

One of the hottest clues along the cancer trail was further evidence that the disease might be virus-linked.

A study of the families of eight Niles, Ill., children ill with the disease in a three-year period and of four other leukemic children showed that in each of the 12 families: one to three persons had leukemia antibodies although they were not found in all 57 non-leukemic members of the families.

"We interpret these findings to mean that exposure to leukemogenic (leukemian causing) viruses leads to the formation of antibodies in some and leukemia in others," researchers said.

Robots Match Medics' Wits

Computers nosed into the medical field more extensively during the year. One, programmed to act as an expert medical consultant, passed its test with flying colors.

The problem tackled by the robot was diagnosing one of three thyroid conditions — overactive, underactive, or normal — on the basis of information supplied on individual patients.

The machine came up with the same answer as the diagnosing physician in 258 of 268 cases. That was 96 per cent on the target!

Reports Singe Cigarettes

Other developments of significance during the year:

—The average daily charge for a hospital bed in the United States increased by $1. The figure rose from $18.40 to $19.40. Charges varied, depending on the area of the country. In Mississippi, the charge was $10.60; in San Francisco, $29.

—American athletes were being used to sing the virtues of non-smoking. Through a series of ads, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, sports stars such as Bob Mathias say, "I don't think anyone who wants to be an athlete should smoke. I can't tell you not to smoke, but before you take that first drag, do me a favor. Take one long, deep breath of fresh air. Then decide." The ads were in the works before the release of several reports citing health risks involved in smoking. New York City's Health Department meanwhile, announced a plan for clinics to help smokers stop lighting up.

—The first 25 federal grants under the new mass vaccination program — against polio, diptheria, tetanus, whooping cough —were announced by the U. S. Public Health Service. Totaling $3.4 million, the grants went to 18 state and seven city-health departments to aid in community immunization programs for children under five especially. The program was proposed by President Kennedy in his last state of the union message.

—The American Cancer Society announced at least 48,000 cancer patients will be saved this year who would have died if they had developed the disease about 25 years ago.

March-of-Dimes supported research at the University of Colorado led to the development of an accurate blood test to detect both victims and symptom-free carriers of an inherited disease called galactosemia. This is a chemical birth defect which causes mental retardation in babies when they drink milk. Dr. Arthur Robinson perfected the test.

— New submarine surgery was found to help blue babies. The American Heart Association said the new hope for the thousands of blue babies born nationwide each year may lie inside the submarine-like chambers where atmospheric pressure simulates that found at 80 to 90 feet below sea level. In these high pessure chambers, the tissues of an oxygen starved blue baby can be suffused with oxygen long enough for surgeons to perform corrective surgery.

—There was tentative identification of several viruses as causing miscarriage, stillbirths and birth defects when mothers to-be are infected during pregnancy. The evidence is preliminary.

Cold War Stands Still

The year brought no miracle solution for persons bothered by sniffles. Ditto for the fat of the land.

The Biblical advice — starve it off — was touted by some doctors as a better way to lose weight, under medical supervision.

The old time remedy — to bed two weeks for a fortnight — still was being suggested as a most hopeful cure for the common cold.

The most popular remedy: see a doctor and the cold's cured in seven days; ignore it and it goes away in a week!

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Double	Redouble	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Two of ♠ South became declarer at a contract of three notrump on a bidding sequence that one does not frequently encounter. North's opening bid was rather of the synthetic type. Every jack and every bit of distribution had to be combined in order to bring the hand within the legal limit of an "optional opening." The hand contains 11 points in high cards and two for distribution.

On behalf of North it must be said that possession of a good six card suit renders the rebidding problem somewhat simple. East, of course, doubled and South had a natural redouble, despite the lack of support for partner's suit. Having a hand that was equal to an opening bid, he had reason to contemplate either a game contract, or the collection of tribute from the enemy in the way of a penalty double. The way to announce such holding is by a redouble. West's pass asked partner to shift for himself and North made a peculiar rebid of two clubs.

This unnecessary rebid is a violation of the convention which requires that the redoubler be given the courtesy of the next "shot." The common sense interpretation of his bid would seem to be this: "Partner, I opened a rather weak hand with a long club suit and am not interested in a penalty double at a low level. You may act accordingly." South chose to contract for game at notrump, for which he had the necessary high card values.

West led the two of spades, dummy played the ten and East ducked. There was little doubt that declarer had the ace and he wished to deprive dummy of an additional entry. Declarer had then and there to decide whether to develop the club suit or the diamonds. He chose the clubs which could be established by relinquishing the lead only once. Not losing sight of the necessity for retaining an entry in dummy, he overtok the spade ten with the ace. This was followed by overtaking the king of clubs with the ace and continuing with the jack.

East won with the queen and shifted to the queen of hearts which declarer took with the king. A spade lead then put East in, but declarer was safe. He could cash five clubs, two hearts, and two spades.

This line of play involved the risk that West would have the queen of clubs and shift to a diamond upon winning that trick. But it could not be avoided. If three diamond tricks were available to the defense, the hand could not be won by going for diamonds, for the enemy would have time to shift to hearts and set up tricks in that suit.

Sloppy By Choice

A top executive in the men's clothing industry says that any time he sees a badly dressed man he's "either a bachelor, or married to a woman who doesn't care."

The gentleman is overlooking one likely bet — especially if the wife looks like a fashion model and the husband loks like an unmade bed, and that is that the husband enjoys playing the part of a man who is plain as an old shoe and couldn't care less about proper dress.

If the man has plenty of money — and men who really work at looking as tho they are above being clothes-conscious usually do — you can be sure he depends on his wife to do all the dressing up for the family.

As long as his wife's clothes are expensive enough and well-chosen enough and appropriate enough to give her a best-dressed look, the man who walks at her side can afford to be careless about how he looks. Everyone can tell from a glance at his wife that lack of money or not knowing how to dress correctly isn't HIS problem. So he can relax in his old clothes and feel like a character no one will mistake for a tramp.

If his wife tries to make him pay more attention to his dress, he can even make her feel a little foolish by seeming to be above such superficial values as dressing correctly to impress others.

But you can be pretty sure that if his wife ever decided to be as indifferent to clothes as her husband is — he wouldn't like it a bit.

For she is his window dressing; she is his sign that says louder than words, "I am a successful and well-to-do gentleman, even tho I don't dress like one."

So the poorly dressed man, who could well afford to be well-dressed, probably isn't married to a woman who doesn't care. His wife just maybe is a woman who dresses well enough to let her husband get by in the "plain-as-an-old-shoe" role he has chosen for himself.

Cowder-Munday Nuptials Held at First Christian

Mary Alice Munday became the bride of Lt. James Richard Cowder in a double ring ceremony Dec. 29 at the First Christian Church, Greeley, with the Rev. Leslie L. Bowers, Jr. and the Rev. Clifford I. Cecil officiating. This was a formal military wedding with crossed sabres at the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Munday, 1734 8th Ave., Greeley. The bridegroom, formerly of Colorado Springs, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Cowder, 409 Munger St., Hannibal, Mo.

The church was decorated with two floral arrangements of flocked ponderosa pine and white mums. The altar was decorated with seven - branched candelabra with 14 tapers. Pink and white satin marked the pews. Mrs. Daniel Wallace, organist, played the traditional nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pure silk ivory organza over taffeta. The boat neckline was edged with Alencon lace and re-embroidered with seed and rice pearls. The gown had a fitted bodice with elbow - length sleeves, and a bell skirt extending to a chapel train. The chin length veil of French illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white mums.

The maid of honor, Miss Carolyn Crist, and the bridesmaid, Miss Ilene Ries, wore floor length gowns of cranberry slipper satin trimmed in brocade of the same color. The gowns had square necklines, long sleeves and semi-sheath skirts with detachable court trains. Their headpieces were Dior roses of powder pink with matching veils. They wore cranberry satin slippers and each carried a single pale pink rose.

The flower girl was Miss Jeane Noe. The ring bearer was Master Randy Kurtz. Lt. Wesley White was the best man. Jay Barbee, Lt. John Steele, Lt. Cary Bennett and Lt. Lawrence Steinbrink were the ushers.

The bride wore a cerise suit with a white fur pillbox hat, white gloves, black shoes and purse and a gardenia corsage when the couple left on their wedding trip to Water Wheel Lodge in Rocky Mountain National Park.

The bride attended Western State College in Gunnison and Colorado State College in Greeley. She is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority. The bridegroom attended La Grange Junior College, Hannibal, Mo. and is a 1963 graduate of the Air Force Academy. He is taking Pilot Training at Vance AFB, Enid, Okla. The couple's future residence will be 433 S. Polk, Enid, Okla.

Fetterhoff-Giersch Vows Recited in Shove Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Giersch of 1302 Park View Blvd. announce the marriage of their daughter, Judith Ann, to Charles Eugene Fetterhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Fetterhoff of Playa del Rey, Calif.

The double ring ceremony was held at Shove Memorial Chapel at 2 p.m. Dec. 21. The Rev. Sigurd E. Burch Jr., officiated. The altar was decorated with baskets of white crysanthemums and silver pom pons accented with holly greens. A fourteen-spiral candelabrum accompanied each basket.

The soloist was Miss Betty Douglas who sang "The Song of Ruth" and "O! Perfect Love" before the ceremony. Dr. Julius Baird played the organ.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight brocade featuring a beaded empire bodice and a full skirt that extended to a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was caught to a pillbox of seed pearls and ivory leaves. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids.

Miss Barbara Giersch, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Linda Harmon of Greeley, Betty Porte of Colorado Springs, and Carolyn Roderick of Denver, cousin of the bridegroom. They wore ballerina gowns of deep blue brocade and silver pillbox hats with matching veils. They carried boughs of white evergreen accented with silver pine cones and silver bells.

The brother of the bridegroom, Jack Fetterhoff, served as best man. The groomsmen were Jim Shepard of Great Bend Kan., and Dave Wheaton of Las Vegas, N. M. The ushers were John Giersch, brother of the bride, Dave Slemon, and Lee Hubby, all of Colorado Springs.

The flower girl was Miss Gail Barrow who also wore a deep blue brocade dress. The ring bearer was Charles Fetterhoff, nephew of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a green and gold sheath with gold accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a blue sheath of chiffon over silk and matching accessories. They wore corsages of white orchids.

After a wedding trip to Los Angeles, the couple will make their home in San Diego, Calif.

The bride attended Colorado University where she was pledged to Chi Omega Sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate from Colorado University where he was president of his fraternity, Kappa Sigma.

In 1940, the British Empire covered nearly 16 million square miles of the earth, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Casting Date Bait

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you meet a man you want to see again, handle your first date this way:

Don't try too hard to impress him with how popular you are, how smart you are, or how sophisticated you are. From the youngest to the oldest, men like to do the impressing.

Don't tell him everything about yourself, so that there is nothing left for him to wonder about.

Chatter along when it is necessary to fill an awkward silence or put him at ease if he is the shy type, but don't talk so much he doesn't get a chance to do anything but listen.

You may be dying to know who he has been dating, but don't ask. That sounds too much as though you have designs on him.

Don't drag a girl friend and her date in on the party, unless he suggests it. Let him make the plans for the evening.

Don't stay out late on your first date. Bring it to an end while you're both having fun and wishing the evening didn't have to end so soon.

Don't give him any false impressions about yourself or your family. Let him accept you for exactly what you are.

No parking—even if he tries it. After all, if you park with him on your first date, he'll certainly assume that you are always that quick to get acquainted.

Don't ask him to call you, or try to rope him in on some doings your crowd is cooking up. Let him wnder if he is going to see you again.

Be sure that when you say good night you make it clear that the most pleasant thing about the evening was being with him.

Lt. Marrin Rolf Brown Weds JoAnne Louise Nichols

The bride, currently of Colorado Springs, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray U. Nichols, Auburn, Kan. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Brown, Rarenden, Ark.

The church was decorated with two altar bouquets and two large baskets of red carnations and white mums. Traditional nuptial music was played.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The wedding gown, designed and made, by the bride, was of delustered satin and featured a fitted bodice with a high neckline. The neckline and waist were trimmed with seed pearls and the full street-length skirt was pleated. The ballerina length veil was caught to a double tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid tipped with red and a cascade of white and red carnations.

The maid of honor, Miss Norma Hintz, Goodland, Kan., wore a carnation red dress of delustered satin. The bodice was identical to the bride's gown and also had a full skirt. She wore a white fur halo and carried a white fur muff trimmed with holly.

The bride wore a three piece wool knit traveling costume of black and aqua with black accessories and an orchid corsage, when the couple left on their wedding trip to Brownsville, Tex. Their future residence will be 916 N. Prospect St.

The bride attended Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kan. She is currently employed as a Home Economics teacher as West Junior High in Colorado Springs. The bridegroom attended Wichita University in Wichita, Kan. He is in the Air Force and is currently stationed at Ent Air Force Base.

WEATHER SWITCH

LONDON (UPI)—A year ago today, Britain was suffering its worst winter storms in centuries and cold and snow records were being broken across the nation.

Temperatures today were in the 50's in most British towns, outdoor cafes and tennis courts were crowded and the weatherman said the mild weather was expected to continue for several more days.

LT. AND MRS. FRITZ FRIANT

Lt. Fritz Friant Weds Miss Gailen Woodburn

Miss Gailen Woodburn and Lt. Fritz Friant were united in marriage at 11 a.m. Dec. 21 at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Roswell, N.M. The Rev. Charles R. Davies officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with pink and white carnations. Mrs. C. V. Wilson at the organ played traditional selections.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Woodburn of Roswell, N.M., Rt. 2, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Col. and Mrs. Stuart T. Friant of 11 W. Madison St., Colorado Springs.

Karen Pond of Taos was maid of honor, and William Hover of Boulder was best man.

A luncheon and reception were held at Hiway House, after which the couple left for Albuquerque, where they will make their home at 1036 St., S.E., Apt. 4. They also went to Phoenix for their honeymoon.

The bride chose for her traveling suit a blue wool ensemble. She received her B.A. degree at Colorado Woman's College, Denver, and is now teaching in the Albuquerque elementary schools.

Out of town guests included the bridegroom's parents: Col. and Mrs. Robert S. Friant, Jean and Annette Friant of Colorado Springs; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. FOUR-YEAR SABBATICAL CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Danny, the Persian cat, has come home after an absence of four years. He disappeared in 1960, and suddenly showed up again.

"He comes in morning, noon and night and has settled down as if he'd never been gone," says Mrs. C. Howard Ball.

"I'd give anything to know what he's been doing these four years."

Word From The Unwise

Straight from Washingto State Health Department come this advice to busy housewives

—"Scramble the work instea of finishing arduous tasks, on at a time, so as to use differen sets of muscles.

—"Avoid hurrying. Frequen short rest periods are more val uable than one long rest perio after a job is done.

—"Don't sit too long in on position."

Obviously nobody followed busy housewife around for week or two before offering tha advice, or the observer woul have seen that most of th words of caution are entirel unnecessary.

Any busy housewife, with under - school - age children has t scramble her work. If she eve gets to finish a job without interruption, it seems like a miracle.

As for sitting too long in one position, how the busy housewife wishes she could just find some time to sit! But sure as she sits down, a toddler gets into mischief and has to be rescued, or a young one gets hurt and needs to be comforted, or a kid fight has to be broken up — or if all should be quiet for a little while, the housewife's conscience tells her she really should tackle the windows that need washing or get back to the ironing board.

So the housewife doesn't need to be advised to keep her rest periods short. That is the only kind she ever gets, anyway.

She'll be well into her middle years before there is any danger of her sitting too long in one position.

If for just one day a busy housewife could finish an "arduous task" without a single interruption, and when it was finished get a good long rest, just by sitting a long, long time without the doorbell or the telephone ringing or any demands from the children, she would think she had had a fine day.

Meal and portion - size packages and containers freeze quickly and safely, take less time to defrost for use, and create fewer space problems in packing a freezer or refrigerator-freezer.

These tips come from an Iowa manufacturer, Amana Refrigeration, Inc., which has other suggestions for solving the leftover problem. Samples:

Slice, dice or chop cooked meat before packaging it so that it will be completely ready for use when you remove it from the freezer.

Freeze packages or containers of leftover stuffing and gravy separately. Make the carcass into a rich broth, then freeze it in ice cube trays or pans. Cubes are especially convenient when stored together in a heavy plastic bag; you can remove only as many as you need for one meal.

Leftover cranberry sauce also freezes well. If you want to save cooked vegetables for a salad, marinate them in French dressing before freezing.

Relishes and raw vegetables —carrot and celery sticks, for example—can be sauteed in a little butter or margarine, then frozen in muffin cups and stored in plastic bags. One portion adds flavor and nutritional value to stews, soups and casseroles.

Leftover fresh fruit salad may be frozen if bananas are omitted. Add about 2 tablespoons of simple syrup (sugar dissolved in water) if the fruit is unsweetened.

Both mince and pumpkin pies can be frozen as is, wrapped in moisture and vapor-proof material. Frozen pie can be reheated for 20-30 minutes in a preheated 375 - degree oven. Freeze individual mounds of whipped cream or hard sauce on pans lined with waxed paper, then package for storage.

Such leftovers should not be held more than a week or two in the freezing compartment of a single door refrigerator.

But most can be kept safely and without quality changes for three months or more in a zero-degree freezer. Cooked vegetables begin to decline in quality after four to six weeks. Baked goods keep longer than the three-month period.

Packaging material should be moisture and vapor proof. All foods should be wrapped or packaged tightly to eliminate air space. When freezing anything with liquids, allow ½-inch headroom in the container to allow for expansion.

Good wraps include coated and laminated freezer paper, plastic sheet film and bags (check to make sure they are not torn or punctured), and freezer foil. Lightweight household foil does not provide adequate protection.

All food should be chilled and frozen quickly to prevent spoilage. Packages to be frozen should be placed in direct contact with a freezing plate—on a horizontal shelf in an upright freezer or refrigerator freezing compartment, or against inside walls in chest type freezer.

LEFTOVERS SUPREME

Turkey casserole exceptional is easy to make with frozen leftovers. Butter bottom and sides of a 2-quart baking dish. Cover with two cups of turkey stuffing. Top with 1 cup each of chopped cooked turkey and turkey gravy, another 2 cups of stuffing and another cup each of turkey and gravy. Dot with ¼ cup of jellied cranberry sauce, cubed. Bake 30 minutes in preheated 350-degree oven. Serves 6.

Who Wants To Know?

When a homecoming husband asks his wife, "Well, Honey, what have you been doing all day?" it's no wonder she so often dismisses his routine question with, "Oh, nothing special."

If he assumes that means she has had an easy day, he is probably wrong.

But it is hard to make a husband listen to a real account of "her day," or appreciate her minor trials and tribulations, such as:

—Spending an hour getting a stubborn stain out of the living room carpet.

—Running a half-dozen errands and chauffeuring several children to and from schools.

—Waiting for the repairman who doesn't show up — even tho he promised he would.

—Going to several stores to find what she supposed would be an easy-to-find article.

—Making herself do such much-disliked chores as cleaning closets and defrosting the refrigerator.

—Baking cookies for some organization one of the children belongs to.

Such are the kind of items that make up a housewife's usual day, and they aren't exactly the kind of experiences that good conversation is made of.

But the housewife shouldn't worry too much about that. After all, when she asks her husband what kind of day he had, he usually gives her the same kind of noncommital answer. This probably means that his day was as full of routine, petty annoyances and simple drudgery as was hers.

And she probably isn't any more interested in having a detailed account of his day than he is in having a blow-by-blow account of hers.

British Study Nikita's Plan

LONDON (AP) — The British government saw little new Friday in Premier Khrushchev's note on renunciation of force in territorial disputes, but said it is being studied carefully.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the government is interested in discovering whether Khrushchev is proposing any extension or elaboration of existing obligations under the United Nations charter.

The lengthy note was delivered to the Foreign Office Thursday by Soviet Ambassador Aleksandr Soldatov.

'RAG TIME KID'—Opening a two-week engagement at the Golden Bee in the Broadmoor International Center on Monday, is Percy Franks, "The Last of the Ragtime Kids." Franks is a 72-year-old kid who makes the piano shake, rattle and roll. Acclaimed nationally as one of the top ragtime piano players working in show business today, he has appeared with Jack Bailey and Herb Shriner and toured fifty weeks with Fred Allen who remembered Percy with warmth and praise on pages 197 and 198 of his autobiography, "Much Ado About Me." He is a veteran of the vaudeville circuits, Show Boats and the best honky tonk piano bars throughout the country. He records for Mel-O-Tone Rtcords. One of his specialties is doing a duet with himself during which his left hand plays "Dixie" while his right plays "Yankee Doodle." He can play 16 versions of "Merrily We Roll Along," ranging from Chinese to "long hair." Some of these are done as he faces the audience with his back to the piano; other numbers are played while he's wearing four pair of gloves. Sometimes he does a soft shoe dance while playing, and has been known to vary the entertainment by hammering out a rhythmic "Chopsticks" with his big toe. Another favorite antic is to play the "Twelfth Street Rag" with a black cloth spread over the piano.

Barbershoppers To Present Sweetheart Show

A dinner meeting in the Broadmoor Tavern hummed with the overtones of five local members of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America Friday night as they planned the upcoming parade of quartets to be presented in the City Auditorium Feb. 15.

Under the production and direction of Prof. Woodson Tyree of Colorado College, the local barbershoppers will present the Pikes Peak Barbership Chorus along with local and visiting quartets in singing of "Sweetheart Songs" done in barbershop style.

Quartets included in the presentation will be the current Central States District Champion "Hi-Chords from Colorado Springs and the 1958 International Champion "Gay-Notes" from Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Information about this show can be had by writing or calling Jack Slocum at 1616 Palmer Park Blvd.

When serving blocks of cheese or other hors d'oeuvres, instead of using the usual toothpicks inserted as a handle for easy eating, use a pretzel stick. Hors d'oeuvres and handles can both be consumed.

Duck Hunters Meet With Flock

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—Two Crossett, hunters met their quarry sooner than expected Wednesday when their light plane collided with a flock of ducks over the Arkansas River near Stuttgart.

Jack Stell was piloting the plane when ducks crashed through its windshield into the passenger compartment, broke landing lights, crushed the propeller spinner, damaged the leading edges of the wings and tail and broke open an oil line.

The passengers were covered with blood and feathers, but closer examination showed one hunter had only a broken fingernail and anohter two minor scratches.

They didn't estimate their "kill."

State Billing Patients for Complete Costs

DENVER (UPI)—State Institions Director David A. Hamil said Friday new rules had gone into effect for billing patients of state institutions for the full cost of their treatment.

The rules were formulated to comply with a new interpretation of the state law on billing by Atty. Gen. Duke Dunbar. The rules make patients or their relatives liable for the full average monthly cost of treatment.

Gov. John Love said earlier he planned to ask the 1964 Legislature, which convenes Wednesday, to adopt a more realistic law. Hamil said a bill had been drafted which would permit the state to determine a patient's ability to pay for his treatment, rather than billing each patient the same.

Under the proposed change in the law, Hamil said, the bill would be considered completely settled when the patient paid what he was charged on an ability to pay basis.

The new billing went into effect at the State Hospital at Pueblo and the State Home and Training Schools at Ridge and Grand Junction. The average monthly cost at the Pueblo Hospital is $316; $240.25 at Ridge and $193.75 at Grand Junction. Patients or relatives now pay $95 a month or less.

Temple Baptist Shares Bible Reading Program

The Temple Baptist Church, 1131 E. Columbine Blvd., will share in the International Bible Reading Program, "Once More In '64."

The program is designed to help readers read the Bible thru during 1964.

A similar program used in 1962 proved that one out of ten registered readers read the Bible thru in a single year.

The local pastor, the Rev. Philip N. Smith, presented and explained the program in full at the 11 p.m. service today. The pastor expects about 100 adult readers to register their intention to read the Bible during the next year.

The Rev. C. Chester Larson of Minneapolis, Minn., director and promoter of the program, reports that from a survey taken in 1960, only one out of 21 people had read the Bible thru at least once. In the same survey, he found that of those who read the Bible thru, one out of ten had done in a single year.

The Rev. Larson recently said, "Bible reading is basic to Bible study. Bible study is basic to Bible living. Bible living is basic in helping people solve their many complex problems of our age. Bible reading is one of the ways whereby people, both young and old, can reveal to a lost and dying, hopeless world a living, vital faith in an eternal God. If all who believe that the Word of God is the only hope in our world today would read it thru once more in 64, the impact would be felt around the world."

New York Board Plans Crack Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The Board of Education, whose school custodians have made as much as $53,000 a year, says it will adopt new schedules at its meeting Wednesday to prevent excessive earnings.

The custodians' union has threatened to strike if it does.

Witnesses at a public hearing last month testified the average "net retained" by custodians, quasi - independent contractors, was $17,000 in the last fiscal year.

A basic annual income of $5,700 to $12,000 for a 40-hour week would be established by the new schedules.

Said Harry J. Mundy, president of the Local 891, International Union of Operating Engineers, which represents 820 of the school system's 850 custodians:

"This is a lousy, inept, vindictive, punitive administration."

Frostbite Is Ever Present Danger in Winter

Frostbite is an ever present danger in winter in much of the nation. It can be a serious injury.

First signs of frostbite are "pins and needles" prickly feeling and then numbness, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. The affected part will turn white or gray, and later red.

Frostbite can be very painful for a long period, can result in amputations and leave the victim hypersensitive to cold for the rest of his life. In some ways the damage is similar to a burn.

Prevention is the best protection against frostbite. Dress properly in warm clothing, waterproof shoes and heavy dry socks. Cover face and ears. Keep clothring dry from outside moisture and from perspiration. Avoid tight clothing or garters that may restrict circulation.

Motorists should carry heavy clothing and shoes in the car. It might be necessary to hike to a garage for assistance if the motor stalls.

The first step in first aid is thawing of frozen body tissue. Bring the victim indoors to a warm room. Treat the frozen part with gentleness. Don't rub or massage. Ice or snow applied to the frozen part merely delays thawing.

Promptl medical treatment is important. Control of severe pain is required. Antibiotics and antitetanus injections may be needed if the skin is broken.

First degree frostbite, similar to sunburn, is likely to attack the ears, toes, fingers, cheeks or nose. Second degree frostbite produces blisters, and third degree freezing damages deep tissues. Much of the frozen part may be lost.

Most cases of frostbite need not have happened, if the victim had been properly dressed and had used judgment about staying out too long in subfreezing weather.

Maurice Baker Named Insurance Group Member

Maurice G. Baker of the Baker Realty Company, has been appointed to serve on the property committee of the National Association of Insurance Agents and as a member of the resolutions committee of the National Board of NAIA.

Five other prominent Colorado insurance executives have also been appointed to committees of the NAIA.

These are Peter J. Walsh, Denver, who will serve as chairman of the NAIA Casualty Committee and as a member of the technical conference committee Walker A. Garrott, Denver, who will serve as vice chairman of the fidelity and surety committee; Norman V. Cohn, Denver, vice chairman of the metropolitan and large lines committee; Gerard TeBockhorst, Denver, who has been appointed to his second term on the NAIA Special Advertising Committee; and Charles L. Lott, Greeley, who will serve on the educational committee.

Baker has long been active in the Colorado Springs Insurors Association, Inc. and the Colorado Insurors Association Inc., organizations of professional independent insurance agents affiliated with the National Association.

He has just completed three years' service as state national director for Colorado to the NAIA and is a past president of the Colorado Insurors Association.

Home Fires Seen a National Problem

People everywhere today were asked to help prevent fires during the coming year and hold down the nation's tragic fire toll in lives and property damage.

"Preventing fires is the job of every individual, his next door neighbor, and the man down the street," said Lewis A. Vincent, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

"The loss of a single loved one is a family tragedy. Yet more than 11,800 persons lost their lives because of fire in the year 1962 and the present year promises to be no better.

A glance at the headlines on the day after Christmas shows this grim news: twelve sleeping children burned to death by fire, started as gifts were being placed under the Christmas tree; a family of six in Michigan, wiped out by fire; a Christmas tree fire in Indiana, with the death of two toddlers; an early morning blaze in Ohio, killing two brothers. This was but a partial report of tragedy at Christmas.

The same grim news of death by fire has appeared in the papers day after day all thru the year.

"Contrary to what you may think, these fire fatalities and fire injuries did not occur in one or two or three big multi-million dollar fires. Most occurred in the thousands of home fires which happen round - the - clock across the nation.

"These residential fires are responsible for the overwhelming majority of fire deaths and injuries. They, too, were a factor in pushing fire losses, dollarwise, to the highest on record in 1963."

Vincent estimated that fire losses in the U. S. in the year just ending totaled $1,411,000,000, an increase of 11.5 per cent over the preceding year.

Important factors contributing to the increasing fire waste, Vincent said, are: the upward trend in property values and construction costs; the millions of homes and other burnable structures which have been added to the national wealth in the post-war years, and the ever - increasing population whose carelessness is responsible for the bulk of all fires.

"The efficiency of the fire services for the nation as a whole has been rising, but the have to cope with has been exfire-fighting job the services have to cope with has been expanding, too," Vincent added.

It is in the category of home fires — the houses on your street, in the next block, and in the next town — that the large number of fires in our nation occur.

It will take continuing fire prevention awareness and activity at home and at work on the part of all of us in this country if we are to hold down fires during the coming year," Vincent said.

Art Center Will Show Mexican Art Exhibit

An exhibition of Mexican art, titled "The Bold Tradition," will open at the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center Tuesday for viewing thru January.

The exhibition contains some 15 paintings, 17 prints and a number of sculptures depicting all different periods in the bold tradition of art from this colorful country.

There is an excellent selection of Pre-Columbian sculpture with the paintings and prints dating from the Colonial thru the Contemporary period.

Examples by such well-known artists as Orozco, Tamayo, Galvan, Zalce Rivera and Siqueiros are to be seen in the exhibition of contemporary painting.

Of special interest to Colorado Springs is the representation of two artists, Roberto Montenegro and Jean Charlot, who have been on the faculty of the Fine Arts Center in past years.

The exhibition is being made available thru the courtesy of the International Business Machines Corp.

Dodge in State Tax Probed by Officials

DENVER (UPI)— The Colorado Department of Revenue reported Friday that an audit made in northeast Colorado showed residents dodged the state use tax on about $1 million worth of purchases made outside the state.

The audit was made primarily in Phillips, Sedgwick and Yuma counties. Revenue Director High H. C. Weed Jr. said the audit pointed up the need for a crackdown on persons who buy goods outside the state for use in Colorado and do not pay the use tax.

Violations were turned up by checking mortgage records held by county governments and by "leads supplied by Colorado merchants," Weed said. Most of the purchases were made in neighboring Nebraska, which does not have a sales tax, and they consisted principally of heavy farm equipment, he said.

Haley Mills Listed Top Female Attraction

LONDON (AP)—Hayley Mills, 18 in April, is Britain's No. 1 female movie boxoffice draw.

A survey of 2,000 theaters placed Hayley, daughter of actor John Mills, fifth in the international star poll and Elizabeth Taylor sixth. The first four places went to men. Cliff Richard, Peter Sellers, Elvis Presley and James Bond.

Winter Driving Hazards Include Sudden Skids

In winter weather driving it is the sudden skid and inability to see out of windshields plastered wth snow and road-muck that often maims or kills the unprepared driver and his passengers.

This is the statement of one of the top authorities on winter driving hazards of the National Safety Council Traffic Conference, Prof. A. H. Easton, Chairman of the Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and Director of the Motor Vehicle Research Laboratory, University of Wisconsin.

"Tests conducted each year by our committee have given us considerable knowledge about winter weather driving," Easton said. "It is my belief that many motorists have accidents simply because they neglect equipment."

The Committee on Winter Driving Hazards is made up of automotive engineers from Detroit, test drivers, government officials and university researchers.

"Our committee works in temperatures ranging down to 30 degrees below zero on frozen lakes and fields and snow packed roadways to come up with answers that may save lives," the traffic safety specialist said.

Here are some of Easton's suggestions for safe operation in snow, ice, freezing weather and fog.

"Drivers must be able to see and be seen. Early hours of darkness make it imperative that lighting systems are perfect, with both upper and lower beams properly aimed," he said.

"Keeping lights clean is often overlooked by motorists. Keep a cloth handy to wipe off road grime, and a brush to remove snow," Easton urged.

He maintains that failure to keep windshield wipers in top condition causes thousands of winter crashes.

"Drivers neglect their blades and when they hit snow or rain they drive almost blind, he said. "It is foolish to put lives and a vehicle costing several thousand dollars in jeopardy by neglecting maintenance of wiper arms and blades," Easton said.

"Wiper blade rubber must be checked frequently because summer sun bakes the rubber and causes it to harden. The arm pressure must be firm to avoid streaking. Manufacturers recommend an ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length for efficiency in clearing off rain, snow, sleet and road-muck," the educator explained.

"Equally important, our tests at Clintonville, Wis., and in Michigan have proved that in severe conditions, reinforced tire chans are needed," Easton said.

"Snow tires give you half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires, but when conditions are bad, chains give up to five times as much traction," he said.

Easton urges every driver to keep a set of reinforced tire chains in the trunk for emergency conditions.

He warned motorists to be on guard when the temperature is just above freezing.

"Wet ice at 30 degrees is twice as slippery as ice at zero temperature. The 'polishing' by heavy traffic also makes ice more slippery," he said.

Pikes Peak Region Yesterdays

By DORA FOSTER

Now we are reaching for our new calendars.

Calendars, as we all know, are those man-made conveniences that fix our divisions of time, our years, months, weeks and days as adapted to our civil life. Happily as yet man has not fixed our minutes so we can do as we please with them, use them or waste them. But just wait; as soon as the brains of this present age, finished with the exploration of the stratosphere, watch out; those brains will begin meddling with our minutes and other minute matters on this earth and then we will be in for trouble.

But as for the moment we are thankful for these calendars. We hang them on our walls and place them on our desks and in that way we know when to hang out the wash, when to go to church and even on what day to pay our taxes. Great helps these calendars. They even allow us an extra day each leap year.

There is another reason why we need calendars. If it were not for them we would never know just what years we could divide the date by four and thus arrive at the leap year. And the leap year is an important one to many folk, besides being an important one to February, that little month that springs into prominence only once every four years. All unmarried ladies and girls should herald its arrival with hope and joy. It is just possible that the modern women do not lean so heavily on leap years as did the feminine portion of the civilized world when I was a girl. Then, and only then, was it proper for us to propose marriage to any of our boy friends. (We used to call them beaus or our steadies).

A leap year happened along while I was in high school and our class made the most of it. Florence Benjamin, about the oldest member of our class, was a master at getting up our parties and we had a lot of them. She asked the different members of the class to provide the home for the gathering, appointed a committee to see to the refreshments and took over generally so that all we had to do was to attend and enjoy the occasion.

Florence's idea of a successful leap year party was for the girls to invite the boys instead of the boys inviting the girls. The boys were to call at our homes for us as no real lady would think of venturing to a boy's home to take him out for the evening. But there was an innovation; no girl was to ask her steady. We were all to choose some other boy as our special guest.

I happened to be at home with a cold the day the names were handed out for us to choose from, and the next day when I appeared at school the list of eligibles had been narrowed down to two. I balked at one of those names and was not too happy about the other. However, Florence was having trouble with Pierre Barber, who was shipping about the study hall and almost jumping over desks to keep from being invited by one of the girls he did not wish to have choose him. Pierre ordinarily was a quiet, friendly sort of boy and as he sat near me in the study hall I figured I could slip him a note and perhaps, just perhaps, save him from so much jumping about. It worked all right and I reported to Florence that her worries concerning Pierre were over.

Nora Thomas, my best chum, had taken my steady over for the evening and I had no doubt but that he would be well taken care of, so I could devote my time and smiles to my leap year escort. We had a very happy party that year, held as it was at the home of Pierre's mother in her big house on East Boulder Street.

I recall we each had a long colored cord to follow about the large rooms and at the end of the cord we were to find our fortunes, written on slips of paper. We followed the strings about quite happily for a while until we all got our cords tangled hopelessly on the spreading gas chandelier in the back parlor. I can see that scene yet, red, blue, yellow and green cord all converging on the center of that beautiful room and none of us able to tell our fortunes from those of our neighbors.

But we had a wonderful leap year party and spent the closing hour before the ushering in of the New Year, with Clara Waugh at the paino while we all gathered around singing "Polly Wolly Doodle," "Brown and White," our school song, and closing with "Auld Lang Syne" and "Good Night, Ladies."

As we all left the party that evening Nora, Frank, Pierre and I walked to Nora's home together, since I was staying at her house all night, as I often did. The last car left the car barns on South Tejon Street for the Cheyenne Canon area at 11 o'clock, too early for a New Year's celebration.

Nora lived at 622 N. Corona St., and we had gone about half way when Pierre, who was a bad tease, said, "We have come this half way ahead of them; let's get behind them the rest of the way." They were half a block or so down the street, so we slowed down until they had caught up with us but did not go on ahead.

We strolled along hoping they would pass us but still they kept behind us. So Pierre and I speeded up, and when we had gotten a little further he said, "Let's try it again," and this time we thought they would go on ahead of us. We lagged along. It was a bright moonlight night and as they came up to us again we fairly loitered but still they stayed behind us. We all four almost stood still, but Frank and Nora refused to pass us. After a few minutes we saw that our efforts to force them to go ahead would not work, and so we gave up.

The Thomas home, facing Corona Street, had its back entrance on the alley that ran north and south thru the block, and when we were going home to her house we often cut thru the vacant lot next to the grocery store that stood near the corner of Wahsatch and Willamette Avenues, entering the yard thru the little gate in the high board fence.

But this night, or when we had boys with us, we always walked around onto North Corona Street, keeping on Willamette for another block, and this we did that night, going on around the block so as to enter the house by the front door.

We had gone so far ahead of that couple that we had to wait at Nora's front door for her to come up to us and unlock it. It took a lot of giggles and talk after Nora and I had gone to bed, and until then, dear, unsuspecting Nora never knew that we were enjoying a joke on her and her date.

Yesterday I called some of the members of that high school class, but only Mrs. Edna Desch Hardy had any remembrance of whom she had taken to the party. She thinks it was Melville Clotworthy. Mrs. Ethel Waugh Lilley, Miss Clara Waugh and Miss Lou Allen are not sure about their escorts.

As you may see, several members of our group, including Pierre Barber of Tonawanda, N. Y., have never taken advantage of the many leap years that have been placed at their disposal.

USO Receives Yule Services From Residents

Thanks to many Colorado Springs residents, the Colorado Springs USO Club, 211 E. Colorado, has some services most homes never offer at the home-away-from-home for men of the Armed Services.

Starting with Thanksgiving when 300 were served at an evening buffet, the holiday season has been marked with many extras. For instance, American Legion Post No. 5 gave two cartons of cigarettes and a supply of cigars has been available courtesy of Dunhill of London as part of a USO-wide distribution.

Music lovers had an opportunity to enjoy Verdi's Requiem, courtesy of the Colorado Springs Symphony Society and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stannet-Brown of B & B Motel.

Unused tickets to any entertainment in Colorado Springs are always welcomed at the USO. Telephone calls to the club and to the box office can save an actual trip downtown.

Colorado Springs' famous Loo-Art Christmas cards were even available at the USO writing desks. They were given by Dietz Brothers after Christmas 1962 and carefully saved for 1963.

The Christmas buffet had an estimated 200 served with sandwiches offered on Christmas eve and on other holiday occasions. Many individuals sent in a variety of pastries to add to the homelife atmosphere.

Seven Sisters Assist In Golden Anniversary

CLEAR LAKE, Iowa (AP)—Mrs. Carl H. Peterson had plenty of help when she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Seven of her sisters, all Iowa residents, were on hand to lend assistance during the reception for more than 150 friends and relatives.

The "rosetta stone" of American archeology is a fragment of a large stele unearthed by a National Geographic Society expedition in Mexico. The stone bears a date equivalent to 291 B.C. — the earliest recorded date ever found in the New World.

South Viet Nam Plans Chaplain Corps

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Saigon government announced Friday it is forming a Buddhist chaplains' corps in the South Vietnamese armed forces in response to a request by leading Buddhist monks.

The request was one of the demands made by Buddhist leaders during last summer's uprising against the Ngo Dinh Diem government.

U.S., Mexico Agree To Fee Elimination

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico and the United States have eliminated fees on certain tourist cards and visas, the U.S. Embassy announced. Mexico will issue 30-day tourist cards free and the United States will issue without cost multiple-entry visas good for up to one year.

ADC Gets New Personnel Chief

Col. Robert H. Jones will assume duties as deputy chief of staff for personnel, Air Defense Command on Jan. 20. He replaces Brig. Gen. William A. Tope, who will become director of personnel, J-1, the Joint Staff, Washington D. C., Tuesday.

Col. Jones was born Jan. 12, 1916 in Oklahoma City, Okla. He attended the University of Idaho and graduated in 1939 with a bachelor of arts degree.

After graduation, Jones became an aviation cadet, earning his wings in 1940. He is a veteran of some 300 combat hours. During World War II, he commanded the 343d Fighter Group, 11th Air Force, in the Aleutian Islands.

After the war, Col. Jones was Air Inspector at Randolph Field, Texas, from 1946-47. He was a student in the Air Command and Staff School at Maxwell AFB, Ala., 1947-48. After graduating, he served as an instructor at the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., for three years. In 1951, Col. Jones was assigned to the Pentagon in the office of the director of intelligence where he worked until 1955 when he was sent to Canada as Air Attache. From August, 1958 until June, 1959, he attended the National War College, Washington, D.C. Following this, he served tours as commander of the Portland Air Defense Sector and deputy commander of the 33rd Air Division (SAGE) at Richards - Gebaur AFB, Mo. When the 33rd became the 29th Air Division in July 1961, Col. Jones retained the post of Deputy Commander.

Human Body Fight In Cold Recovery Is Amazing

Some amazing things go on inside the human body when a cold catches hold and the body fights to recover.

'But a cold can lower resistance to secondary bacterial infection and a lot of trouble can follow," Dr. Paul J. Roesler said today.

Dr. Roesler, as a member of the Board of Directors of the Tuberculosis Association, reminds citizens in Colorado Springs that the time tested one-two-three precaustions should be taken to keep well as cold weather firms its icy grip on the region. The TB Association is interested in preventing all respiratory infection.

"Put simply," he said, "the wisest way to deal with colds is to prevent them by (1) adequate rest (2) adequate diet and (3) avoiding exposure."

Dr. Roesler said that colds too often lower the individual's resistance and other bacteria can take hold in the throat, ear, or the bronchial tubes which means a case of bronchitis, or even pneumonia.

A case of bronchitis involves an area dangerously close to the lungs and should be regarded seriously. The bronchial tubes lead directly to the lungs. When they become infected, the tiny hair-like "cilia" are not able to do as good a job of coaxing unwanted fluids away from the lungs, the doctor explained. And making it still more difficult, the blood supply is increased, adding still more fluids which need to be expelled. "This accounts for the coughing and wheezing associated with the infection," Dr. Roesler said.

It is when the bronchial infection gets out of hand that an even greater danger looms - "when it goes deeper into the lungs it becomes a case of pneumonia."

A little care can go a long way toward health this winter, Dr. Roesler cautioned. "The precautions are easy and sensible, and they can save a lot of time which would otherwise be spent recuperating."

Great Books Club to Meet Wednesday

The Wednesday evening Great Books group will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. Wednesday in the periodical room of the public library, 21 W. Kiowa St. for a discussionof Dr. Loren Eiseley's "The Immense Journey," a book of essays on anthropology.

Marion Wood will conduct the questioning in a manner meant to bring forth three levels of discussion as to what the author says, what the author means, and how that meaning may be applied in present time.

This is in line with the method of the Great Books Foundation of Chicago, and this group, in its 11th year here, is continuing under the sponsorship of the public library as a project in adult education.

Anyone may participate who reads the text as assigned and limits his discussion to that material. New assignments will be made for Jan. 22, and for the second and fourth Wednesday evenings in February.

The list of contemporary readings includes Hamilton's "The Greek Way," T.S. Eliot's play, "The Cocktail Party," Whitehead's "Essays on Philosophy," and Tillich's "The New Being." Further information will be given to those who call Myrtle Allen, 635-8540, or Margaret Gibson, 633-3397.

ACM Group To Meet at Village Inn

The Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) will meet Thursday at the Village Inn.

Dr. A. R. Brown of the Air Defense Command will be guest speaker for the dinner meeting which will get underway at 6 p.m. with a social hour.

Reservations for the meeting of the professional organization should be made by contacting Don Rieger at 634-1457.

Patrick Holligan Home On 11-Day Leave

Eddie Fisher to Start Divorce Proceedings

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — The Mexican judge who granted Sybil Burton her divorce says singer Eddie Fisher is expected to start divorcing Elizabeth Taylor today or Monday, at the latest.

Miss Taylor and Sybil's ex-husband, actor Richard Burton, remained secluded at their villa overlooking Puerto Vallarta and could not be reached for comment. Lawyers here for conferences with the pair declined to comment on Judge Arcadio Estrada Quinones' prediction.

If Estrada's prediction proves accurate, Burton, 40, and the 31-year-old actress could marry by the middle of the month.

Fisher is not expected to come here for the divorce proceedings. Mrs. Burton didn't when she got hers.

Burton and Miss Taylr have been living here since last October, when the Welsh actor arrived to make the film "Night of the Iguana."

Carson Parents To Learn About Dental Decay

The fact that almost all dental decay takes place during school years will be brought to the attention of Ft. Carson parents in a letter they will receive next week.

Maj. David E. Layman, preventive dentistry officer at the mountain post, and Superintendent Dean Fleishauer of the Fountain-Ft. Carson public schools are cosigners of the letter to be sent to parents of school children. The letter contains four basic rules of dental health:

1. Visit your dentist regularly, so that minor flaws can be corrected before they become serious problems.

2. Eat well-balanced diets of wholesome foods, using fruits and vegetables for between-meal snacks.

3. Brush your teeth properly, preferably immediately after each meal. Rinse with water where brushing is not possible.

4. Use a good toothpaste. A sample of a recommended dentrifrice will be given every schoolchild.

The stannous fluoride service has been found effective in reducing decay by 60 per cent. While this aids reduction of tooth decay, it does not stop existing decay and cannot cope with poor oral hygiene or unrestricted snacking with carbohydrates and sweets.

Surgeons to Study Soviet Developments

LONDON (AP) — A team of British surgeons is going to Moscow next month to study an artificial arm and hand developed for Soviet cosmonauts. The device answers to electronic impulses from the brain, its inventors claim.

Business Mixes Gas With Alcohol

LONDON (UPI) — Who says gasoline and liquor don't mix?

The Watney Mann Breweries announced Friday it will build a chain of gas stations next to the pubs it owns.

"We don't believe this will encourage drunken driving," a spokesman said. "If a motorist wants to drink and drive, he will do so anyway."

Carson to Step Up Training In 1964

Intensified training on all fronts is the prospect for 1964, according to Lt. Col. Q. L. Gates, 5th Division Operations and Training officer at Ft. Carson.

Mountain post units can look forward to a quickening of the pace now that the holiday season is over. Training will be designed to hone the 5th Division's fighting edge for its mission.

In the offing: "Exercise Cherry Tree," the only off-post maneuver so far announced for the year. Scheduled to take place near Coronado, Calif., between Feb. 19 and March 10, the joint Army-Navy exercise will culminate with an amphibious landing by one of Ft. Carson's battalions.

Other plans for the new year include more counterguerrilla training and continued close air support in conjunction with joint air-ground tactics.

FASHIONABLE
WIGS

The one beauty accessory each smart woman should have is a fashionable wig. Not only is this a luxury, but also a convenience that every woman can appreciate. How many times after swimming or skiing have you needed a wig? How many times have you been late for an appointment or an evening engagement? How many hours have you spent at the beauty salon when you could have been doing other things? Well ask yourself this question: What hair problem do I have that a wig can solve?

Science for You

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Optical Illusions.

NEEDED: A ruler.

DO THIS: Answer the questions, then check your answers with the ruler.

1. Is the hat taller than it is wide?
2. Do lines B and C make a bulge in the center of the drawing?
3. Which lines in this drawing are parallel?
4. Which line is longer, A or B?

EXPLANATION: We see in terms of relationships between dimensions rather than the true dimensions. Certain lines appear to be long or short because of the other geometry of the picture. The ruler "sees" only one line at a time, and is not fooled by relationships between dimensions and shapes.

A collection of these scientific puzzles is in book form under the name "Science Circus." It is in bookstores and libraries.

Yule Trees Can Be Taken to Memorial Park

Still wondering what to do with that dried-out Christmas tree?

Take it to Memorial Park. The Pikes Peak Chapter No. 34, Izaak Walton League, is sponsoring a conservation program which will use the trees to prevent soil erosion in areas around Colorado Springs.

George W. Thomas, chapter president, said the collection area for discarded trees and wreaths is just south of the softball field at Memorial Park. He stressed, however, that the club wants no trash thrown in with the greenery.

Club members and volunteers will use the city's shredding machine and grind up the trees on Sunday morning, Jan. 12. Then the ground-up material will be loaded into trucks and taken out to fill erosion and gulley-washes at the Garden of the Gods and Austin Bluffs.

Joe Stammen, chairman of the conservation committee, is also chairman of the tree project. The Izaak Walton League is in its in its sixth year of sponsorship in the program. The city's fire department now is in the business of tree-burning.

Stammen and Thomas said discarded trees and greens may be taken to the collection area at any time between now and next Sunday.

Sudan Skeletons To Provide Medical Data

Well preserved skeletons, possibly dating back 15 centuries and recently discovered by University of Colorado archaeologists in the Republic of Sudan, are expected to provide significant medical data.

CU, under National Science Foundation and State Department grants totaling nearly $140,000, is conducting archeological operations on the banks of the upper Nile River, attempting to salvage knowledge before the area is flooded at the completion of the Aswan High Dam.

The second and final season of the 15-man project is entering its third month. It will end in March.

The skeletons, recovered from a cemetary which could be more than 1,500 years old, are in excellent condition because of the rainless climate and dry, sandy soil, according to Asst. Prof. Mark Papworth, field director of the expedition.

Health data on persons who lived long before the days of industrially processed foods, preventive medicine, atmospheric contamination and fallout can be used for comparison with data on modern populations, he said.

To obtain biological data from some of the periods not available in the CU area, the anthropologists will be able to study burial material excavated by some of the other expeditions working in the vicinity.

The Colorado expedition is one of the 23 archaeological groups working in the Upper Nile region, representing the largest concentrated archaeological effort in history.

This season about 150 professionally trained archaeologists and approximately 1,000 local workmen are engaged in the effort to rescue historic and prehistoric information from the rising waters back of the new dam.

The CU expedition is divided into three parts — excavation of ancient villages; excavation of old stone age, or paleolithic, campsites, and work on skeletal remains.

The excavation of villages is being carried out south of work completed last year and has revealed a Christian period floor over 1,000 years old, Papworth said. The floor is thought to overlie structure of the X-Group period, dated 300 to 550 A. D.

The 21,442 pots and fragments of pots collected last year have been classified, tabulated and charted. Cataloging is continuing on current digging. Many of the whole pots discovered this year are finely finished and decorated, Papworth noted.

The paleolithic crew is working a few hundred yards north of the campsite which last year yielded a fossil human lower jaw. The current campsite has given evidence of more than one period of human habitation, the director said.

The fossil jaw, after plastic casts, careful measurements, drawings, photographs and X-rays were made, was returned this fall to the Sudan Government Antiquities Service for deposit in the Kartoum Museum.

Papworth took over as field director this year from Prof. Gordon Hewes who remains administrative director of the project, but is staying on the Boulder campus.

Carson Offers Foreign Language Study Classes

In response to Department of the Army's official encouragement to all officers and enlisted men to become proficient in at least one language other than English, the Education Center at Ft. Carson is offering foreign language group study classes on post.

Beginning conversation classes in German, French, Spanish and Russian will be held on Saturday mornings from 8 to 10:30, starting Saturday and continuing until Feb. 15. Only those with little or no experience should enroll in these beginning classes.

Advanced group study classes including conversation, reading, writing, and grammer in German, French, Spanish and Russian will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9.

These classes begin Jan. 14, running until March 26. Only students with previous experience in one of these languages will be accepted for the advanced classes.

It was announced that military dependents and government employees may also enroll on a space - available basis.

Troops for Borneo Requested in Britain

LONDON (AP)—Britain has asked Australia and New Zealand to send troops to Malaysia's Borneo states, but the two Commonwealth partners are reportedly reluctant to meet the British request.

Britain fears an outbreak of war between Malaysia and Indonesia, which share the island of Borneo. There have been numerous incidents along the Malaysia - Indonesia frontier in North Borneo since the British-protected Federation of Malaysia gained nationhood last September.

Nutrition Research Can Help Wives Save Husbands' Hearts

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Food Nutrition Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The old-fashioned mother's advice to the bride, "Feed the brute," is outdated. Today's young wife needs to be more than a fancy cook.

To keep her youthful husband in peak physical condition and to prevent circumstances that might lead to heart attacks at an early age, the modern bride needs the guidance of medical and nutrition research. Thanks to the nutrition and health columns of newspapers and magazines and to reliable popular books, this guidance is easily available.

Theodore B. Van Itallie, M.D., director of medicine at New York's St. Luke Hospital, says research studies now in progress will help young adults find out whether heart attacks can be avoided or delayed thru intelligent diet planning and regular physical activity.

"If such a program is found effective, it will mean attention must be given to diet and activity from early adulthood on, or even earlier, since coronary disease often has its beginnings in the teens."

Altho diet is believed to be the major environmental factor affecting the blood level of cholesterol and other fats implicated in heart disease, physical activity also may be important. Dr. Van Itallie adds:

"There is evidence that a physically active person can eat richer and higher calorie diets with great safety than can a sedentary one."

He cites studies made in Switzerland of hard-working farmers. Their diets were higher in dairy fats and calories than those of men of the same age leading more sedentary lives in the nearby city of Basel. Even so, the farmers had a lower cholesterol level.

There is still only circumstantial or inferential evidence that lowering cholesterol levels by diet or other means will reduce heart disease. But if you accept — as many scientists do — evidence and believe it possible to delay the rate of progression of heart trouble by keeping the cholesterol low then the earlier you start the better."

Because young persons with high cholesterol levels have a greater risk of developing heart disease than individuals of the same age and sex with low levels, the doctor believes the determination of blood cholesterol levels can be a useful part of the annual physical examination.

"If a young person's cholesterol is high, he should consult his doctor about a suitable table diet and other measures to help reduce it," advises Dr. Van Itallie, who is also associate clinical professor of medicine at Columbia University.

There are many reasons why regular physical activity is desirable from the health standpoint, but such exercise must be part of the daily program and not merely reserved for occasional weekends and vacations.

To young wives Dr. Van Itallie says, "Encourage your husband to get regular exercise by walking more, playing golf, swimming, bowling — whatever form of activity he gets most fun out of. Join him as often as possible. Make planned physical activity a way of your young married life."

The promise in Dr. Van Itallie's advice, as well as that of many other leading medical and nutrition researchers, is this:

Intelligent diet and regular physical activity can keep young hearts younger longer.

Don't worry about any probable bad effects of exercise on your heart. "Exercise and Health," published by the American Medical Association researchers, state:

Despite the popular belief to the contrary, the life expectancy of athletes (persons exposed to vigorous exercise) is as high as the average expectancy, and excluding accidents, is probably higher than the average.

The percentage of athletes who are afflicted with degenerative diseases is probably lower than for the general population.

Vigorous exercise reasonably applied under rational conditions will not damage healthy young hearts. Proper exercise as a way of life helps to keep healthy hearts healthy and to prevent the onset of cardiovascular disease.

To burn up thru exercise 100 calories of the food he has eaten, a 180-pound person can do any of the following:

Walk at 2 miles an hour for 30 minutes.

Bicycle at moderate speed for 21 minutes.

Dance the waltz for 18 minutes.

Walk downstairs for 14 minutes.

Swim for 10 minutes.

Walk upstairs for 4.6 minutes.

The heavier one is, the more calories are used in any given time in activities involving the use of the entire body. A 250-pound person would spend 100 calories in walking at 2 miles an hour for 21 minutes instead of the 30 minutes required by the 180-pounder.

The next installment tomorrow.

Gate Two Will Soon Be Opened At Ft. Carson

Troops returning to Ft. Carson after holiday leaves are greeted with an open highway at Gate 2 as the $392,000 cloverleaf nears completion.

Deputy post engineer Robert Watson said that the road into Gate 2 should be open within the week. The overpass bridges Ft. Carson and the NORAD "Hard Site".

The project was begun in March by Segrist Company of Denver, using Federal Highway funds and Army - Air Force money. Gate 2 has been closed since July 1.

the interchange includes three miles of loops, ramps and two to three — lane roadways. The cloverleaf will accommodate both Fort Carson and NORAD's Combat Operations Center in Cheyenne Mountain.

The ground surrounding the asphaltic pavement interchange has been landscaped and seeded.

Gate 2 at Ft. Carson has been moved 1500 feet back from Highway 115 to make room for the traffic interchange.

At the same time, opening of the Harrison Interchange to Circle Drive and Highway 24 was another New Years present for Carson drivers who travel regularly to and from the northeastern sector of the city and to Peterson Air Field.

Food for Fitness Means Daiiy Nutritional Meals

By Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

No matter how old or young, how heavy or slight, you need some food every day from each of four basic food groups. They are all supermarket foods, familiar and pleasant to eat. Plan your meals around them daily, eating more or less of them according to your calorie limitations. But eat some food from each group every day. That is the basic nutritional rule for physical fitness.

MILK GROUP

Children, 3 to 4 cups
Teen-agers, 4 or more cups
Adults, 2 or more cups

MEAT GROUP

2 or more servings of beef, veal, pork, lamb, poultry, fish, eggs.

As alternates — dry beans, dry peas, nuts.

VEGETABLE GROUP

4 or more servings. Include a citrus fruit or other fruit or vegetable important for vitamin C; a dark-green or deep yellow vetetable for vitamin A (at least every other day); other vegetables and fruits, including potatoes.

BREAD CEREAL GROUP

4 or more servings of whole grain, enriched or restored. This group includes cornmeal, crackers, grits, macaroni and spaghetti, noodles, rice, etc. Also quick breads and other baked goods made with whole grain or enriched flour.

To round out meals and satisfy the appetite, use some foods not specified — butter, margarine, other fats, oils, sugars or unenriched refined grain products. These are often ingredients in baked goods and mixed dishes. Fats, oils and sugars are also added to foods during preparation and at table.

These "other" foods supply calories and can add to total nutrients in meals.

Use this 1,500-calorie menu pattern as base for easy planning of balanced and calorie-limited menus according to your particular tastes and requirements. For the average woman about 1,500 calories a day is about right, for the average moderately active man, about 2,200 calories is enough.

Those sample menus for breakfast, luncheon and dinner demonstrate how the foods from the four basic food groups — Foods for Fitness — can be incorporated in normal supermarket meals. Add or subtract foods according to your weight range.

BREAKFAST

Citrus fruit or tomato
Egg, 1
Whole-wheat or enriched bread, 1 slice
Butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon
Cereal, ½ cup with milk (part of total 1 pint for day)
Coffee or tea

LUNCH

Lean meat or meat substitute, 2 ounces
Vegetable or salad

BREAKFAST

Whole-wheat or enriched bread, 1 slice
Butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon
Fruit
Whole milk (part of total allowed for day)
Coffe eor tea

DINNER

Lean meat or meat substitute 3 ounces
Vegetable
Potato, 1 small
Salad
Whole-wheat or enriched bread, 1 slice
Butter or enriched margarine, 2 teaspoons
Fruit
Whole milk (part of total allowed for the day)
Coffee or tea

Cow Stomach Yields Diet of Hardware

COLLETE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—The second stomach of cows often contains so many metallic objects it has come to be known as the "hardware basket," Texas A&M University reports.

The university says sharp objects can work from the stomach into the heart of the animal, resulting in death.

ADC Receives Talbott Award For Procurement

Maj. Gen. Von R. Shores, Air Defense Command Deputy Chief of Staff, Materiel, received the Brig. Gen. Nelson S. Talbott Award from Lt. Gen. Thomas P. Gerrity, Hq. USAF Deputy Chief of Staff for Supply and Logistics, in Washington, D.C. Friday.

The Talbott Award is given for general excellence or outstanding performance in major air command central procurement activities. This is the first time that Air Defense Command has ever won the sem-annual award.

A contributing factor in winning this award was ADC's outstanding work in connection with the relocatable housing program.

Command purchasing officials were charged with procuring approximately 1000 relocatable houses for Air Force use in various locations across the nation. The success of their efforts is evidenced by tonight's award.
